Chamber Directors Hear Highway Exchange Plan

A counter-proposal for the linking of highways 99 and 97 via Lake of the Woods was reported to the directors of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, in regular meeting Wednesday noon in the Winema Hotel, by Director John Howard, in charge of the roads and highways committee. Howard reported that a plan for an exchange of road responsibilities with the state highway department has been drawn up and will be submitted by the Klamath County Board to the highway department in the near future. It was suggested that responsibility for the Lake of the Woods road from the Rocky Point junction to the Jackson County line be assumed by the state. Klamath County, in return, would assume control of the state secondary West Side Highway from the Lake of the Woods junction to the Loozeley Road south of Fort Klamath. The state's proposal asks that the connecting road between highways 99 and 97 be provided for by the two counties. The counties would place their segments of the highways on their local aid secondary system roads and provide up to 60 per cent of the cost of construction (the state would provide the remaining 40 per cent). The counties would also provide rights of way and maintenance. Jackson County Court approved this plan but the plan was rejected by the Klamath County Court. The new Klamath plan was drawn up in an effort to come to an equitable settlement of the state-mate. The Klamath Chamber Roads and Highway Committee met Monday in the chamber offices with representatives of the Jackson County Court and State Representative Al Littrell to discuss the new avenues of approach to the problem. A further meeting with the Jackson County officials is tentatively planned for the near future. Howard said that every effort will be made to get the new road built as it will provide an important link in the east-west highway system of Southern Oregon. In further business the directors heard Carrol Howe, director in charge of the tax committee, report that a study of the tax structure of the county has been completed. This study offers a comparison of the property tax of Klamath County as compared with other Oregon points; comparative millage rates; corporation, income tax comparisons; and a comparison with California property taxes. The directors were read a letter by Manager Frank Tucker inviting all members to the opening of the Silver Lake-Port Rock power line opening October 28. The trial trade bureau of Portland has extended an invitation to all retail merchants of Klamath County to attend the retail trade clinic on labor and related matters to be held in the Multnomah Hotel in Portland on Tuesday, November 15. The service will begin with a professional in which the clergy, members of the different denominational communities will participate, each wearing the vestments in which he celebrates the services of his own communion. Pastor John Recher, Hope Lutheran Church, will lead the service. The Rev. Dwayne Proett, Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church will speak in invocation, and the Rev. Joel Nordland, First Covenant Church, will read the Scripture Lesson. The Rev. Marshall McKinnie, Congregational Church, will conduct the offertory service. The Rev. Dr. Dallas McNeil, First Methodist Church, will give the evening sermon. The benediction will be spoken by the Rev. Dale Hewitt, First Presbyterian Church. Other ministers and churches helping to celebrate the Reformation festival service are the Rev. Galen Onstad, St. Paul's Episcopal Church; the Rev. William Ainley, Mt. Laki Community Church; and the Rev. Edward Lander, Community Church of the Brethren. On October 31, 1957, Martin Luther posted on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany, 95 theses or arguments against indulgences and for a right understanding of repentance. This incident led to the development of the Protestant Reformation; Luther and his fellow-Reformers liberated the church from all laws, practices and ceremonies that prevented the Word of God from being freely preached and heard. This year will celebrate this event, almost 440 years later. Immediately after the service the youth of the Klamath County churches will be feted by the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church. The service is open to the public.

Spotted Alfalfa Aphid Said To Hit Oregon Next Spring

The spotted alfalfa aphid could well become a western crop scourge, according to H. M. Armitage, chief entomologist of the California Agriculture Department. It is the worst insect plague to hit the state since 1888, Armitage says. In a recent interview the agriculturist stated: "It could put alfalfa men out of business unless they are willing to spend the money for its control." Estimated damage to this year's crops has been estimated at $1,200,000 and Armitage predicted damages could run as high as $12,000,000 next year unless some measure of control is found. Such insecticides as Parathion, Malathion and Systox will control the greenish black spotted aphid, but as the cost of such spraying is about $3 per acre and the necessity for spraying each crop of alfalfa cut, the costs become prohibitive. The alfalfa aphid was first found in California in a San Diego backyard in February last year and shortly thereafter was found in commercial plantings in Imperial and Riverside counties. The most recent infestations have been noted in Santa Clara, Placer and Sutter counties. Armitage says the pest moves by its own flight and is hastened along by the wind. He predicts that it will be in Oregon by spring. As for eventual victory over the pest, several natural parasitic enemies of the aphid have been imported from Spain, Italy and Egypt, and their success is the main hope for complete control. It is believed the aphid came into the United States from Mexico. It was discovered in New Mexico and California before it was found in California.

Evidence Lack Releases Men

Two defendants and two material witnesses involved in an alleged hobo jungle strong-arm robbery involving $7 in cash, were ordered released from the county jail Thursday by District Judge D. E. Van Vactor. The judge said there was not sufficient evidence produced at a preliminary hearing Wednesday to show that a crime had been committed. Charged with the alleged robbery which climaxed a wine party in a hobo camp, three miles south of Klamath Falls, were Thomas F. Griffith, 40, and Antonio Salas, 40, both transient farm workers. The two men were arrested on complaint of James Moon, 29-year-old laborer. Held as a material witness in connection with the case was Clarence Waldrop, 51-year-old Portland laborer. The defendants denied taking Moon's money and said they had considered him an "old pal." (Earlier story on Page 38.)

UEW Deadlock Talks Continue

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp., its third-quarter sales and earnings hurt by work stoppages at its plants, today renewed efforts to end strikes by two big production workers' unions. Determined stands by both unions and the company appeared to offer little hope of early settlement, however. Westinghouse stated negotiations today with the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, and tentatively arranged a meeting with representatives of the independent United Electrical Workers tomorrow. The CIO-UIE has been on strike since Oct. 16. It is demanding a 15-cent hourly pay boost, limitations on company time studies, and a one-year contract. The Independent United Electrical Workers ended out the remainder of its members yesterday. Some 7,500 UE members have been on strike in suburban Philadelphia and Jersey City, N.J., since Oct. 14, making demands similar to those of the CIO-UIE. The CIO-UIE has 44,000 members. The UEW claims 17,000 but Westinghouse says its figure is closer to 10,500. The strike also has tided an added 10,000 supervisory employes.
