

SUBJECTS of the Klamath Basin Potato kingdom will pay homage tonight to a brand new monarch, dainty Queen Lou Ann Kandra who will accept the crown, royal robes and the scepter of her realm during the annual festival banquet in the Merrill Grade School gymnasium. Crowning of the queen and the introduction of her four pretty princesses, Judy Main, Tulalake; Sonya DeGrande, Hanley; Darleen Daniels, Merrill and Claudette Shuck, Bonanza. Queen Lou Ann represented the Malin High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Kandra of the Merrill Highway.

THIS FINE STRUCTURE, the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 1735 Main Street, will be dedicated "debt-free" on Saturday, October 22. Dedication service will be at 11 a.m. The dedicatory sermon will be given by Elder L. E. Igs, president of the Oregon Conference, Portland. The pastor is the Rev. Preston Smith.

Adventist Church To Hold Dedicatory Rites Saturday

Dedicatory services for the Seventh Day Adventist Church will be held Saturday, October 22 in the imposing native rock structure that has been completed at an estimated cost of $100,000. The building is free of debt for the service. The church has been represented in Klamath Falls for 63 years. Much of the work on the edifice was donated by the congregation with Bert Davis as construction foreman. Howard Perrin, Klamath Falls, was the architect. Stone for the building was brought to Klamath Falls from the C. C. Hard ranch on the Old Fort Road. Women of the church raised money to apply on the building fund. Other assistance totaling $30,000 was provided by the Oregon Conference of Seventh Day Adventists Churches. The building, which includes the sanctuary, Sabbath School rooms, Dorcas rooms and utility rooms, is heated by a hot water well. The building project was started in 1948 during the time that the Rev. Paul Alderson was pastor. Elders are F. L. Chitwood and C. C. Hard. Head deacon is S. D. Chrowl. Ival Taylor is the Sabbath School superintendent and Mrs. I. J. Chambers is the organist. The program for the Sabbath services follows: Sabbath School, 9:30 a.m.; silent prayer and opening hymn; prayer by H. B. Johnson; secretary's report, Mrs. William Hairel; remarks, Ival Taylor; duet, Betty and Beryl Alderson; mission story, Mrs. John Robbins; review, Bruce Campbell; lesson, Murray Johnstone; duet, W. R. Babcock and Mrs. Preston Smith; missionary service, Mrs. Randolph David. Morning worship service: prelude, Wagner by the Rev. Preston Smith; processional, choir; doxology and the invocation by the pastor; announcements and the offering, C. C. Hard; offertory, Andante Cantabile, Englemaun; opening hymn, prayer by F. L. Chitwood; prayer response, choir; duet, Elder and Mrs. Paul Alderson; sermon by the Rev. Alderson; choir, Praise Ye Jehovah, Gounod; benediction, C. C. Hard; prayer response, choir; postlude, Lorenz. Dedication service, 3 p.m. prelude, Song of Joy, Stebbins; violin processional, Meditation from Thalberg, Fred J. Dallas; scripture reading, the pastor; prayer, Elder R. F. Bresse; prayer response, the choir; solo, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," Harker by Mrs. Patricia Brown Yank. History of the church, F. L. Chitwood; dedicatory sermon, Elder L. E. Briggs, president of the Oregon Conference, Portland; act

Dulles Will Continue Ike Stand At Geneva Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's peace talks with Russia were spread on the record today as Secretary of State Dulles prepared to take up where the President left off at the Geneva Big Four conference. They included Eisenhower's assurance to Russia that "under no circumstances is the United States ever going to be a party to aggressive war—against any nation." An 88-page booklet of about 40,000 words, made public late yesterday by the State Department, included formal statements made by Eisenhower and other heads of government at the summit conference last July. These statements already had been reported in substance. However, the record included the texts of about a half dozen of Eisenhower's statements which had never been made fully public. Only previously published statements by the other principals were released. At one point, the President directed his remarks especially at his old World War II comrade-in-arms Marshal Georgi Zhukov, who was at Geneva as Russia's defense minister. "I would partially like my friend, Marshal Zhukov, to listen to what I have to say. I have known him for a long time and he knows that, speaking as a soldier to a soldier, I have not uttered a single word that I do not believe to be the truth." Eisenhower protested Russia's contention that the Atlantic Treaty Organization, use forces against her as first and foremost supreme commander, was aggressively aimed at the Soviet Union. "I accepted this job because I believed it to be a true peace for peace," Eisenhower told Zhukov. "Personally I have had enough of war." The record reflects Eisenhower's insistence that the Soviet Premier Bulganin, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Laniel could only define the East-West issues, leaving it to their ministers to seek solutions. It is for this task that he leaves late today. The Big Four foreign ministers' session starts at Geneva next Thursday but he is stopping first at Rome for conferences with Italian government officials. He goes Sunday to Paris for a pre-Geneva huddle with NATO and British and French leaders. The summit record put out yesterday includes the directive from the Big Four heads of government to the foreign ministers to take in four key questions: German reunification, European security, disarmament and freer East-West exchange. Eisenhower is shown as seeking to calm Soviet fears of a reunited Germany allied to the West. He said he would give Russia America's "pledged word" that such fears are unfounded. But he warned that a partitioned Germany was a danger to the whole world because it might fall prey again to another Hitler out of a sense of inferiority. Bulganin, the record shows, argued long and hard for an all-European security pact. He stressed a prime Soviet objective, eventually to "have no foreign troops remaining in the territories of European states."

Pilots To Fly During Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — The Air Lines Pilots Assn. announced Thursday that United Air Lines pilots will continue to fly in the event of a threatened strike by the Flight Engineers International Assn. The FEIA has scheduled a strike for 12:01 m. Saturday because of a job security issue dispute with United. Kay McMurray, ALPA executive vice president, said the decision was made in a meeting with ALPA's United Air Lines Pilot's Master Executive Council, which represents United pilots. The key issue of the threatened strike is the present and future policy of United to hire only flight engineers who are qualified pilots. The airline has assured the flight engineers' union that all non-pilot engineers now on United's payroll would have continued job security but said it would hire only qualified pilots in the future. The union has contended the airline "has refused to grant the job security measures which now appear in all but one of the other flight engineer agreements in the industry. United employs 458 flight engineers. McMurray said 376 pilot-engineers, fully qualified and certified as flight engineers, would man all vacancies left by the strike on all flights.

Langlie Lauds State Roads

CHICAGO (UP) — Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington held his state up as an example to the nation yesterday for its highway safety achievements. Langlie described how his state staged an all-out campaign that cut Washington fatalities by 18.6 per cent in 22 months. Despite the progress, the governor said, "we have just begun to fight." Langlie told a banquet audience at the National Safety Congress last night that while Washington was making traffic safety history, the nation as a whole was able to cut traffic deaths by only 3-1/2 per cent. "Had the rate of reduction which Washington experienced been projected on the nation for this 22-month period," the governor said, 12,814 human beings would be living today.

Butler Derides GOP Claims

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Chairman Paul M. Butler of the Democratic National Committee derided Republican claims of "peace and prosperity" Wednesday, addressing a party rally here. "How can the Republicans claim to have restored prosperity when farmers are suffering a 25-billion dollar decline in farm income, when small businesses are suffering on main streets and when 38 per cent of the automobile retailers are losing money?" "When 13 per cent of our population is being pinched by a drop in farm prices, prosperity isn't sound," Butler said. President Eisenhower had promised to balance the budget and declared: "If this administration can't balance the budget in an era of what it claims to be peace and prosperity, we Democrats wonder when, if ever, they can."
