By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press... Baseball's hot stove league began warming up today even before the excitement of the Brooklyn Dodgers' World Series triumph over the New York Yankees had cooled off.

The off-season gabfest was off to a flying start with Frank Lane signing a three-year contract as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, renewal of Bucky Harris' managerial contract by Detroit for $40,000, official signing of Bill Rigney as successor to Leo Durocher as manager of the New York Yankees and distribution of the players' share of the World Series receipts.

In the immediate offing is the naming of new field manager for the Cardinals, the settling of the status of Branch Rickey as Pittsburgh's general manager and the appointment of a successor to Fred Haney as manager, and the possible sale of the Detroit Tigers to a syndicate.

Freddie Hutchinson, who led Seattle to the Pacific Coast League title after being let out as manager of the Detroit Tigers, slated to take over the Cardinals. He'll succeed Harry Walker, who was named manager when Eddie Stanky was fired in midseason.

Bobo Olson Gives Chance To Sugar Ray
CHICAGO (UP)—Former middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson will get a chance at the age of 34 to try and regain his old title from the 27-year-old champion, Carl "Bobo" Olson, in the Chicago Stadium Nov. 4.

The fight was announced Thursday by the sponsoring International Boxing Club, who said it would be televised nationally, with Chicago and the area of 150 miles surrounding blacked out, and also would be broadcast both locally and nationally.

Robinson has beaten Olson twice previously, scoring a 13 round knockout in Philadelphia Oct. 26, 1950 and winning a 15 round decision in San Francisco March 13, 1951.

However, Robinson retired from the ring after he lost to Joey Maxim in an attempt to win the world light heavyweight championship June 25, 1952, announcing that he would try to make his living as a dancer on Dec. 18, 1952.

Portland's Sport Center Said Refused
PORTLAND (UP)—The eight-million-dollar sports center for Portland apparently will not be built on bottom land beside the Columbia River north of here after all.

Three of the city's five council members said Thursday they will refuse to make the land available, on grounds the site is too far from the city center, and on unstable soil that is likely to be flooded in a high-water year.

The site is Delta Park at East Vanport, destroyed in a 1948 flood. It is seven miles from the city center.

The 99 acres there are owned by the city's Park Bureau. Councilmen can block construction by refusing to take the land from the bureau to turn it over to the sports center.

Deer In Good Shape, Tests Improvement Seen
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The second weekend of the general buck deer season in Oregon should continue hunters' good success, the State Game Commission said in its weekly bulletin assessing the outlook.

In the opening week, the deer bagged were in fine condition. So far as speaking of prospects in general terms, the commission said hunting has been slow in Central Oregon but fair to excellent elsewhere. Improvement is expected.

In the first two days of shooting, about 10 hunters were wounded, about half of them by their own guns. A fall over a cliff and a heart attack claimed two lives in the opening week.

Among reports from various parts of the state it appeared that humans and deer were not the sole targets. At Grants Pass three bears were checked in by Monday afternoon.

The first two deer killed in Josephine County were shot by women named Jackie—Jackie Allen, junior high physical education instructor, bagged a four-pointer near her home on Jones Creek and Jackie Walk shot a three point buck near North Pacific Grange Hall a few miles from her home.

Youngest successful hunter at Baker was Gary Squires, 12. Three hours after the season opened he brought down a five-point buck. There were a few brief flurries when hunters failed to show up at designated places and the Clackamas county sheriff's office reported putting a search party together for one man, before he turned up. No periods of long concealment or missing hunters were reported, though.

A mystery report of a vanishing hunter believed wounded enlivened hunters in Central Oregon. And near Lak' a hunter who took cover from one shot was wounded when he decided the coast was clear and stood up again.

from secure but he has another year to go on his contract. In the signing of Lane, who recently resigned as general manager of the White Sox, President August A. Busch of the Cardinals said he would be given full authority to rebuild the St. Louis club to the position it once held. The Cardinals wound up seventh this year.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Lane said he had three men, including Hutchinson, under consideration for the manager's job. But from another reliable source, The Associated Press learned that it'll be Hutchinson with the announced announcement scheduled within the next week or 10 days.

Harris was signed to a new Detroit contract after leading the Tigers to their best record since 1939 but failed to improve on the fifth-place ranking of 1954, when Hutchinson was manager.

Rigney signed a two-year contract, believed to call for an annual salary of $30,000. He said he is already has several newcomers in mind who he hopes will strengthen the weak spots, particularly the pitching staff and second base.

Distribution of the players' share of the World Series receipts showed that 20 members of the Dodgers will receive $9,788.21 each and 24 members of the Los Angeles Yankees will get $5,598.58. Each club also made a number of cash awards and part shares.

Deer brought in have been big. At Roseburg, James W. Vaughn, regional administrator for the Game Commission, estimated the weight of the average buck at 150 pounds before being dressed. In that area most deer are blacktail, but there are a few whitetail just northeast of the city.

Northwest
Darker nights, with the moon waning, should improve success which already has been fair. In the Tillamook Burn the best prospects are in areas with good cover, heads of bushy draws and rugged, rocky slopes. Cover areas harbor numerous bucks. A better turnout of archers would improve success.

Southwest
Monday's rain brightened prospects in Coos County where success has been fair to good. In Jackson County's high Cascade country there is rapid drying but prospects remain good for hunters willing to leave their cars. Douglas County was excellent on the opening week and the prospects are that the whole season will be very excellent.

Central
While hunting has been slow, some snow in the mountains and in the lower country should improve conditions.

Northeast
General rain has greatly improved the outlook. There is a light covering of snow on higher elevations and some high roads will be muddy. The storms caused a movement of deer from the higher elevations. Best prospects are in Grant, Wheeler and Morrow counties. On the main John Day River deer still are plentiful near alfalfa fields between Picture Gorge and Kimberly. There has been good success in the Wickiup forest camp. Dry Soda, Lookout and Starr Ridge areas also on Morgan Creek, Frenchy Butte, and Jackson Ranch in Ince, Darkening of the moon and the dampening of the woods should make hunting better in Umatilla County where the opening success was only fair. In Baker, Union and Wallowa counties success was fair but storms have moved deer to lower elevations and hunter success this weekend should be greatly improved.

Southeast
There have been fewer hunters than usual in this area. Many appear to be waiting for the last of the buck season and the beginning of the either-sex season. The woods have been dry but no campfire permits are required although ax, bucket and shovel must be available. Success has been good in Lake, Harney, and Malheur counties. Mahogany Mountain area has had the heaviest hunting in Malheur County, with Ironside next. Few hunters have been in the south end of the county.

Seattle Said Top Ball Town
By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The best baseball town in the West, and one of the finest in the world, is Seattle.

This isn't a guess, or just a bunch of pretty words. It is the undeniable proof as reported in statistics released today by the Pacific Coast League, San Francisco and Los Angeles can cry that they should be in the major leagues, but Al Smith's famous statement, "Look at the record!" file Seattle to a "T."

Over the 10-year span following World War II, Los Angeles has the top attendance—4,653,926. But Seattle is a very close second with 3,954,242—only an average of 10,000 per season less attendance.

The official attendance figures over the 10-year span, following Los Angeles and Seattle, are: San Francisco, 3,772,749; Hollywood, 3,752,325; Oakland, 3,711,730; San Diego, 3,197,208; Portland, 3,090,704; and Sacramento, 2,730,510.

WINNERS
Of course, some towns can take their baseball or leave it. But Seattle, it appears, has fans who love the game—win or lose. In fifth, they put 345,434 fans through the turnstiles. That was tops for the league and 20,000 more than the league-winning Oakland and Acorn's 53,000 more than rump-rump Hollywood.

The only serious depression to hit the Rainiers during the 10-year span was in 1944 when the club finished fifth and drew only 151,071. What the fans particularly disliked about that team is hard to figure, because that was nearly 100,000 less attendance than any other year in the post-war campaigns.

FIGURES
The Rainiers led the league in attendance in 1955 while winning the pennant with 342,101, compared with 291,732 for also-ran Los Angeles, 248,528 for Hollywood and 225,905 for San Diego.

San Francisco, with 158,476, and Oakland, with 141,397, the clubs that battled for the cellar, had the low attendance mark—resulting in Oakland moving to Vancouver, B. C., and the Seals considering a move to nearby St. Katlos.

The statistics showed the league drew 28,183,794 during the 10-year period, an average of 2,818,379 per season. That compared with a high of 4,968,432 in 1947 and the 1954 low of 1,773,643 for the period.

RICHMOND, Calif. (UP)—A team headed by Mrs. Betty Bush, Detroit, Mich., won the pro-amateur tournament Thursday with a best ball of 12 under women's par 61. The tournament is the warm-up for the $5,000 Richmond Women's 54-hole open event which gets under way today.

Mrs. Bush, 32-year-old veteran of the tournament trail, had a two-under-par 71 herself. The best ball score was 32-29, with the aid of four local amateurs.

LAUREL, Md. (UP)—Prefect, an English horse who will carry the colors of Canada, today joined the field for the Nov. 11 running of the Washington, D.C., Inter-Ruff Classic.

Recently purchased by the Alberta Ranches Ltd. of Calgary, Alta., Prefect will remain in England under the care of Noel Cannon, British trainer, and will be flown to Laurel with the other International starters shortly before the race.

Big Red In Midwest; Bruins, OSC Collide

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Although two unbeaten teams clash for Pacific Coast Conference leadership Saturday, the Western football spotlight will be far east of the Rockies where standard-bearer Stanford goes after its second straight win against a 7-7 Ten foe.

The Indians who swung a mighty tomahawk to topple Ohio State last week, take on Michigan State at East Lansing with PCC prestige riding on the outcome.

The battle at Seattle between the high-riding Trojans of Southern California and the hard-hitting Huskies of Washington will determine the midway Washington conference grid chase. Both teams carry perfect 3-0 records, including a pair of league victories.

Two other PCC tilts are on the menu, UCLA entertains unbeaten Oregon State at Los Angeles Friday night and Washington State is looking for its initial triumph against California at Berkeley on Saturday.

The non-conference schedule has Oregon host to Colorado of the Big Seven at Eugene, and Idaho making its home debut against independent College of the Pacific. San Jose State, also unaffiliated, entertains Arizona State of Tempe on Saturday night.

Stanford's hopes against the Spartans ride on the offensive punch of Bill Tarr and Jerry Gustafson plus a rock-ribbed defense. Tarr and Gustafson rank one-two in conference total offense with three games under their belts. Tarr topping the rushers with 289 yards and Gustafson the passers with 225 plus another 60 picked up on the ground.

The Indians' main problem is to contain Michigan State's multiple offense handled by a host of small, fast backs.

Jon Arnett, C. R. Roberts and Gordy Davall pack a three-pronged punch which has made USC into one of the mightiest clubs in Trojan history. Washington, already winner of more games than all last season, will depend on the passing of Steve Roake and the running of Mike Monroe. The Huskies will carry a slight weight advantage—two pounds to the man—into the game.

The pupil vs. teacher theme will be re-run at Los Angeles. The Beavers' Tommy Prothro was the Bruins' Red Sanders' assistant for nine years and will toss an unseasoned club against his former boss. The Uclans figure to spoil that, though, with Ronnie Knox, Bob Davenport and Sam Brown.

The other conference game will decide whether Washington State, still without a victory, or California winds up in the cellar. The Bears, gaining experience rapidly, figure to escape the fate.
