

A BIG PINE went down for the benefit of visiting newsmen during a tour of the Hearst Estate logging operation near McCloud recently. The tour was sponsored by the Sierra Cascade Logging Conference with the idea of presenting newsmen with a picture of what is going on in the industry. Paper Criticizes Director Of Prisons In Washington

WALLA WALLA (AP) — A suggestion that the state director of institutions be removed was made here Wednesday as one of many developing aftermaths of Sunday's abortive riot at the state penitentiary.

Directing its editorial fire at Dr. Thomas A. Harris, a University of Arkansas Psychiatrist who took the $20,000 a-year job as director of institutions in June, The Walla Walla Union-Bulletin suggested that after two uprisings in six weeks "it might help" if Gov. Langlie "would send Dr. Harris back where he came from."

Langlie, reached at Seattle, would not comment on the suggestion. He said he felt "something is wrong" at the prison, however, and promised an investigation. "We have some babies at the prison who are just too tough to handle," he said.

In other developments: Warden Lawrence Delmore Jr., who led armed guards into the prison to break up Sunday's riot, identified eight convicts he said "actively participated" in the disturbance during which 15 officers were taken as hostages. Previously it was reported 12 prisoners were involved and estimates of the number of hostages ranged from nine to 14.

At Yakima, Sheriff Bert Guns said he asked the state to transfer elsewhere 15 convicts shifted to the Yakima County jail after the July 5-6 rebellion at the penitentiary. He said he requested the transfer because he felt the state was "sitting on its hands" in providing new quarters for the 15 at the Eastern State Hospital at Medical Lake.

The 15 were brought back here and placed in segregation two days before Sunday's trouble. Delmore, in identifying the Sunday rioters, said Tuesday their aim was to "have the 15 ringleaders of the July riot released to the general inmate population, with no disciplinary action taken against them."

They also wanted a promise

they wouldn't be prosecuted for their actions July 5-6.

The Union-Bulletin editorial, in suggesting Harris' removal, declared it was "difficult to determine whether the prison is being run by the prisoners or Dr. Harris."

"It would seem that Gov. Langlie should start giving some concern to the state's penal institutions . . . and it might help if he would send Dr. Harris back where he came from."

The editorial charged Dr. Harris wanted the prisoners transferred back here from Yakima because Guns "made them sleep on the floor," and also contended the sheriff refused Harris permission to speak to the prisoners.

Guns denied this. He said he had never talked to Dr. Harris and the report apparently started when he refused permission to an investigator for the Legislative Council subcommittee headed by Sen. Neil Hoff, Tacoma Republican, to talk with the prisoners.

Langlie told Seattle newsmen Dr. Harris inherited the prison problems when he took the job. He said the troubles stemmed from inadequate finances and lack of maximum security facilities.

The eight convicts described by Delmore as leaders of Sunday's riot were identified by the warden as:

- Richard Hein, 21, Snohomish, serving life for first-degree murder.
- W. S. Halverson, 32, Tacoma, 7 1/2 years for forgery.
- E. R. Glassman, 30, Snohomish County, 10 years, burglary.
- K. E. Chisholm, 21, Yakima County, second-degree burglary.
- W. J. Edwards, 21, Franklin, 5 years, robbery and assault.
- R. B. Egan, 22, Spokane, 7 1/2 years, robbery.
- Harold McCain, 26, Lewis County, 3 years, grand larceny.
- N. D. Redmer, 30, Pierce County, 3 1/2 years, auto theft.

"Nossir," declared Mike. "tis an unthankful country this is now. Here we Irish have done so much for the U.S., and, b'jabs, they've named only one state after an Irishman."

His friend Pat raised his eyebrows. "I didn't know there was such a state, Mike."

"Sure and have yuh niver heard o' that great Western state O'Regon?"

Sure and have yuh niver heard that as a kitchen companion, there's nothing surpassing milk. Specially if it's "local" fresh from Klamath Grade "A" dairies and sold in the store with Bessy on the door, or delivered directly to your own door?

To prove it, let me submit this recipe to you kitchen keepers who want a fresh, foamy summer dish for after hours, or twist 'em: You'll need, for this Lemon Snow, an envelope of unflavored gelatine, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 2 egg whites, 3/4 cup sugar, 1/2 cup lemon juice and a tablespoon of grated lemon rind.

Soften the gelatine in cold water. Stir in boiling water, add sugar, lemon juice and rind. Strain and chill. When it begins to set, beat with a rotary beater until frothy. Add egg whites stiffly beaten. Continue to beat until mixture holds its shape, pile it into sherbet dishes and chill. It's nice to serve with a soft custard sauce.

Speaking of food, we heard the other day a stalk is a bird that brings baby ears of corn. Bessy.

BUSINESS IS RELYING ON NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING TO KEEP SALES CLIMBING

In 1955's first half, newspaper advertising has made its biggest contribution on record to the continued growth of American business.

In the first six months, business invested more dollars in newspaper advertising than in any half-year in history.

Manufacturers' advertising set a new record.

So did retailers' advertising—including the department stores, chain stores and all the rest.

So did classified advertising—mainstay of real estate, used cars and many another business.

Manufacturers and retailers alike are profiting from the salespower of newspapers—the salespower that stems from the fact that newspapers are the shopping medium—where consumers look eagerly for advertising—and from the fact that nowhere else can manufacturers' ads and retailers' ads work together so effectively to increase the productivity of both.

- IF YOU ARE . . . a manufacturer . . . a retailer . . . a distributor
- . . . a merchandise broker . . . a manufacturer's salesman

... ASK YOURSELF: Is newspaper advertising being called on to do all it can to keep my sales going up?

HERE'S THE RECORD*

1955 VS. 1954

	June	1st Six Months
National advertisers	Up 15.9%	Up 9.5%
Retail advertisers	Up 8.9%	Up 6.8%
Classified advertisers	Up 17.8%	Up 14.4%
All advertisers combined	Up 12.6%	Up 9.2%

In each category—Biggest June on record—Biggest six months on record

*SOURCE: Media Records, 52-City Index. Available data from 291 smaller newspapers reporting to the Bureau of Advertising, ANPA, indicate substantial gains in these newspapers, too—e.g., national advertising in these 291 smaller newspapers was up 13.8% for June; up 4.8% for the first half—vs. 1954.
