

AN ALL-SEASON GREETING CARD, paired with Houbigant's Chantilly perfume, is an ideal little gift. The perfume, encased in a dainty moire jacket, is convenient to carry in the purse. The unique card is ready for mailing, requiring six cents postage without a personal message and 12 cents if you include a written note. The line is available in three local drug stores.

Glamorize Your Correspondence

There are some who can write interesting letters with a great deal of facility. Anecdotes just seem to roll right off their ball point pen. To others, however, letter writing is a chore to be avoided.

This chore, however, can be turned into fun with a little ingenuity and fragrance.

For example, "do-it-yourself" fans can apply their imagination and talent to glamorizing the contents of their mail with useable enclosures which will delight the person receiving them. The postman is apt to like them, too.

For example, a scented bookmark would be practical. Use a blotter type of paper, cut it into an interesting shape, indulge in art, immerse just a tiny bit of the blotter in toilet water, and you will have a praise-worthy bookmark.

The shapes of the bookmark can be timely. For instance, in October, a leaf or a pumpkin would be appropriate; in November, a turkey; and December brings lots of symbols; candy canes, trees, wreaths, etc.

If you are handy with the needle, you might make a flat sac and stuff it with cotton and powdered fragrance. This can be used in a hat box or tucked in with lingerie.

The gracious all-season card is another friend of those who either dislike to write letters or feel they just haven't the time. Houbigant, the famous French Perfumer, who is celebrating its 180th anniversary this year, offers a handsomely embossed card combined with either Chantilly or Quelques Fleurs perfume in a moire case. The perfume can be detached and carried in the purse.

The card and perfume are enclosed in a pretty pink and white mailer and needs six cents postage if a personal message is not enclosed and 12 cents otherwise.

Basin League Sets Meeting

The fifth annual meeting for the directors and membership of the League, sponsors of the Klamath Falls Community Lounge, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, September 30 in the lounge at 118 North Seventh Street.

The lounge has been in its present location for the last year and has given service as a waiting room, nursery and meeting place for hundreds of rural and city women, their husbands and children. Services have more than tripled, according to an official moved from North Eighth Street. More than 3,500 children have had the benefit of nursery service.

Mrs. Leua Dennis is president of the board of directors.

Betty Crocker Search For American Homemaker Of Tomorrow Announced

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Educational scholarships totalling $100,000 will be awarded in the second Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow, it was announced today by General Mills.

This is a $25,000 increase in scholarships awarded in the 1954-55 program when 187,463 high school senior girls from 8,040 schools sought the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow title which was won by Deloris Arnette of Enterprise, Ala.

In addition to a $1,500 scholarship to each state winner, there will be a new award of $500 to the homemaker rating second in each state. The scholarship of the national winner, who will be announced April 12 in Philadelphia, will be $5,000.

The basis for selection of winners will be test scores in a written homemaker knowledge and attitude test developed by Science Research Associates of Chicago. The test will be given in all participating high schools on December 6. The project has the endorsement of the national contest and activities committee of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, a department of the National Education Association.

"The enthusiastic endorsement of thousands of educators, religious leaders, civic leaders and parents throughout the nation and the extensive participation of students in our first year project have made General Mills pleased to renew this worthwhile activity and increase the scholarship funds," declared Charles H. Bell, president of the company.

"We believe in sponsoring programs which contribute to a better way of living for all. We are happy to assist public, private and parochial high schools in training girls for successful family life after marriage, and we are equally happy to focus public attention on the fine work these schools are doing."

"We have faith in the American teen-ager of today. Given the opportunity, the guidance and encouragement, this teen-ager will become the type of American homemaker who will assure the health, happiness and security of our communities and nation in the years ahead."

All 12th grade girls in the nation's public, private and parochial high schools who will graduate in 1956 are eligible to participate in the Betty Crocker search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. They must be enrolled by their school not later than October 31.

Study materials for use in teaching many subjects will be sent to participating schools. The girl with the highest test score in each school will be named Homemaker of Tomorrow for that school. She will receive a pin designed by Trifari of New York, her school will receive a copy of the Good and Easy Cook Book and her test paper will be entered in the competition for her state.

The school of each state Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica. Each state winner and a female faculty adviser will be invited to participate in an expense-paid educational tour of Washington, D.C., Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia, and Philadelphia April 8-12.

Miss Arnette, the first year national winner, is using her scholarship at Judson College in Alabama.

CALL OF THE WILD

This is the time of year the men in the family start checking days off the calendar (in case they didn't open the California deer season in September).

Getting out the "long Johns," checking the supply of shells and fondling his gun in anticipation are only part of the preparation.

The man has to eat, too, in spite of the fact that he isn't hungry in that hour before dawn which he needs to drive to the duck blind. Sardines from Maine are an ideal source of protein as well as being good eating. The weight factor is a minor one when packing a few extra cans of sardines into the knapsack to eat with crackers later during a lull when no birds are coming over.

After all, Mount Everest's conquerors carried sardines as their main food on that gruelling ascent.

TYPICALLY Anne Fogarty but with the excitement of fall, 1955, is this adaptation from a riding coat with high neck, pared down sleeves, a pony yoke and a Fogarty full skirt. In equestrian flannel, paddock green, colt brown, pacer purple, horseshoe grey. From the Margot Dress Company's fall showings in New York.

REFRIGERATE HOSE

Several local women are recommending washing nylons after purchasing them, drying them and placing them in a fruit jar in the refrigerator until they are to be worn. They say the stockings last longer. Any more ideas?
