Police Give Detector Tests To Two Chicago Suspects

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two Chicago men who were arrested in an abandoned Wisconsin farm house underwent lie tests today to see if they know anything about the slaying of three young boys.

The results were inconclusive. It was reported, and police planned to put Charles Driscoll, 19, and Ed Kline, 30, before the lie detector again later today.

The two men were brought 400 miles from Ladysmith, Wis., late Tuesday night. They were immediately hustled into the special headquarters which have been set up to track down the sadistic murderers of Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11.

Both men had already denied any connection with the killings on Chicago's northwest side Oct. 16. But police said they had given contradictory answers during prolonged questioning at Ladysmith and ordered the lie tests to check the truth of their stories.

Kline, who quoted Biblical verses to the policemen, was reported as telling one officer that he saw the murdered boys on a Chicago street on the night they vanished.

But he later reversed himself, telling officers at one point that he had spent the evening watching television and saying later that he had seen roller skating with Driscoll on the fatal night.

The men, both unshaven and wearing blue jeans, protested that they had never entered Robinson's Woods, where the murdered boys' nude bodies were found dumped in a ditch Oct. 18.

However, police said they had been informed that Driscoll and Kline frequented riding stables near the woods.

Kline's maroon car also assumed top importance in the investigation. The parents of the Schuessler boys said they had seen a maroon car cruising slowly past their home on the day before the murder. And police found a length of clothesline with stains which might be blood, a blood-stained handkerchief jammed in the sun visor, and other possible clues in the auto.

Kline, who appeared "disturbed" under questioning, explained that he had used the handkerchief to staunch blood from a cut on his head several months ago.

Kline and Driscoll were picked up Monday night in a sparsely furnished, abandoned farm home

World Day Theme Set

The World Community Day, sponsored by the Klamath Falls Council of Church Women, will be held Friday, November 4 at the First Presbyterian Church, Klamath Falls. The session will open at 2 p.m.

Purpose of the world-wide service is to emphasize the need for clothing, food and money to assist helpless victims of war and revolution who can never be self-supporting, to encourage self-respect in youth fleeing from behind the iron curtain as they seek work, and to help families locating in new and strange communities.

Theme of the session this year is "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread."

Denim yardage and sheeting to be used by refugee mothers to make into work clothes is needed.

Children are asked to take outgrown clothing. Money is needed to send food in support of the church world service program of "Share Our Surplus."

Particularly, Arab refugees need food, clothing and medicine. In French West Africa, according to local church information, large numbers of persons must be fed on an emergency basis. In Japan money is needed to train teachers to help disabled men and women to learn to earn a living.

"Parcels For Peace" will be sent to Church World Service, 1010 Ninth Street, Modesto, California, and should be marked, "World Community Day Project."

Mrs. A. M. Collier, chairman for this year's World Community Day, says the present need is great.
