In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
Tragic note in the news:
Egyptians are giving thousands of dollars voluntarily to buy arms and equipment for Egypt's army. A delegation of transport workers from Alexandria today handed Premier Nasser a check for 2700 Egyptian pounds ($7748) representing workers' wages for one day.

Another worker sent $1.50, suggesting it be used to buy soft drinks for the crew of the first ship bringing arms to Egypt.
Why is that tragic?
The answer is tragically simple. These poor devils of Egyptians (90 per cent of whom are poverty stricken beyond American capacity for belief) are digging into their pockets to buy guns and ammunition that may be used to help start another war in the explosive Middle East. If another war gets started in the Middle East, it could spread into another world war.

They'd FAR BETTER be putting their money into a United Fund campaign — as we're getting ready to do here in the Klamath country.
Here in the Klamath country we'll spend our money for such things as CHARACTER BUILDING for our youth, the Red Cross, which is the ever-present mother in time of dire need, into care of needy and unfortunate children, into health agencies, such as cancer and heart disease research. And so on.

In Egypt, they're going to put their money (some of it raised under a system approximating our payroll deduction plan) into GUNS for another war.
If that isn't tragic, there is no such thing as tragedy.
One more word:
It is this willingness to put our money into funds (such as the United Fund) to make our communities better places to live in that makes America AMERICA. It is willingness to put money into guns, when people are starving on every side, with nobody paying much attention, because want and misery are accepted as a part of life as it is lived there—that makes Egypt EGYPT.

Economic note in the news:
The U.S. department of commerce reports today that publicly disposed cash dividend payments made by U.S. corporations in the first eight months of this year amounted to five and a half BILLION dollars.
It adds:
This was a gain of 7 1/2 per cent over the first eight months of last year.

That raises an interesting question:
WHO OWNS AMERICA'S CORPORATIONS?

That question can't be EXACTLY answered because there are thousands of little corporations whose stock ownership isn't listed in existing records that are available.
But the Brookings Institution estimates that the total of individual share owners of publicly owned corporations in this country is now about 7,500,000. In an exhaustive study made in 1952 it was able to track down a total of 4,490,000 persons who own shares in America's better known corporations.

It separated them into family income groups, with this result:
Under $5000 income, 2,050,000 people.
Five thousand dollars to $10,000 income, 2,800,000 people.
Ten thousand dollars a year and over 1,600,000 people.

This is the point:
America's corporations are no longer owned by a few big shots. They are owned by MILLIONS of Americans of all kinds.
This $4 billion dollar dividend income in the first eight months of this year went into the pockets of MILLIONS of Americans who had been thrifty enough to put their savings into the stock of American corporations.

Rebels Raise White Flags In Morocco

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—White flags went up Thursday over small villages in the mid-Atlas mountains and along the Spanish Moroccan frontier, indicating that some rebel tribesmen in the zone of the latest uprising are ready to call it quits.
French officers on the spot were not optimistic that all trouble was ending. Fighting still continued at Tizi Ouzul, in eastern French Morocco near the frontier of the Spanish zone.
Although the military situation seemed to be getting slightly better, the political situation worsened, both in Morocco and in France.

FAURE FIRES

In Paris, Premier Faure fired four Gaullist critics of his North African policy, including Defense Minister Pierre Koenig. There was speculation whether the Cabinet could survive the break.
Troops from Bourged and Tizi Ouzul fought through ambushes and past mountain marksmen yesterday and finally linked up with Moroccan cavalry from Aknou.

They beat off a series of mass attacks that began Saturday against the triangle of outposts along the border between French and Spanish Morocco.
STILL MENACED
But the French were still menaced by the rebels holding positions in the surrounding mountains. Both sides apparently had been reinforced for a hard fight in the area where Abd el Krim, the veteran warrior, scored successes in the Rif war more than 30 years ago.

Paris, a city of 29,000 45 miles south of the border, was crowded with hundreds of refugees from isolated outposts in the area.
Most were women and children, and some were from villages to the south and west, indicating the French feared the fighting would spread to heretofore peaceful areas.

Peron Labor Bosses Resign

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The way was opened today for smashing Peronist rule of the giant General Confederation of Labor (CGT) in Argentina.
The CGT bosses, who ran the six-million-member labor organization as the powerful right arm of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron, resigned last night. The provisional government announced new elections would be held in every union within four months, supervised by the Labor Ministry.
Among the labor chiefs who quit was the secretary general, Hector Hugo di Pietro, who backed Peron in his feud with the Roman Catholic Church.

As a result of the shakeup, it was reported the CGT-operated newspaper La Prensa may be taken over by a federal intervention. La Prensa, once Argentina's biggest independent newspaper, was handed over to the labor organization during Peron's regime.
The government's move on the CGT followed a one-day strike by 15,000 meat packers in four plants here, in Rosario and in La Plata.

The men in jail are William M. Provance, 27, Los Angeles painter, and Harry E. Smith, 40, Whitier maintenance engineer. Provance's brother, Harry, 24, Anaheim shipping clerk, was released when he paid his fine.

Hall Quotes Ike Prediction

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall quoted President Eisenhower last night as expressing confidence shortly before his heart attack that the Republicans will win next year's presidential election.
Hall, who addressed a party dinner, added his own optimism.
He said Eisenhower expressed his cheerful views about the 1956 election a little more than two weeks ago as Hall was leaving Denver after the President's conference there with GOP state chairmen.
Eisenhower was quoted as saying that if the Republicans carry out their plan to double the number of party county committeemen and work to get out the vote, "we won't have to worry about 1956."

Canal-Fence Member Quits

Joe J. Thomas, one of the members appointed to the mayor's committee of nine named Monday night to study the fence-the-canal project, has handed in his resignation, it was disclosed Wednesday.
Thomas, administrative officer on the Klamath Project, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, pleaded responsibilities and duties as a bureau employee as the reason for his action.
In a letter to Mayor Paul Landry yesterday, Thomas said "My responsibilities as an employee of the Bureau of Reclamation, an agency of the United States Government (which will be a principal in the matter), will prevent my being an effective member of the committee. However, I will be happy to serve in a consulting capacity if you feel that I can be of assistance."
"It is regretted that circumstances necessitate my withdrawal from the committee, because I am vitally concerned and greatly interested in civic affairs."
Mayor Landry said this morning that he had not as yet appointed anyone to fill Thomas' place, but that he would in the near future.

Plodding Bear Amuses Child

THURMAN, N.Y. (AP)—Charley Billie, 14 months, is not likely to remember the day the black bear visited him. His mother will never forget it.
Mrs. Edith Billie said Charley suddenly began jabbering with enthusiasm in his play pen on the porch of their house in an isolated section near this Adirondack community the other day. She found him "sticking his finger out through the play pen slats, smiling and cooing." A big black bear was standing nearby on its hind legs.
"I grabbed up the baby and ran into the house and into a bedroom and slammed the door," she said. "The baby didn't seem to be scared at all, just wondering what ailed me."
"The bear just plodded away."

Fire Destroys Weed House

WEED — A two-family dwelling owned by Ed Roach of Angel Valley was completely gutted by a fire that started at 6:40 a.m. today.
The apartments were rented by Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Painter. Each family has three children and they were all safely evacuated.
Morrison had built a fire in the wood stove in the living room of their quarters before waking his family. As he turned to leave the room, the stove exploded, setting fire to the building. He cut one hand in breaking a bedroom window and fire singed his hair and his wife's hair while they were getting the children outside the burning building.
The Weed Lumber - Bell Lumber Company and the Weed Sharnine volunteer fire departments responded and put out the blaze before it damaged adjacent houses. One side of the building was completely charred and both families lost all of their clothing and personal belongings. They were not insured.
Amount of damage had not been estimated at press time, but Roach indicated that the building was insured.

United DC4 Hits Peak; 64 Killed

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—A big, four-engine United Air Lines air coach with 64 aboard crashed Thursday morning on a 12,000-foot mountain 80 miles west of Cheyenne. There apparently were no survivors.
The UAL DC4 met disaster on a flight from Denver to Salt Lake City.
Wreckage of the airliner was sighted several hours later by a Wyoming National Guard jet pilot, Capt. Mel Coning, who said there was no sign of life at the scene.
Coning said the plane crashed into the side of Medicine Bow Mountain and fell back down, strewn regular wreckage over several hundred yards.
The debris is about one-half mile north of Lake Marie, a short distance from State Highway 330, he said.

FROM NEW YORK

The plane, which started from New York, left Denver at 6:35 a.m. and was not heard from afterward.
A highway patrolman from Laramie was expected to reach the wreckage shortly.

In New York, United said several of the passengers who boarded the plane there were destined for beyond Denver. Six designated Salt Lake City as their destination and one, Ely, Nev.

Flight 409 originated in New York. Wednesday night and had made regular stopovers at Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago and Omaha en route to Denver.
Wyoming Aeronautics Director George Nelson said in Cheyenne that severe turbulence was reported at 8,000 feet over northern Colorado, southern Wyoming early Thursday.

WEATHER CLEAR

Salabury of Mountain View, Calif., first officer; and Patricia Shullworth of Topeka, Kan., stewardess. Names of the passengers were not immediately available. Most boarded the airliner in the east.
