

DAINTY AND DEMURE late August bride was Kathleen O'Keefe, pictured above with her husband, Thomas Quinowski, after their marriage was solemnized in St. Augustine's Catholic Church, Merrill, in a double-ring service read by the Rev. John Phelan. They are now at home in Medford, where the bride is teaching school—and the bridegroom is continuing his studies at Southern Oregon College.

St. Augustine's Catholic Church in Merrill was the setting for a beautiful wedding August 30, when Kathleen O'Keefe, daughter of James O'Keefe and the late Mrs. O'Keefe, became the bride of Thomas Quinowski, Klamath Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arley Booth of Santa Monica, California, formerly of Klamath Falls.

The Rev. John Phelan officiated at the double-ring ceremony with Maurice O'Keefe, nephew of the bride, and Randy Miller serving at the altar. Velma Fox was soloist for the wedding, singing "Ave Maria," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Ellis Wilson at the organ.

Escorted to the altar banked with pink and white gladioli and illuminated with lighted tapers, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Kathleen was petite and dainty in a gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace on nylon tulle. Fashioned with peter-pan collar, the neckline sparkled with minute iridescents. The handkerchief pocket was trimmed with delicate baby tucking which was repeated in the contoured bodice.

The bouffant skirt over shimmering satin cascaded into a chapel-length train. The bride's finger-tip length veil was held by a shell type clip-on headpiece with pearl encrusted clips and mother-of-pearl sequin trim.

She carried a white satin prayer book topped with a large white orchid tied with white satin streamers. She wore the traditional blue garter, complete with old lace and new penny, made by Mrs. Mattie Rasmussen and presented to the bride before the wedding. Breda O'Keefe, niece of the bride, and her only attendant wore a shell pink ballerina length sheer nylon net formal, fashioned with a tightly fitted bodice and full, filmy skirt. She wore an arch of pink daisies in her hair, and the pink daisy bouquet, accented the color of her gown.

Kenneth Miller, Malin, was best man; and ushers were Michael O'Keefe, brother of the bride; and Bob Smith, Grants Pass.

Mrs. Maurice O'Keefe, aunt of the bride, wore a navy blue dress with white accessories. Mrs. Booth, mother of the bridegroom, chose a navy dress with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of red rose buds.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon was served at Sari's restaurant in Klamath Falls. Pink and white were repeated in the dining room decor. The three-tiered wedding cake centering the bride's table was complemented with tall pink tapers. The other tables were decorated with arrangements of summer flowers of pink and white.

The new Mrs. Quinowski was graduated from Merrill High School and Southern Oregon College and will teach this year in the Medford school system. Her husband, a student at Southern Oregon College, was graduated from Klamath Union High School and has completed two years of service in the United States Army. After a brief honeymoon trip to Southern California they are now at home at 909 North Central Street, Medford, Oregon.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Arley Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Quinowski, Santa Monica, California; Sidney Smith, Medford; Mildred Bright, Salem; Pat Holland, Lakeview; Mr. and Mrs. Mickey O'Keefe, Tacoma, Washington; Bob O'Keefe, Grants Pass; Kenneth Smith, Malin; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Welch, Linda Welch, Dorris, California; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Quinowski, Mr. and Mrs. Art Landmark, JoAnn Landmark and Lee Landmark, all of Klamath Falls.

Petite Bride Is Picture In Crisp White Organdy Gown Accented With Lace Detail

White and pale orchid gladioli were the floral decorations in Christ the King Catholic Church, Richland, Washington, when a Nuptial Mass was celebrated at 9 a.m., August 27, uniting Marjorie Anne Clark to Patrick Dennis Sheeran.

The diminutive bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Clark, 2012 Main Street; and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement J. Sheeran, Richland.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of crisp organdy made with a chapel sweep train. The snug bodice was fastened with tiny self-covered buttons from the waistline to the embroidered collar. Panels of embroidered lace accentuated her tiny waist and emphasized the full skirt. The same lace outlined the train of the story book dress.

A small crown of pearl encrusted pleated organdy held her veil of illusion. She carried a white prayer book topped with a pearl rosary and a white orchid. The prayer book and rosary were both gifts from the bridegroom.

The Rev. William J. Sweeney officiated at the early morning double ring rites in the presence of approximately 150 guests.

Dorothy Boice, maid of honor, Richland, wore a princess style ballerina length frock of crystalline in a violet shade with matching slippers and braided halo. Her flowers were a cascade of pale pink gladioli.

Colleen Sheeran, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, gowning identically to the maid of honor and carried a similar bouquet.

Dale Gier was best man and ushering were Rowland Griffith of Pasco and Paul George of Moses Lake. Mrs. Henry R. De Meyer, organist, accompanied Mrs. A. J. Walligura, vocal soloist.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clark was charming in a sheath dress of silk peau de soie in rose beige with matching satin hat. Her corsage was of roses. The senior Mrs. Sheeran wore yellow roses with her smart forest green two piece ensemble—and her accessories were avocado green.

Gladioli and other late summer flowers were floral decor at the reception at the Desert Inn. They also encircled the tiered wedding cake which centered the table covered with a pale green cloth. Presiding at the punch bowls were Mrs. W. D. Smyth and Mrs. Deane Knapp. Mrs. N. L. Dockum poured coffee and assisting were Mrs. Clyde Adams, Mrs. J. P. Corley and Mrs. R. W. Johnson.

The couple honeymooned at Payette Lakes, Idaho—and for travel the bride wore a suit dress of black and royal blue figured transitional cotton with a small black velvet hat. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet as a shoulder corsage.

They are now at home in Spokane where the bridegroom will continue his law course at Gonzaga University.

The new Mrs. Sheeran has a wide circle of friends here—many of them former schoolmates from KUH. She is a graduate of Stephens College and Oregon State College; and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Her husband is a graduate of Columbia High School and was enrolled at Gonzaga when he entered the USAF where he recently completed four year's service. While he is going to school "Margie" will be on the staff at Spokane Sacred Heart Hospital as a dietitian.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Geraldine Sollars, aunt of the bride; Elaine Harwood, cousin, Huntington Beach, California; and Mr. and Mrs. Duncan J. Ritchie, Portland.

Maxwell Home At Cove Point Scene Of Informal Reception For Mr. And Mrs. Paul Massirio

Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Maxwell received family friends between the hours of 6 and 9 o'clock September 2, at their Cove Point home at an informal reception honoring their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Massirio from San Francisco.

Massirio is the Maxwells' only daughter, Mary Margaret (Johnnie).

The Maxwells and the honored couple greeted guests in a setting gay with autumn floral arrangements ranging in color from yellow through gold and russet to the deeper tones of brown and red. A brown lace cloth on the supper table formed the effective background for the color scheme.

Assisting the host and hostess during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rickbell, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Carlson, Dr. and Mrs. Neil F. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Larkin, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tisdale, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Gillman, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sloan, Mrs. Louis E. Serruys, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. MacDonald, Jack Brock and David and Stuart Maxwell. The MacDonalds were from Portland—and other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jensen, also Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Hal Wilkins, San Francisco; and Mr. and Mrs. William Simes, Dayton, Ohio.

Several parties were given for Mrs. Massirio during the week preceding the reception after her arrival August 28, for a 10 day visit with her parents.

Mrs. John Mochl and her mother, Mrs. L. L. Bartholomew, asked a small group to a coffee Wednesday morning, August 31, given in honor of Mrs. Massirio.

Other parties included a luncheon and kitchen shower given by Mrs. Louis E. Serruys and Mrs. Laurence Shaw in the Pelican Parlor Room, where the large table, set for some 20 guests, was centered with a bridal arrangement of pink and white flowers with wedding bells; and family dinners during the week also honored the visitor. Her husband arrived Thursday and they drove back to San Francisco after the weekend.
