

TOUCHDOWN NUMBER TWO for the visiting Seattle Ramblers came on a two yard plunge by fullback Bob Hughes in the second quarter of last night's season opener for the Oregon Tech Owls. Tech dropped a 33-7 decision to the Seattle semi-pros to darken the 1955 debut for the Mile High Campus crew. Shown trying to put the skids on Hughes is Willie Stinson (10) and an unidentified Tech tackler. At the right is halfback Mike Campbell moving in too late.

HEADED FOR TOUCHDOWN territory with no time wasted is Redding Halfback Jim Carter in Friday night's Klamath Union-Shasta of Redding high school football encounter on Modoc Field. Carter's TD was the first of four scored by the visitors as they wrapped up a 26-7 triumph over the Pels. At right, Klamath halfback Lee McGill is being taken out by Wayne Hawkins' block just as Carter hits pay dirt.

Ramblers Bounce OTI In Grid Opener, 33-7

The Seattle Ramblers combined a potent passing and ground game with a stonewall defense last night at Modoc Field as they completely overpowered the younger Oregon Tech Owls by a 34-7 margin to mar the Mile High eleven's 1955 season debut before a large crowd of hometown followers.

Coach Don Sprinkle's semi-pros from the Evergreen State used to good avail the passing of four different quarterbacks and the running of 12 backfield men to outclass the collegians from Tech.

Although they were outplayed at every turn, the Owls were not to be outdone in spirit and remained in the battle until the final horn.

The showing of the 1955 model from OTI displayed plenty of speed in their losing efforts. Some observers rightfully agree with head coach Rex Hunsaker in saying this year's Owl football squad may well develop into the finest to play under Oregon Tech colors since the school started football some eight seasons back.

Tech held their mountain-sized foes from Seattle in the opening period, but in the second chapter, the Ramblers counted twice on a 17-yard end sweep by halfback Gene Fitzgerald and a two-yard plunge by halfback Bob Hughes.

Two points after touchdown by Seattle's John Whitney gave the Ramblers a halftime lead of 14-0 as the two teams went to the dressing rooms for intermission.

In the opening minutes of the third chapter, Owl fans had their chance to set up and yell as the Tech eleven scored their first and only TD of the season's opener. A Seattle fumble on the Ramblers' 25 yard line was recovered by guard Stan Smith for the Owls setting the stage for the score.

On the first play from scrimmage, quarterback Don Stonehill pitched out to fleet-footed Willie Stinson, who moved down the right sidelines like a string of greased lightning and into the end zone for six points. Cal "Sugar Jet" Smith toed the extra point for the Owls and they trailed by a 14-7 count.

Seattle came right back, and following the kickoff, used five plays to match the previous Tech score with one of their own. Halfback Ed Johnson capped a 52-yard march with an eighty-yard move through the Tech forward wall.

Again Whitney placed the ball through the uprights and Seattle moved in front by a 21-7 count. The play which set up the third Seattle score came as quarterback Arnie Beigh stepped back and hit Johnson with a pass good for 24 yards to move to the OTI 28 yard line.

In the fourth quarter, Seattle linemen partially blocked Don Stonehill's punt deep in Owl territory and the ball sailed out of bounds on the Tech 29 yard line giving the Ramblers another break and scoring opportunity.

Paul Adams broke away from several Oregon Tech tacklers on the first play and then rambled to the two yard line before being dropped to the turf. Adams was

Bylines from the SIDELINES

WE DON'T MEAN TO SAY "I told you so," but where did all of the support of the Klamath Union football team go after last Friday's 13-6 loss to the Eugene Axemen. Before the ball game and after the Pels dumped Grant High 27-6, there were plenty of volunteers for a boosters club, but now the cries have subsided to a quiet whimper.

It wasn't just a guess that we made in September 15th's Bylines, because it has happened here before. In years gone by, early season support has been good, at least until the locals drop their first game.

To make the matter worse, Coach John McGinnis, who has taken one bitter pill after another so far this year, swallowed what we think will be the toughest to digest this week. The loss of senior halfback Dave Pepple, who broke a bone in his right foot Wednesday afternoon during a scrimmage session, puts the Pels in a sorry situation.

With two starters . . . Modesto "Mighty Mo" Jimenez and Donn Taucher already on the sidelines with knee injuries, Pepple's loss gave McGinnis added headaches to fight.

Although Taucher and Jimenez are expected to be back in uniform before long, their short-lived absence, part-time at least, has hindered the Whitebird attack to some extent.

If we are correct, it was this same hard-jarring halfback who came up with a pulled leg muscle last year and missed a great deal of 1954 action. It was bad enough to layout part of his junior year, but to miss the greatest share of his last year in high school is probably a bitter dosage for the speedy Pepple to gulp down.

WINNER AND STILL champion seemed throughout the country last Wednesday evening, and rightfully so.

Rocky Marciano had pounded, blasted, mauled and bullied his way to a successful defense of his world's heavyweight boxing title over ancient Archie Moore.

The title scrap proved two major points that are flowing in some people's minds.

First of all, Archie Moore is now known as a better talker than a fighter who was seeking to dethrone a heavyweight champ. Secondly, Marciano may not be the great all-round fighter a champion is supposed to be, but he is still undefeated.

The lesson Archie learned from Marciano should serve notice to then held for no gain, but another Seattle quarterback Bob Lydum took two cracks at the Tech line with a sneak play, and on the second attempt he found a path leading to pay dirt and the visitors from the Puget Sound area had another TD. Hughes' try for the extra point failed, and the score remained 27-7 in favor of the Ramblers with 11:45 remaining in the game.

The final score of the game came in a sensational manner, as the Ramblers took over on downs from the Owls with less than 30 seconds showing on the Modoc Field clock. Quarterback Frank Bly laded back on the first play and heaved a long aerial downfield into the waiting arms of end Len Randall, who was pulled down on the Oregon Tech 18 yard line for a gain of 43 yards. Time was clicking off, and just as the ball was snapped the horn sounded to end the game. Again Bly faded back with a last ditch effort and connected for another strike, this time to end Don Allen, who took the pass on the goal line and fell into the end zone for the score. Two passes, two outstanding catches and Seattle had their sixth score of the evening. The try for point failed as the fans and players alike headed for home. The final score: Seattle 33 - Oregon Tech 7.

Fumbles Help Shasta Topple Klamath, 26-7

Fumbleitis on the part of the Klamath Union High School Pelicans, and a smooth hard-running, bullet-armed quarterback Dave Robison, then darkened by Klamath Friday night at Modoc Field as the Shasta High Wolves of Redding pounded out a 26-7 decision over the homestanding KU eleven.

The non-conference prep battle was sparked by the running, passing and deliberate ball handling of Redding quarterback Dave Robison, then darkened by Klamath fumbles at deadly moments, as the Wolves picked up their second win over KUHS in seven tries. The last Redding triumph came in 1952 when they outscored the Pels 28-0.

In last night's encounter, which opened like a fumbling match, the Wolves jumped to a quick 6-0 lead and were never headed from this point on. Redding fumbled on the first play of the game and Klamath recovered, only to lose the pigskin three plays later on another fumble. This set up the first tally for the invaders.

Robison started the downfield march of 83 yards for the score by sneaking nine yards to the 21. Thirteen plays later, plus the help of two major penalties of 15 yards apiece against the Pels, the ball rested on the Klamath five yard line with third down coming up. Jim Carter took a handoff from Robison and plunged five yards for the TD. Bill Louderback's try for the extra point went astray and the score stood 6-0 with 2:50 remaining in the opening period.

In the third chapter of the Friday evening fracas, Redding got their second scoring break four plays into the period. Dutch Kimp-ton faded back from his own 25 to throw a pass, but a pair of hard-charging Redding linemen hit him and the pigskin popped free. Klamath 4-0 K.V. Jim McGill pounced on the loose ball on the Klamath 12 yard line. Kimp-ton was then forced to kick from the Klamath end zone and Redding took over on the KU 28. Dennis Boyle cracked over tackle to the 21 and Carter scampered to the 14 for a first down. Then fullback Bert Tobiasson rambled the remaining distance into paydirt to push the score to a 13-0 margin after Louderback's point after touchdown try was good.

Klamath took the ensuing kickoff on their own 42 and began to move toward scoring territory, as they broke open the only sharp Pelican offense of the evening. A pass from Kimp-ton to Lee McGill for 23 yards placed the Klamath machine on the Redding 39-yard line with a first down. Taucher then took a handoff from Kimp-ton and tallied with a 12 yard off-tackle sneak into the end zone. The Klamath quarter-back-halfback was just a bout stopped short of the last stripe, but pivoted away from the would-be tackler for the score. McGill's placement split the uprights and Klamath boomed back into reach of the Wolves.

With seven minutes and 40 seconds remaining in the game, Tobiasson again scored for Shasta to cap a 23 yard drive. And this touchdown too came via the gift route as the Wolves capitalized on another Klamath fumble on the loose ball that set up the third Shasta score. An 11-yard pass play from Robison to Carter was the big play of the seven-play TD series as Tobiasson carried twice into the Klamath line before going over from the two yard stripe. Louderback's attempt was again no good.

On the second play from scrimmage after Redding's kickoff, Kimp-ton shot a pass downfield that Carter snared from Taucher, and Redding underook another scoring drive from the Klamath 44.

Robison, using the split-T pass-run, optional to very good advantage, sparked the Shasta drive downfield. With 16 plays, Redding elected to try for the TD on his own efforts and the gamble paid off with six more points for Redding. Louderback's try for the extra point failed, but a personal foul penalty against Klamath gave the Redding kicker another chance and this time it pierced the goal posts.

Wesley Leader In OSC Win

By MATT KRAMER

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sam Wesley, a 145-pound streak of speed, provided the first Pacific Coast Conference shock of the season as his flying feet carried Oregon State to a 10-0 upset over Stanford here Saturday night.

His speed caught Stanford flat-footed and he shot past the visitors' secondary defense in the first yards and a touchdown.

He was instrumental in a third quarter thrust by the Stars and they added a four-yard field goal to clinch the victory. Ted Searle booted the goal.

las, Tex., also was a thorn in Stanford's side the rest of the night, as he repeatedly batted down Stanford passes and once intercepted one that stopped a drive deep in Oregon State territory.

Stanford, regarded previously as a dark horse entrant for the conference championship, was a frustrated team. The visitors piled up 23 first downs, almost entirely in midfield, but three times they fumbled the ball away, and on four other occasions the fired up Stars intercepted Stanford passes.

Wesley's pass interception stopped Stanford on the six in the second quarter. One of the fumbles, recovered by center Larry Stevens of Oregon State, halted Stanford on the nine in the third period.

Then when Stanford finally got a sustained drive going without a fumble or interception, the Oregon State line rose up to stop four plays inside the two-yard line in the final quarter and squish the last Stanford threat.

climbed the basement when they dropped a doubleheader to the Baltimore Orioles, 8-5 and 1-0. There were only 765 spectators in the stands at Griffith Stadium.

Bill Wight held the Nats to nine hits in the second game and in the process handed Washington its 24th shutout of the season. The Orioles' only run came off Dean Stone in the sixth when Gus Triandos singled and scored on Hal Smith's triple.

Ray Moore won his 10th game of the season in the opener although he gave up 10 hits.

The Cleveland Indians wrapped up second place when they took a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers, 5-2 and 7-0 behind Herb Score and Hank Aguirre. In the opener, Al Kaline became the first major leaguer to get 200 hits.

Dick Donovan finally won his 15th game of the season when he pitched the third place Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 triumph over the Kansas City A's. Donovan had lost the last five in a row. He allowed the A's only five hits.

The New York-Boston game was postponed by rain.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 3-2. The defeat ended whatever hopes the Redlegs had to tie for fourth place.

After giving up two runs in the second, Cincinnati pitcher Joe Nuxhall tossed six hitless innings until the deciding run scored in the ninth.

The last-place Pittsburgh Pirates won a doubleheader from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-3 and 6-1. Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston used seven pitchers in the two games, mainly to get his staff warmed up for the World Series.

Dick Hall and Bob Friend each went all the way for the Pirates. Friend, winning the second game, chalked up his 14th victory of the season. In the opener, Brooklyn reliever Don Bessent was charged with his first defeat after eight victories in a row.

The St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3, when Ken Boyer doubled Red Schoendienst home in the ninth inning.
