

Western Pump Shows Fossils

SILVER LAKE — The minutes book of the old Silver Lake Irrigation District, which went bankrupt about 1925, served as a register for several hundred people attending the power celebration here last Friday.

Reminders of early days were displayed at Western Pump Company headquarters for the reception. Moments included a mule load, owned by Everett Emery, which was carried by G. C. Duncan, a pioneer in Silver Lake Valley.

R. A. Long, assisting with the display, stated that Durmen was head of his time in realizing the value of preserving fossils, relics and arrowheads.

Spanish type riding equipment:

belonging to Bo Carlton included a raw side rattle, a hair McCarty, braided hackamore and a spade bit bridle.

Long's mountain sheep head, arrowheads and collection of branding irons, Emery's cradle and saddle and Ben Crowley's hand-made buggy harness and mounted pair of Texas long horns added to the impressive array.

Pictures of present day farming operations at Century Ranch were also a part of the exhibit of which F. A. Gruber was chairman.

Senate Farm Hearings Open In New Mexico Tomorrow

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press Staff Correspondent
FRESNO, Calif. (UP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee, headed by Chairman Allen J. Ellender, inspected cattle grazing land and farms in the fertile San Joaquin Valley today after gathering more testimony on farm problems that may explode politically in the 1956 elections.

The Louisiana Democrat, temporarily deserted by his committee members, stayed overnight at Yosemite Valley in the Sierras before visiting the U.S. Range Experiment Station north of Fresno and touring several farms. The committee resumes nationwide grass roots hearings tomorrow in Albuquerque, N.M.

In the seventh hearing yesterday producers of highly-diversified crops in California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona suggested stop-gaps for falling farm prices ranging from 100 per cent of parity to more favorable weather. The testimony centered around a bread basket full of crops that included cotton, milk, poultry, lima beans, sugar beets, rice, tomatoes, cattle, fruits, figs, raisins, sheep, honey and wheat.

government pay the difference if prices drop below parity.

"Isn't that the Brannan Plan?" asked Ellender.

Schlimeyer agreed that "Perhaps it was," and added that "sooner or later the people are going to have to come to it."

After the Albuquerque hearing the committee convenes in Dallas,

Tex. Saturday for its ninth session. Ellender is hopeful the farmer comment will be helpful to Congress next year in drafting a new farm price support bill.
