Western Reds Ask Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Four Communist party functionaries found guilty of harboring two fugitive Reds in a remote Sierra resort cabin have asked the U.S. Ninth Court of Appeals to set aside their conviction.

The court took their appeal under submission yesterday after hearing arguments by defense and government attorneys.

The four, Sidney Steinberg, Carl Edwin Ross, Samuel Coleman and Mrs. Shirley Kremen, were arrested Aug. 27, 1953, in a resort cabin at Twain Har, Calif., along with Robert Thomas, top Communist official who was a fugitive from a Smith Act conviction in New York.

Steinberg also was wanted at the time on a Smith Act indictment.

Defense attorney Norman Leonard argued yesterday that the Federal Bureau of Investigation acted illegally when its agents swooped down on the cabin because it didn't know that Mrs. Kremen, Coleman and Ross "were different from any other vacationists in the area."

He called the raid illegal search and seizure and said "there was no showing that the others knew Steinberg."

Assistant U.S. attorney Robert Schancke told the court that Leonard "started with a false premise and arrived at a false conclusion."

He said there was no doubt the three knew who the fugitives were and why they were hiding.

Schancke said the FBI had warrants for the two Communist leaders, had the cabin under surveillance for a long period of time and "there was a probability that they were giving aid, shelter and assistance to the fugitives."

He added that the agents "would have been remiss in their duty if they had not arrested the others as well."

Solon Deplores Postal Waste

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) said today "many qualified observers believe 250 million dollars can be saved by elimination of waste" in the Post Office Department.

If this is so, said the senator in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of Associated Third Class Mail Users, "it is unfair to the taxpayer to do nothing about it and then require the users of the mails to pay for such waste through increased rates."

Johnston said the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, which he heads, will make an intensive investigation of the department looking for inefficiencies and ways to improve service.

He said the Eisenhower administration had put "the severest pressures" on Congress to raise rates "to ruinous levels."

President Eisenhower and Postmaster General Summerfield have repeatedly urged a boost in rates to wipe out as much of the postal deficit as possible. The deficit was 362 million dollars in the most recent financial year.

Johnston said one question his committee would consider is whether the postal service should be treated as "purely a business" or as a "service to all the people."

He said Congress had decided that numerous economic services should be performed free, because of their worthwhile nature, and also that the department has a long list of nonpostal services to handle.

"We should stop calling the cost of these needed services a deficit," the senator said.

"Post Office Department officials have made a bogey man of the postal deficit.

"If they would only announce—as they should—that their department creates more in wealth, taxes and employment than any other federal agency, people would realize that for millions spent, billions are earned."

Weather Favors Most Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pleasant weather was the outlook today for most of the nation. Showers generally were clear. Showers fell during the night and morning in the east Gulf States and showers or thundershowers were reported in parts of the upper Mississippi Valley. However, rainfall amounts were light.

There was a warming trend from the northern and central plains eastward to the Mississippi Valley but it was a little cooler across most of the northern quarter of the country. Coolest weather was in the northern Great Lakes region with 28 at Grand Marais, Mich. Temperatures were in the 40s over most of the Great Lakes area.

Headings were in the 40s or 50s in the Ohio Valley, north Atlantic states and the middle Mississippi Valley. They were mostly in the 70s in the Gulf region and in the Southern Plains. Hottest section was the Far Southwest where temperatures climbed to 110 yesterday at Yuma, Ariz., and El Centro, Calif.

Texas School Sued On Color Issue

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A suit to force the Dallas Independent School District to allow 28 Negro children to attend classes with white students near their homes was on the verge today.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell set a hearing in the suit, filed yesterday by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, for Friday morning.

NAACP Atty. U. Simpson Tate said the Negroes tried to enroll in the white schools and were refused admission.

Dr. W. T. White, Dallas school superintendent, said he planned to continue segregation in local schools while a study of the problem continued.

Douglas PUD Seeks Power

WENATCHEE (AP)—Condemnation proceedings to acquire the Rock Island Dam and four generators from the Puget Sound Power and Light Co. have been started by the Douglas County Public Utility District.

Involved is the low-level dam on the Columbia River, near Wenatchee, the powerhouse and four generators, each rated at 20,000 kilowatts.

Douglas County PUD commissioners charged Monday that power from the Puget Sound area since it became available in 1930.

"Very little power has been available to Douglas County in the past," commissioner George Hamilton said. "Federal power has been siphoned off to the big cities and we are not getting Puget Sound power from Rock Island."

Hamilton contended the only way Douglas County will have power in adequate amounts is for the PUD to acquire and construct its own generating facilities.

Power demand in Douglas County is described as "increasing beyond all expectations."

Grady Auvil, commissioner and secretary of the board, said the district hoped to acquire the Rock Island property through negotiations with Puget Sound.

The PUD said it also was intervening as a defendant in the 5-year-old condemnation proceedings brought against Puget Sound by the Chelan Public Utility District.

The Chelan PUD five years ago started court action to acquire Puget properties at Rock Island, but never prosecuted the case. Officials of the Douglas PUD declared their action is not in competition with the Chelan district.

Press Bureau Men Changed

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Martin A. Heerwald, United Press bureau manager at Seattle, has been named U.P. business representative for Washington, Montana, Northern Idaho and Alaska, Fred J. Green, Pacific Division Manager, announced today.

Heerwald succeeds David F. Rehnapp, who has been appointed director of services for the United Press Associations in South America. Rehnapp has held his present position since 1952. He joined the United Press at Salt Lake City in 1942. He will leave for South America in early October.

B. J. McFarland, who has been serving as Olympia, Wash., bureau manager, has been transferred to Seattle to succeed Heerwald as Seattle manager, while E. Dwiner, now state radio news editor at Seattle, takes over as Olympia bureau chief.

Heerwald, a native of Billings, Mont., graduated from Montana State University School of Journalism. A Navy officer during World War II, he joined the United Press at Salt Lake City in 1948. He was night manager at Boise, Idaho, for a year, then was transferred to San Francisco. Prior to taking over the Seattle post in 1953, he served four years as Olympia manager.

McFarland, a native of Houston, Tex., graduated from the University of Nevada and then joined United Press at Reno in 1950. He transferred to Seattle in 1951 and succeeded Heerwald at Olympia in 1953. He is married and has one son.

Hanson, 29, like Heerwald a Montana State University graduate, joined the United Press at Seattle in January, 1951. He became Spokane night manager later that year and returned to Seattle in 1954.

Film Company Faces Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An antitrust consent judgment has been entered against Republic Pictures Corp. under which the studio agrees to offer for licensing for television within 90 days, 50 per cent of the studio's feature films produced before Aug. 1, 1948.

This is the first crack in Hollywood studios' stand against making their films available for TV.

Under the judgment the studio also agrees to undertake the Screen Actors Guild negotiations for making available to TV the films produced since the 1948 date.

Within two years after completion of the negotiations at least 25 per cent of Republic's feature films are to be licensed for TV three years after they have been released for national theatrical showings.

Thereafter, Republic agrees to offer for TV licensing in each calendar year at least 30 per cent of the films released three years earlier for U.S. theatrical distribution.

The government's complaint, filed in 1952, charged that Republic and 10 other defendants conspired to refuse to license the exhibition of 16mm. features in any manner or place that would compete with 35mm. (theatrical) exhibition. Trial of the other defendants is set for Sept. 20 here before U.S. Judge Leon R. Yankwich, who signed the consent degree announced yesterday.

Jenner Sees Falling Farm Prices As Danger To Ike

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) said today that falling farm prices may cost the Republicans their chance to regain control of Congress next year, even with President Eisenhower heading the ticket.

Fire Destroys Five Buildings

CUMBERLAND, R. I. (AP)—Five big industrial buildings on the banks of the Blackstone River were destroyed last night by flames that roared uncontrolled "until there was nothing left to burn."

Loss was estimated unofficially at five million dollars.

Nearly 600 employees fled from burning structures uninjured. One fire fighter was injured and required hospitalization.

Two of the buildings were occupied by the Royal Electric Co. A third was used as a storage warehouse by the Owens Corning Fibreglass Corp. The others were occupied by the Atlantic Wool Combing Co. and the Allen Wool Waste Co.

The plants suffered heavy damage in last month's flood and only recently resumed operations. An estimated 2,000 persons will be laid off.

Fire fighters and equipment came from all over northern Rhode Island and many parts of southern Massachusetts to combat the wind-whipped flames.

Five hours after the blaze was discovered, Cumberland Fire Chief Samuel Angell reported the fire was under control with the comment: "There is nothing left to burn."

Two of the buildings were on the Cumberland side of the Blackstone. The flames leaped 100 feet across the river to consume the others.

Fire officials said the blaze might have been caused by spontaneous combustion in a pile of flood debris.

The Indiana Republican back from a grass roots survey of his state, said in an interview that "it's going to be hard for the Republicans to carry congressional elections in the Midwest if the farm picture deteriorates much more."

"Some farm program has got to be evolved," Jenner said.

He said the four-year fall of farm prices, coupled with the rise in cost of the goods farmers buy, has hurt not only Midwestern farmers, but the small businessmen whose customers are chiefly farmers.

Unless their troubles are solved, or at least eased, he said, the Republicans in 1956 may not only fail to win new congressional seats but may lose some which they now hold by narrow margins.

Jenner's analysis is given gloomier than that of most GOP leaders, who have conceded that the farm vote now appears to be their biggest trouble spot. Republican state chairmen, meeting here last week, marked down the farm problems as a special area of concern.

Jenner said talks with local and district GOP leaders convinced him that if the farm depression continues, the 1956 election in the Midwest may be "another 1948," a year of Democratic victory. In his state, he said, many farmers who normally vote Republican would stay away from the polls.

He said farm dissatisfaction probably would not cost President Eisenhower the vote of any Midwestern state, assuming that the chief executive is again a candidate. But he predicted that GOP congressmen from predominantly rural districts would be in trouble and not even Mr. Eisenhower may be able to bail them out.
