

Brooklyn Turns Into Bedlam; Podres Swamped By Crowds

BROOKLYN (AP)—Brooklyn was a different place today and hordes of its nearly three million inhabitants went happily and noisily crazy to celebrate the change. Until yesterday afternoon the big borough across the East River from Manhattan had never realized its dream to be the home town of the winners of a World Series. Years of disappointment for its baseball fans had produced a special, ever-hopeful loyalty to "dem Bums," the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was a belligerent, complaining kind of loyalty that rose to a hallmark of the Brooklyn character.

With the Dodgers now world champions, no longer is there occasion for complaints or need for belligerency. In the joyous uproar at Borough Hall and along Flatbush Avenue and elsewhere, no one seemed concerned that these two features of the Brooklyn character might wither in the warm glow of championship and be replaced by—say—something like graciousness. Some sentimentalists might fondly prefer the old days when fans could grumble and look hopefully toward "next year," but he wasn't in sight in the wild street cavorting last night.

Premier Death Brings Crisis

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greece faced the possibility of a serious political crisis today after the death of Premier Alexander Papagos, the national hero.

Field Marshal Papagos, 71-year-old victor over the Italians in World War II and the Communists in 1949, died last night of heart exhaustion following a lung hemorrhage. The marshal had been confined to his home since January with gastric troubles resulting from World War II imprisonment in a Nazi camp.

Members of the Premier's conservative Greek Rally party planned to meet after his funeral Friday in an effort to weld party unity and settle on a successor.

The party, a coalition of various political groups, had come near dissolution in the months since the Premier's illness robbed it of much of his unifying influence. Only yesterday Papagos had nominated Foreign Minister Stephan Stephanopoulos to be provisional premier during his illness but this automatically ceased with the Premier's death.

Because a general election would mean the end of the party, political observers expected its diverse elements to subordinate their individual ambitions in an effort to agree on a new premier.

U.S. officials in Washington were distressed to hear of Papagos' death. Americans who had dealt with him regarded him highly and found him very friendly to the United States. The Americans also feared the effects on the country if a struggle for power developed.

Papagos was chief of the army general staff when Mussolini threw his forces into Greece Oct. 28, 1940. Dictator John Metaxas named him commander of all Greek forces and his troops scored repeated victories over the Italians until Nazi Panzer divisions from Yugoslavia and Bulgaria invaded in the spring of 1941.

Eight years later Papagos took command of the three-year-old war against the Communist guerrillas in the northern mountains of Greece. Given dictatorial powers and large-scale U.S. aid, he won the war in six months.

Subsequently he formed his rally party in an effort to end the governmental instability resulting from Greece's multiparty system.

MACK OPERATION
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Connie Mack is scheduled to undergo surgery today to help heal a fractured hip suffered in a fall from bed. The 92-year-old Mack, former owner and manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, now Kansas City's baseball club, has been in Presbyterian Hospital since the fall five days ago. His condition was described as "still satisfactory."

DEFINITE HOLIDAY
HERMITAGE, Mo. (AP)—Hickory County officials took it seriously when Gov. Phil M. Donnelly declared yesterday a legal holiday for a special election on state public school aid. They closed the courthouse and didn't even count the votes cast in the referendum.

"Smart gal, my Susie!"
A lot of wives complain about housework, but not my Susie. She uses her head instead of her muscles. For example, some women spend a whole day just scrubbing and waxing wood floors. My Susie cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. It takes only half the time and a lot less work. Yet our beautiful wood floors are the envy of her friends. My hat's off to Susie and her Bruce Cleaning Wax for making a tough job so easy. And I can't help but feel proud of both of them.

P.S. For lighter waxing on linoleum and wood, Susie uses Bruce Floor Cleaner.

AUMONT TO HOST
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jean Pierre Aumont, linked romantically with actress Grace Kelly in recent months, will meet her parents for the first time tonight. He will host Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly back-stage in the Locust Theater. Asked if his romance with Miss Kelly is serious he replied, "Some times you think you are serious when you really are not, or you may not think you are serious when you really are."

Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS
Naomi Baker, 19-year-old girl friend of Brooklyn Dodger pitcher Johnny Podres who won the final game of the World Series when asked if they had any marriage plans: "He's sort of talked about it. And I sure would like to."

Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor and one-time Republican presidential candidate: "I retired from politics years ago, and I have no intention of returning."

V. K. Krishna Menon, describing India's relations with the United States and Communist China: "We are in the happy position that neither China nor the United States suspects our motives."

Frank Lasale, a service station attendant who witnessed a truck-train collision at West Newton, Pa. Tuesday: "The lumber flew like matchsticks. The freight cars seemed to go in all directions. They smashed into stores on both sides of the track."

Democratic National Committee man Kenneth Anderson of Kansas after visiting Adlai E. Stevenson: "I can't pledge anybody, but I believe it's going to be easier to get a full delegation for Stevenson in 1956 than in 1952."

Carlos Marchand, dyed-in-the-wool Dodger fan, on Tuesday's epic World Series victory: "I liked the Dodgers because I like the underdog. But we no underdogs no more."

Good News For Septic Tank Owners

Septic tanks are lifesavers for those who live away from city sewer systems. But septic tanks can, and do, stop-up and overflow! First, because the tank is not cleaned at proper intervals; secondly, toilet tissue that does not readily disintegrate may clog the drains and force them to back up! This may be avoided by using MD Toilet Tissue—because MD is scientifically processed to absorb water quickly. Drains don't clog or back up so readily! Good practice: Consult your County Health Department, your plumber, or a septic tank service company, for advice on cleaning your tank. Use MD Toilet Tissue!
