

Cabinet Member Confirms Eisenhower's Second Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cabinet member was reported today to have told a group of important fund raisers for the Republican party there is no definite reason at this time to think President Eisenhower cannot run for a second term.

They were told, said one who attended, that Eisenhower alone can and will decide whether he will run in 1956.

The Cabinet member was not named.

His report was echoed within hours from a number of top-level administration and GOP quarters. In a sudden lifting of the gloom that settled over the Republican 1956 presidential outlook after Eisenhower was laid low with a heart attack Saturday.

The outburst of optimism that Eisenhower might yet lead the party's ticket in the 1956 presidential race was based on an assessment in high administration quarters here that Eisenhower's heart attack was "the lightest kind that a man can have."

This did not jibe with the medical bulletins from Denver, which at first described the attack as "mild" and later as "moderate—neither mild nor severe." Also, it appeared to ignore the fact that Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, told reporters that fingers must be kept crossed for the first two weeks after the attack, due to the possibility of complications.

The optimistic outlook did not jibe, either, with reports from Denver, where personal friends said it would be "unthinkable" to subject Eisenhower to the burdens of a 1956 political campaign and another four years in office.

But the widespread nature of the belief—or hope—that Eisenhower may run again was indicated by an Associated Press poll. Of 119 GOP state chairmen and national committee members reached, only 12 said firmly Eisenhower should not run again. Five said he should; the others awaited further developments.

There were perhaps practical political reasons for the optimistic reports here. They could head off any major quarrel over continuing present policies, or keep up the level of campaign contributions, or calm any major business worries, or dampen any party-weakening scramble for the 1956 presidential nomination.

Nevertheless, the optimism seemed genuine, whether or not well founded medically.

A participant at the fund raisers meeting, involving chiefly big New York money names, said the Cabinet member told the meeting:

"The President has not per se been knocked out of the 1956 presidential race by his heart attack. The President has had the lightest kind of this sort of attack that a man can have.

"There is no reason why, with a few changes in his manner of living, he should not go on. There is plenty of time for that. But there is nothing in what has happened to eliminate him as the 1956 GOP candidate."

Meanwhile, it was learned that at today's National Security Council meeting and tomorrow's Cabinet meeting, the Cabinet and chief Cabinet advisers expect to be able to put the administration in order for the duration of the President's absence.

TOM McCarty, district freight and passenger agent for the Southern Pacific Railroad Co., has been named squadron commander of Operation Fair Share, this year's United Fund-Red Cross drive. McCarty was appointed by Wing Commander Bob Beach, head of the UF-RC fund drive.

Army Reveals Nike Secrets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hitherto secret details of Nike, the guided missile guardian of major American target cities, were disclosed yesterday.

To illustrate how Nike works, and to dispell unfounded rumors of the danger of Nike installations, the Army today took newsmen on a tour of Nike mesa in the bay area and into the control center, where the plotting and firing will be done.

The Army spokesman was explicit and emphatic about the safety of the Nike installations insofar as surrounding areas are concerned. But he was more secret as to the accuracy of the devices—how high, how far and how fast they travel.

Ma. Gen. Hobart Hewitt, commanding the 5th Antiaircraft Regional Command, said "It doesn't miss in tests, either mechanically simulated or actual. It will track and shoot down any combat aircraft now known."

The Nikes, fully armed, nestled in underground chambers ready to be moved by powerful elevators to ready positions for firing at a moment's notice. Three groups of four Nike rockets make up a battery at each launching nest, and each battery is backed up by dozens of other spares ready in rows in the racks below.

Each of the slim missiles is 20 feet long, and with its booster weighs just over one ton. When the missile is fired, if it ever is, it will be pointed out to sea, so that when the booster breaks loose, it will be in unoccupied territory. It makes no difference which way the missile starts. The guiding radar beam immediately takes over and starts swinging it to its target.

Russ Armaments Reported Moving To Egyptian Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has received reports that Communist arms shipments already have left European and Black Sea ports for Egypt, it was learned today.

Efforts are being made to check on these reports to determine whether they are true. So far, the reports only say that ships carrying arms to Egypt have left Antwerp, Belgium, and Odessa, a Soviet port on the Black Sea.

The United States is speeding one of its diplomatic trouble-shooters to Cairo to discuss the Communist arms agreement with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel

Nasser, Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen took off suddenly Wednesday on a trip to Egypt, Lebanon and Athens, Greece, during which he will express U.S. concern over Egypt's agreement with Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The United States is concerned about Communist agreement to supply arms to Egypt because it fears the deal will upset radically the balance of power in the straitened Middle East, where Egypt and the other Arab nations are allied against Israel. It is known that Egypt sought last June to obtain jet bombers, heavy tanks, naval vessels and heavy artillery from the United States and presumably is trying to get the same items from the Soviet world.

The State Department would not say exactly what Allen hoped to accomplish on his Cairo mission. But it was assumed he would do his best to try to discourage the Egyptians from going through with the Communist arms arrangement.

If so, Allen apparently is doomed to failure. Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi said in New York Wednesday it is his nation's "indisputable right and... duty to get from wherever we can our defense requirements." His statement seemed clearly aimed at a joint U.S.-British statement appealing to all nations to avoid an arms race in the Middle East.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told reporters on his return from a two-day meeting in New York Wednesday that he had discussed the Communist arms agreement with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. But he refused to disclose Molotov's attitude on the matter.

Shivers Raps Supreme Court

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas says the Supreme Court justices "stepped out of their judicial robes" when they ruled segregation in public schools was unconstitutional.

"When the Supreme Court, basing its opinion on sociological studies... said how the cities of Houston and Woodville were going to operate their schools it stepped outside the role of judicial interpretation... Nine men sitting 2,000 miles away are not going to tell Groesbeck, Tex., how they are going to run their schools."

"Concerning the small number of school districts in Texas that have desegregated, the governor last night said:

"I will not argue with the right of a particular locality to integrate, although I might doubt their judgment."

Basically, the governor said, the segregation issue is a "political problem" and only one in a long series of attempts to bring about the centralization of government.

In his opening remarks of a 10-minute speech to a meeting of oil well drillers, Shivers took a wry slap at Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic candidate for president who spoke last night at the University of Texas in Austin.

Without naming Stevenson, Shivers, among, noted the reason for his absence from Austin:

"Pressing business and important visitors in Austin caused me not to be there. I'm sure they will have a wonderful time."
