20th Wedding Anniversary Marked With Mock-Ceremony At Meeting of Malin OES

MALIN—The 20th wedding anniversary of the worthy matron and worthy patron of the Prosperity Chapter No. 189, Order of the Eastern Star, in Malin, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Wilde, brought all officers out to the first meeting of the new season, following summer vacation, Thursday evening, September 8.

The "bridgroom" was presented with a corsage of white lilies and carrot greens, tied with a large pink ribbon bow. The "bridal couple" was marched to the East, where the "minister," Mary Victorin, waited to read the mock wedding service. She wore a black suit and top hat, and held an open Sears Roebuck catalog.

"Flower girl" was Gladys Halousek, who wore a very short white lace dress and a white bonnet. Her rose petals were stems of vegetables, which she scattered before the bride couple. Ring bearer, Dick Kruger, carried a tiny black pillow, on which rested a huge ring, which the "minister" instructed the bridegroom to "place upon the bride's finger—or on anyone else that it would fit."

The bridegroom was then handed a three-foot chain, which he put around his bride's neck and dragged her, as a grand finale to the dining room where refreshments were served.

The worthy matron and worthy patron cut the three-tiered cake, which was decorated with white bells and silver leaves. Miniatures figures for bride and bridegroom at the side of the cake displayed the number "20" in bold letters. Gifts were then presented to the couple.

The addenda was under the direction of Thelma Clugston; and the refreshment committee was Grace, Glenn and Mickey Walker. At the end of the evening, more gifts, and many handkerchiefs were presented to Hazel Bowman and Maxine Cole, who are leaving soon. Mrs. Bowman to make her future home in Pasco, Washington, and Mrs. Cole in Corvallis. Former Malinite, Mrs. P. G. Wilson (Marian), who is a past worthy matron of Prosperity Chapter, now living at Macdoel, was present and also a recipient of many gifts.

8th BIRTHDAY

MERRILL—Janny Hodges celebrated her eighth birthday Thursday afternoon September 15. Her mother, Mrs. Paschal Hodges, invited several little friends to a party after school hours. Games were played with each child winning a prize; and an individual gift marked each place at the refreshment table.

Guests were Diane West, Bonnie Matthews, Katherine and Christine Cole, Donna Mae Pelt, Shirley Ann Swisher, Trudy Lehr and Janny's brother Gary.

Men Members Host OES Dinner

WEED—Men members of the White Pine Chapter No. 481, Order of the Eastern Star, were hosts at the Tuesday night, September 13 meeting of the chapter which was also the first meeting following summer vacation.

Officers of the local chapter observed advance night and each performed in a new station for the evening meeting. Mrs. E. Holley presided at the business session and Amos Angel, past patron, acted as worthy patron.

A chicken dinner was served by the hosts to over forty members after the meeting adjourned.

A school house model, class room materials, and arrangements of dry flowers decorated the tables with miniature paper plates serving as place cards.

William Davis, chairman for the men's committee, was assisted at the meeting by Aaron Thomas, worthy patron; George Holland, Durwood Gammill, Wesley Little, Elwin Adams, associate patron; and Angel.

A REAL LIVE DOLL—Vicki Jean, is 18 months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stafford, 1529 Ward Street. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Worrell, Medford; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Casper, live here, 3935 Fawn Street. —Miller-Williams
