WALL STREET
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied strongly Tuesday with aircraft touching off the buying enthusiasm, but in the late afternoon prices had subsided well under their best.

Changes ranged from around 2 points higher to a point lower with the range narrow most of the time.

At one time during the buying rush, it looked as though business would rise out of its rut, but trading enthusiasm waned and the day's total came to an estimated 1,500,000 shares. That compared with 1,480,000 shares traded Monday.

House Sets More Power Inquiries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Chudoff (D-Pa.) said Tuesday a House committee will "look into" private utility practices to see if the private power companies have any relationship with the secretary of interior.

Chudoff said the government operations subcommittee, of which he is chairman, "probably will set up a next year."

His statement came as the committee voted down, on straight party lines, a Republican demand to give the private utilities a public hearing in the committee's investigation of administration public power policy administration.

The action followed White House refusal to name persons and dates involved in a number of White House conferences concerning proposed distribution of federal power from the Clark Hill hydroelectric project on the Savannah River in Georgia.

The subcommittee has inquired into Interior Department proposals, subsequently shelved, to supply Georgia's share of Clark Hill energy to the Georgia Power Co. for removal to rural electric cooperatives which have prior rights to it under the law.

Democrats have called the proposal "another Dixon-Yates" while Republicans have blasted the committee inquiry as "political bunk" and an effort to embarrass the Eisenhower administration.

A regional meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn., which advocates a public power, approved a resolution here Tuesday urging that the resignations of Secretary of the Interior McKay, Undersecretary Clarence Davis and Assistant Secretary Fred G. Ansdahl be requested.

It added that if the resignations are not forthcoming "we urge the filing of proceedings by the Congress of the United States for their removal from office."

Another resolution called for continuation of power investigations, which have been started by the Chudoff subcommittee and other groups headed by Rep. Jones (D-Aia) and Sons, O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) and Keisauer (D-Texas).

It added "we reiterate our request that Congress authorize a large scale investigation of monopoly in the electric industry, including propaganda and corruption of elections."

After the committee voted 3-2 against calling Harbelle Branch, president of Georgia Power Co., Rep. Fascell (D-Fla.) said the committee ought to investigate private utilities to determine "if there is a concerted effort" to push their own policies within the government.

Rep. Dawson (D-Ill) agreed with Fascell, asserting "there seems to be a steady pattern in which the small power companies are used as a cat's paw to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for the bigger company."

Chudoff said he was not closing the door on the operation of the private companies, and then added "we are going to look into that phase of the inquiry to see if the private power companies have any relationships with the secretary of interior."

As Tuesday's hearing opened, Chudoff read a White House telegram rejecting the committee's request for information on grounds it would "violate policy and practice" governing relations between the executive and legislative branches of government.

Faure Regime Under Vote

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure goes before the National Assembly today for a vote of confidence that could topple the 21st French government since the war and bring international disaster to France.

The vote was on his handling of the crisis in Algeria, legally a part of metropolitan France but torn now by terrorism at the hands of native nationalists who demand independence. Tied in with this was his handling of similar crises in other parts of the North African empire.

The actual vote of confidence was not expected until afternoon. It was his first formal vote of confidence Faure has posed in his eight months in office, a drastic step taken in hopes of saving the situation.

The Socialist Party, largest in the assembly with 103 votes, was the key to the situation. It has announced it will vote against Faure, but he was making last minute efforts to persuade it to abstain. If the Socialists do not vote Faure could win.

International repercussions of a French Cabinet crisis would overshadow domestic problems. First and foremost it would mean that France would have, at the most, only token representation at the Geneva Big Four conference this month—a condition that would weaken the power of the Western Big Three.

France also stood to lose vital rights in the Saar, the coal and iron rich territory between France and Germany that both nations have coveted for centuries. The Saar holds a referendum Oct. 23 on whether it will be placed under a neutral administrator, and downfall of the French government could weigh the vote against France. Since the war France has controlled the economy of the Saar.

Fall of the government would weigh heavily against France in the United Nations as well. France led its permanent delegation out of the U.N. General Assembly because the world body voted to debate the Algerian problem and France regards that as its own affair.

It also would come at time of a developing crisis with Spain over the fighting in the Rif Mountains of Morocco near the borders of Spanish Morocco. France has claimed — and Spain has denied — that rebels have been aided from the Spanish side.

In Morocco, the fighting still was going on in the Rif Mountains while a four-man throne council in Rabat worked on the setting up of a national government. Persistent reports said the council would name Fathal ben Slimane as "first premier."

Airline Union Slates Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—An air line union representing flight engineers said Tuesday its members will strike against United Air Lines Saturday.

The AFL Flight Engineers International Assn. said more than 500 engineers employed on United's big DC-6 and DC-7 passenger liners will demand their jobs to enforce the union's lease for an "industry standard contract."

There was no immediate comment from the company.

Efforts to settle the dispute through mediation have failed, the union said, and the National Mediation Board has withdrawn from the case.

Whether further steps will be taken under the National Railway Labor Act, under which air lines operate, to head off the strike was not known in Chicago. An engineer's strike might not cut off United's service entirely because only certain of the carrier's planes carry flight engineers.

The union said some 27 major cities in the United States, plus the Hawaiian Islands, will be affected by the work stoppage.

A spokesman for the union said the issue in the dispute is job security for the engineers. He said the union and the company have not been able to agree on qualification requirements for flight engineer jobs.

Cities which the union said will be affected by the strike include Seattle, Spokane, Portland, Salt Lake City, Boise, Los Angeles, Hollywood, San Francisco and Oakland, Calif.

Clerk Jailed For Theft

WEED—Hansell O. Fields, 58, former retail sales clerk for 30 years with the Weed division of Long-Bell Lumber Company, was sentenced to 18 months in the Siskiyou County Jail Monday.

Judicial Court Judge Kenneth Stone, before whom Fields appeared, suspended nine months of the sentence and placed Fields on two years' probation.

Fields was tried on three counts of petty theft, which was a reduction of the original charge against him. Fields and Harold E. Scott, cashier of the Weed division of Long-Bell Lumber Company, were arrested on May 14 of this year on warrants issued following complaints signed by John Mantle, general manager of the Weed division. At that time, both were charged with grand theft. An audit of the Weed division's book showed a shortage of approximately $3,200.

Charges against Fields were reduced to petty theft on August 30 and he pleaded guilty at that time to three counts, each involving less than $200. The three counts were combined as a unit for sentencing. After he pleaded guilty, sentencing was postponed pending investigation by the probation officer, Lester Newton. The investigation determined that Fields' actions showed no evidence of scheming. In addition, many of the alleged acts which took place periodically over a number of years were outlawed by the California statute of limitations.

Charges against Scott were increased from grand theft to embezzlement. An audit of the company's books were the basis of the increased charge of embezzling a sum in excess of $29,000.

Scott's trial commenced today in the superior court at Yreka before Judge James M. Allen.

Hunters Asked For Survey Aid

TULELAKE—Local hunter participation in the annual mall survey proposed by John L. Farley, director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, is vital to proper management of Pacific Flyway waterfowl.

Tom Horn, superintendent of the Tulelake Wildlife Refuge, said today that this is particularly true of the Klamath Basin hunters where waterfowl concentration reaches such high proportions.

Hunters who receive registration cards with the purchase of their federal duck stamps are urged to cooperate with and promptly returning the indicated portion of the form.

This year more than 700 post offices throughout the country have been furnished with double postcard forms which are handed to purchasers of duck stamps.

One-half of the card is to be filled out by the hunter and returned at once to the service. The other half is to be retained as a record on which the hunter can list the numbers and kinds of waterfowl bagged during the shooting season and the number of days hunted.

Hunters who return the cards will receive questionnaires at the end of the hunting season in which they will be asked to report their seasonal hunting success.

Chief purpose of the survey, Director Farley explained, is to determine as accurately as possible the extent of the waterfowl hunting kill for the season in order that a proper balance between the harvest of these birds and the hunting regulations may continue to be maintained.

Artie Towne Whips Savage

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight Artie Towne of New York blamed himself today for "waiting too long to get a knockout opening" in Monday night's lack-lustre television victory over sixth-ranked Milo Savage of Salt Lake City at St. Nicholas Arena.

"I'll do a hundred per cent better the next time," he said after the brawny ring veteran who won a 10-round split decision over Savage by the scanty margin of a single point.

To earn that margin Towne cut loose in the 10th round of the dull bout and staggered Savage with a right to the chin, and then inflicted a 13-stitch gash on Milo's right brow in the barrage that followed.

The close win over contender Savage probably gained Towne a berth among the top ten aspirants for the 160-pound crown, but it brought him no immediate offers of fights.

Artie, a last-minute favorite at $15 to 5, weighed 161 pounds to Savage's 159 — he registered his first New York victory on the come back trail since his eighth win in nine fights since he returned to the ring early this year after three years' retirement.
