

OTI Faculty Wives Swap Fun For Funds In Scholarship "Socials"

A pleasant, painless and practical fund-raising plan is now in operation as an Oregon Technical Institute Faculty Wives project to finance OTI student scholarships.

The plan was evolved at a Faculty Wives meeting, when the women agreed to continue their financial assistance to deserving OTI students who otherwise might be unable to complete courses started at the school.

"Entertainment" was the key word to the basic idea—and Mrs. A. E. Smith was one of the first to translate it into action. She entertained friends at a morning coffee—and each guest, after a pleasant interlude of informal visiting, was happy to leave a small contribution to "The Fund." Besides, each guest could objectively think of herself as a future hostess in the Scholarship Series.

Mrs. Jack Douglas entertained her group of "givers" with a card party. She was hostess to three tables—and players had a choice of bridge or canasta.

Mrs. Harold Pedersen was luncheon hostess to co-members of a (not scholarship) committee—and all were enthusiastic supporters of the "pleasure-to-pay" program of social gatherings.

Mrs. Wallace Uerlings, at another morning coffee, was happy to make a generous contribution to the scholarship fund after greeting a number of friends and chatting over a leisurely "cup or two."

Mrs. Carl Stolpe was another of the gracious hostesses. She invited friends to share an afternoon cup of coffee—and at similar "socials"—the combined efforts of hostesses and friends should swell the fund for some scholastically qualifying and deserving boy or girl who needs a financial crutch to continue as a student on the "Mile High" campus. If you want to find out what you can do to help, call 2-0437—and refer to this item.

Back of Mrs. Watkins, is Cindy's mother, Mrs. John Keane, Springfield, Oregon; and next to Mrs. Keane, is her mother, Mrs. George Williams, 4304 Altamont Drive, where Mrs. Watkins stayed during her visit.

Atlanta Rebekah Lodge Fellowship-Bazaar Night

WEED — The Fellowship-Bazaar Night sponsored by Atlanta Rebekah Lodge October 26, was attended by a large group of Rebekah members.

Mrs. Harry Hedgepeth presided at the brief pre-bazaar business session in the absence of noble grand, Mrs. C. Flook.

Highlight of the evening's festi-ties was "The Family Album," a skit produced with a cast of lodge members. Mrs. Gladys Washington, Mrs. Ethel Spence, Mrs. James Kirk, Mrs. Mildred Wilmarth, Mrs. Zack Perry, Mrs. Robert Porter, Mrs. Leslie Boydston and Mrs. Ray Bullis. Background piano music was played by Mrs. William Davis.

Games provided added entertainment for the evening. The special and door prizes were won by Mrs. Myrtle Williams and Mrs. Mildred Wilmarth, respectively.

Booth chairmen for the bazaar were Mrs. Bullis, fancy work; Mrs. Robert Tonkin, potted plants; Mrs. Les Kyle, fish pond; and Mrs. Wilmarth, food sale.

Mrs. Washington and Mrs. Spence were co-chairmen of the entertainment committee — and refreshment committee for the event were Mrs. Boydston, Mrs. J. H. McMichael, Mrs. Hedgepeth and Mrs. Sig Merrick.
