

COTY'S 1955 Christmas Gaieties collection, the "Fine Fragrance" Chest is an advance number from the lovely gift items being offered by Coty for this Holiday season. The striking golden box is all satin-lined. The top compartment holds generous size bottles of L'Amant and Emeraude Toilet Water. A drawer underneath contains two miniature bottles of perfume in matched fragrances. The model is wearing a dress by Anne Klein of Junior Sophisticates.

Christmas Is Coming

Time was when anyone who mentioned the phrase "Christmas comes but once a year" followed it with, "Thank goodness!" But all that is changed now, since the companies who provide us with the bulk of our Christmas gifts have also taken over the work we used to have to do between buying and giving — the complicated, time-consuming job of gift wrapping and decorating.

The makers of fragrances, in particular, have been the trend-setters in the pre-wrapped packaging idea. Coty, Inc. is the largest producer of fragrances in America, so it follows then, that what Coty does in the way of Christmas gift presentation is a major factor in the whole look of gift giving.

This year, Coty's gift line is presented under the title of "Christmas Gaieties," with touches of gold predominating on nearly all the pretty packaging. Clever ornament features include golden trees, harps, swans and slippers with the famous fragrance and beauty products attached. Sets of work-together glamour accessories come mounted on satin linings inside striking new golden branch motif boxes or transparent cases with gold or silver ornaments and ribbons. In either case, only a gift card is needed to take the package right from the store counter to under the tree.

There are nearly half-a-hundred combinations of perfumes, toilet waters, bath accessories and makeup items from which to choose, ranging from a delightful little "Golden Beauty" foil tree ornament which holds face powder and skin perfume to a lavish Jewel Chest which contains a complete fragrance and makeup ensemble. An additional new feature in the Coty gift collection are the good looking golden and transparent packages with work-together combinations in "Preferred Stock," the new line of toiletries for men introduced just this year.

Coty's traditional ornament presentations — the popular "small remembrance" group of Christmas Gaieties — are especially imaginative. "Golden Beauty" has a glitter-trimmed gold foil tree, a purse vial of Creamy Skin Perfume set in as its "trunk" and a box of fragrance-matched "Air-Spun" Face Powder as its base. A lustrous "Basket of Fragrance" is filled with a drum of Dusting Powder, with fragrance-matched "Twistick" solid cologne cleverly fitted in as the top of the handle. Another highlight is the elegant "Perfume Harp," which comes complete in its own simulated suede cylinder box decorated with gay ribbons and tiny mirror "stars." Inside is a flacon of perfume set in the heavenly decor of fluffy clouds and a miniature golden harp. Another ornament — a small-ribbon trimmed box holds a small "Golden Slipper" with a purse vial of Perfume tucked inside the in-step. One pretty gift box holds twin "Golden Sleighs," each carrying a luxurious bottle of perfume.

Sure to be favorites under the nation's Christmas trees during the holidays are Coty's striking new "golden pine branch" boxes. The background color on each identifies the work-famed scent inside — red for L'Amant, gold for L'Origan, blue for "Paris" and green for Emeraude. Inside are beauty ensembles nestled in satin linings.

The always-popular Gift Chests are another highlight in the Coty Christmas collection. Covered with leatherette and lined in satin, they make lovely jewel boxes for the dressing table after the array of beauty accessories have been used.

For the woman who prefers a floral scent, Coty's famous lily-of-the-valley (Muguet des Bois) blooms in December in sentimental pink, white and gold presentations.

The men have a prominent place on Coty's Christmas list this year, too. The new "Preferred Stock" line of masculine toiletries come in work-together teams in handsome transparent and gold cartons.

VANILLA PUDDING is the base for this Molasses Mint Ice Cream. It is easy to make and sure to please. Photo and recipe courtesy Jello-O Pudding and Pie Filling.

Molasses Mint Frozen Cream

However varied the individual tastes of the family to which you cater, almost everyone is sure to enjoy ice cream. It can be made in so many delicious flavors and combinations of flavors, there's no wonder it is so universally popular.

Here, for instance, is a recipe that combines the smooth sweetness of molasses with the stimulating sharpness of peppermint to make an ice cream that is sure to be greeted with enthusiasm by all and sundry.

Vanilla pudding and pie filling mix is the basic ingredient that pulls all the others together into a smooth and wonderfully refreshing dessert. In the English fashion, tilt light, crisp wafers in the ice cream. They give just the right taste and texture contrast . . . look pretty, too.

- 1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix.
- 1/4 cup molasses
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup light cream
- 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract

Combine pudding mix, molasses, 1/4 cup of the milk, and salt in saucepan. Add egg yolk and blend well. Then add remaining 2 1/4 cups milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat.

Beat egg white until foamy throughout. Add 2 tablespoons sugar, a tablespoon at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until this meringue mixture will stand in peaks. Add hot pudding gradually. Then stir in cream and peppermint extract. Pour into freezing trays of refrigerator and set control for coldest freezing temperature. Freeze until almost firm. Then pour mixture into bowl and beat with egg beater or mixer until smooth, but not melted. Return to tray and freeze until firm. Freezing time: 4 to 5 hours.

AMBASSADOR LEAVES

SEUL (AP) — U.S. Ambassador William S. B. Lacy, who resigned Saturday, will leave Thursday for Tokyo without paying a farewell visit to South Korea's President Syngman Rhee. An embassy spokesman said there would be "no time" for Lacy to say goodbye to Rhee, who is vacationing.

Don't Get Caught Red-Handed

Beware! Cold weather will be here before you know it, and if you're not prepared you will be caught with rough, red hands.

Now is the time to review the news in skin care and choose a lotion that will make you proud to take off your gloves.

Houbigant, the famous French perfumer, has improved its Quelques Fleurs lotion by adding allantoin to it. This strange-sounding ingredient is a medically accepted and proven healing agent that stimulates the formation of healthy new skin tissue.

This means that even problem hands — hands that are scratched, cut, cracked, chapped or irritated by harsh detergents — will greatly benefit from the healing action of allantoin.

The lotion itself has body, doesn't flow better skelter, and quickly disappears into the skin without leaving the slightest trace of greasiness.

This lotion is also recommended for other dry skin areas: elbows, knees and heels. And it leaves your skin fragrant with an aroma of a floral bouquet.

It is one thing to have an effective lotion and quite another to remember to use it after each soap and water washing, after household chores, before going to bed.

That is why Houbigant offers a trio of tinted lotions — blue, pink and ivory — in a charming see-thru package. Keep one bottle in the kitchen, one in the bathroom, one on your dressing table or in the office, to be sure this beauty aid is always at hand. Three bottles are sure to serve as strong reminders.

LOVELY HANDS need constant care and the smart career girl uses a rich lotion such as Houbigant's Quelques Fleurs healing agent. Pictured is a trio which allows you to have one bottle in the office and two to keep at home in the bathroom and kitchen.

EPIDEMIC
SEUL (AP) — The South Korean Public Health Ministry said Wednesday a 2 1/2 month encephalitis epidemic took 766 lives, most of whom were children. The brief announcement said the sleeping sickness epidemic has apparently ended. The highest encephalitis toll was recorded in 1949 when 2,729 persons died.
