Franks-Beeson Vows Exchanged In First Baptist Church Rites

The summer wedding of Phyllis J. Beeson to John J. Franks was attended by 200 relatives and friends — many of them from out of town.

Vows were exchanged at 8 p.m. in First Baptist Church the Rev. Ernest E. Hambrick, officiant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Beeson, Dorris, and her father gave her in marriage. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Franks, 1805 Summers Lane.

Large arrangements of gladioli and potted palms illuminated by lighted tapers in floor candelabra, were church decorations.

The bride's gown was of pearl pink satin made with a full cathedral train. The bodice of satin and tulle was made with long sleeves and featured a yoke of tulle with an off-the-shoulder effect achieved with rows of matching tulle ruffles.

Her fingertip veil was held by a Mary Stuart halo outlined with a narrow matching ruffle. Her crescent-shaped bouquet was a lavender orchid surrounded with stephanotis and white roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Gayle Brock, cousin of the bride from Harrisburg, Oregon, wore a rose pink dress made with a scoop neck, long torso and pleated skirt. Hers and the other attendants were all made with an over-layer of pink net.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Howard Dowell, bride's cousin, Springfield, Oregon; Mrs. Ted McLeod, Redding and JoAnne Borden, wore dresses made exactly as the matron of honor's — in pink, bridid and violet respectively. Their bouquets were all crescent-shaped of white gladioli surrounded with carnations in varying shades of each dress. Headpieces were also in the same shades. Each wore a single strand of pearls — gifts from the bride.

Little flower girl, Sherry Beeson, 4-year-old sister of the bride, wore rose pink. Ringbearer was 3-year-old Jeffrey Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Brock.

Gordon D. Beeson, bride's brother, served as best man; and Nicholas Long, Dunsmuir, and Graydon Gwyn ushered.

Organist, Mrs. Dean Morrow, Eugene, accompanied soloists, Mrs. Byard Kelly and Joe Allen, both from Dorris.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Beeson chose a dress of Wedgewood blue lace over taffeta with matching accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. The senior Mrs. Franks wore a lavender dress with white accessories and her corsage was also an orchid.

Phyllis is a graduate of Butte Valley High School, Dorris, and attended one year of college at Nampa, Idaho. She is employed at the First National Bank here.

Franks was a student at KUHS before serving four years in the U.S. Navy. He is presently employed by Southern Pacific. The date of the wedding, July 29, was also the 24th wedding anniversary of her parents.

The couple honeymooned along the coastal highway, through the Redwoods and in Southern California. They are now at home, 527 North Eighth Street.
