Local Buyers Report On Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Franz, La-Pointe's, who have returned from a buying trip to New York, met many of the world-famous garment designers during their two-week stay, including Anne Fogarty, Anne Klein, Madeline Fauth, members of the Cecil Chapman family and others.

This year, Mrs. Franz stated upon her return, emphasis is on glitter and sparkle in women's wardrobes, elegance of fabric, leaning to metallics in evening fashions and definite Indian and Oriental fabrics. Influence of other countries, France and Italy and designers, Simonetta and Fabbiani, is also pronounced in the markets.

Numerous replicas of authentic jewels seen by Mr. and Mrs. Franz in the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum will be shown in Klamath Falls this fall and winter.

Some of the Far East fabric patterns used in women's wear date back to the 16th and 17th centuries.

Many of the wardrobe items were modeled by Cavanaugh and brought here for the winter trade. Powers models for the buyers.

Army Details Officer Lists

Men entering the Army Reserve and completing six months of active duty training may later become eligible to apply for a commission as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserve, the department of the Army announced today.

Such personnel must first meet the requirement of attaining the grade of sergeant while satisfactorily participating in reserve training after completing their initial six months training period. Men seeking appointment as second lieutenants will be required to complete appropriate Army extension courses.

Army Openings For Doctors

Doctors and dentists subject to induction by selective service under the doctor draft law now may fulfill their military obligation by applying for a direct commission in the Army Reserve and immediate call to active duty.

Others who have served less than 17 months in active military service are eligible to apply for commissions and assignments to units of the Army Ready Reserve. Those who are not obligated under selective service regulations may also apply for commissions and active duty.

Inquiries concerning appointments as officers in the Army for doctors and dentists may be addressed to the Commanding General, Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, California.

Most Army Reserve units have vacancies for enlistees and promotion in grade can be attained in a reasonable length of time after completion of the six months of active duty training.

The eight year enlistment program offers men under 18½ years of age a draft-deferred status if they agree to take active duty training for six months and then satisfactorily participate in training with their local unit for the balance of the eight-year enlistment.
