Newspaper Story Aids In Reunion

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A newspaper led to a reunion of a mother and daughter separated for nearly a quarter of a century and there was no doubt of the kinship. The story began early in the depression when Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Underwood of Nashville were separated and Mrs. Underwood was unable to support her daughters, Erlene, 11, and Pauline, 3. In 1930 she placed the children in a children's home in Memphis.

Later they were adopted and the mother said Welfare Department regulations prevented her from finding them when better times came.

Pauline was placed in the care of Mrs. C. G. Truitt of Memphis and lived with her until her marriage in 1945 to Arnold Eddins, now a sergeant at Ft. Campbell, Ky. In 1945, Pauline learned her father's name and former address when she obtained a birth certificate. She eventually wrote to all the Underwoods in the Nashville telephone directory in an effort to locate them.

Finally, she told her story to the Nashville Tennessean Saturday. "I want to see them after all these years to satisfy an undying desire to know who they really are," she said, "and to hear from them that they did not desert me."

but put me in the care of somebody else because they were unable to care for me."

The Tennessean printed Mrs. Eddins' picture with her three children, Paulette, 8, Ginger, 6, and Steven, 5, in its Sunday edition.

Her mother, now Mrs. Ethel Underwood Covington, 48, saw the picture and hardly needed to read the caption to know it was her daughter and grandchildren. The similarity to herself was obvious.

A telephone call to Ft. Campbell resulted in the family reunion at Mrs. Covington's farm home near here yesterday afternoon.

Both are now hoping to find sister Erlene, whom they believe to have been placed with a Chattanooga couple in 1930.

'Big Business' Blast Let Loose By HST At Demo Meet

By GEORGE L. WALKER
MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—Harry S. Truman fired the first salvo of a three-day Michigan Democratic conference yesterday by accusing the Republican administration of falling "100 per cent under the domination of big business."

Truman, scheduled for a speech here tonight, told a news conference that this domination "started in Michigan."

The former president said he did not want to discuss personalities, and he did not mention by name Secretary of Defense Wilson, former General Motors president, and other Michigan businessmen in the Eisenhower administration.

Commenting on Democratic chances in 1956, Truman said was not inevitable that Republicans would win if President Eisenhower is nominated.

"I think the man who will win the election is the one who has the best platform," he said.

He reaffirmed his support of Adlai Stevenson and at the same time made it clear that he himself would not be a candidate.

He denied that he was embarking on another "give-'em-hell" campaign.

"I never gave anybody hell," he said. "I tell the truth and if they think that's hell, that's too bad."

Truman steered clear of any comment on Michigan's Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams' recent remark that Eisenhower is an old man who might die in office.

Asked whether he thought Eisenhower was too old to run, he said: "I don't know anything about that. You would have to consult his doctor."

Meanwhile, in Washington Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall declared in a statement that Truman's current speechmaking "sounded like a bitter, frustrated man."

Hall criticized both Truman and Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler for what he called their "intemperate remarks" at a meeting of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Assn. Saturday in French Lick, Ind.

"With no real issue to take to the people, it's obvious they are going to rely on smears and personal attacks on President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon," Hall said.

In his French Lick speech, Truman accused Eisenhower of "misrepresentation of demagoguery."

Truman dropped plans for two speeches in California in mid-September. He said he will return to his Independence, Mo., home after speeches at Mackinac Island tonight and Detroit, Sept. 5 to continue work on his memoirs.

Plant Fails; City Darkened

MONROE, La. (AP)—This bustling north Louisiana city of 40,000 got its lights back today after going nearly seven hours without power.

The municipal power plant conked out at 2 p.m. yesterday, said Supt. T. L. Von Fossen, who was about to step before television cameras to shed some light on new electrical improvements.

Though the TV station kept operating, Von Fossen canceled the speech and went back to his office to hear complaints about freezers that wouldn't freeze and toasters that declined to toast.

Traffic was reduced to honking confusion as stop lights went dead. Food plants and restaurants tallied up their losses in perishables. One bakery reported the decline and fall of 1,000 loaves of bread in its electric ovens.

Kids pelted movie house screens with popcorn as their cinema heroes vanished.

One hospital was completely blacked out. Another managed to keep the sterilizers and lights going in its obstetrics department. The rest hooked into a private utility or relied on auxiliary systems.

By 9 p.m., most sections of the city were out of the darkness. Engineers completed the restoration before midnight.

Von Fossen said a short circuit burned out wires and left Monroe in the dark about his speech.

CONSTRUCTION IS NEARING completion on the new seating arrangements being built on to the Malin High School gymnasium. This addition is expected to seat an additional 510 spectators.

Solon To Ask Insurance Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lehman (D-NY) says he'll ask Congress to set up a federal risk insurance plan as part of a permanent program to cope with major disasters like the Northeast floods.

Lehman said he would have a proposal ready for Congress early next year so "in the future, Americans will not need to live in the fear that all their possessions, savings and hopes may vanish in a single catastrophic blast."

The senator's proposal, announced by his office Saturday, also would call for broadening the operations of the civil defense administration to include any national disaster, in addition to possible enemy attack.

In Denver, President Eisenhower yesterday studied a Red Cross report on flood relief.

E. Roland Harriman, national Red Cross chairman, reported his organization already has raised $3,866,000 in flood relief funds. The goal is eight million dollars.

The Red Cross announced in New York that its latest survey showed 35,661 families in the six-state flood area had suffered material losses. It said 13,480 families have indicated they'll register for Red Cross rehabilitation assistance.

Truce Team Cuts Reported

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—Reliable Allied sources said the U.N. Command agreed today to a reduction in the number and size of the controversial truce inspection teams in Korea.

The presence of the teams—half of each team is Communist—has set off bitter South Korean demonstrations.

There was no official confirmation of the report.

The sources said Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, senior Allied member of the Joint Military Armistice Commission, agreed to the plan at a commission meeting today.

Each inspection team is composed of Swedes, Swiss and Communist Czechs and Poles. South Korea has protested violently that the Czechs and Poles are Communist spies.

The reduction plan was proposed earlier by the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission. The Communists have agreed to it.

The U.N. Command has been studying the proposal.

The plan proposes closing down 4 of the 10 ports of entry now inspected for introduction of military equipment.

In addition to eliminating the four inspection teams at Kong-nung and Kusan in South Korea and Chongju and Hwangnam in North Korea—the plan would halve the size of the 12-to-14-man teams.

Each bloc would be represented on each team. All four nations are now represented.

Fire Damages KF Restaurant

About 30 patrons were routed from the Chuck Wagon restaurant during the dinner hour Sunday evening as fire broke out in the grease vent over a range in the kitchen.

City firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. Charlie Schuss, owner of the restaurant, said that smoke and water damage amounted to about $500.

RUMORS

CAIRO (AP)—Maj. Salah Salem, minister of national guidance and Sudan affairs, is staying away from office amid rumors he may be eased out of the cabinet.

The man who was dubbed "the dancing major" when he stripped to his shorts to dance with South Sudanese tribesmen in 1953, is reported in bad favor following Egyptian political reverses in the Sudan.
