

REJECT IKE'S ARM PLAN

Two bulletins from Geneva:

1. Russia has proposed that the major powers immediately renounce the use of atomic weapons as an initial step toward working out world disarmament.

2. Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov has rejected President Eisenhower's proposal for American-Soviet mutual aerial inspection of military installations, munitions plants, etc.)

That is to say:

Russia is aware that we have atomic superiority — wants to do away with atomic weapons as the first step toward world disarmament.

Then —

She refuses to permit us to FLY OVER RUSSIA TO SEE WHETHER OR NOT SHE IS DISARMING.

That, I'd say, is what is commonly referred to as "playing both ends against the middle."

So much for world affairs. Let's turn now to politics.

Here are two bulletins:

1. Democratic Representative Michael Kirwan of Ohio says the results of Tuesday's off-year election indicate that the Democratic party will boost its house majority by more than 30 seats.

2. Republican Representative Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, after reading the results of Tuesday's election, says the GOP will pick up 32 seats in next year's general election, enabling it to regain control of the house of representatives.

It's a difference of opinion that makes horse races.

Another bulletin:

A former White House physician, Dr. Ross McIntire, describes as "unseemly" what he terms "efforts by politicians to shove President Eisenhower into a decision on whether to run again."

He adds:

"I'm sure he has been getting the best of advice from his doctors, and when the time comes for him to decide he will make up his own mind on the matter."

Dr. McIntire was for 12 years personal physician to the late President Roosevelt.

Assuming that GOP politicians are trying to "shove President Eisenhower into a decision to run again," even if it kills him, why are they doing so?

The answer is simple.

They want to ride back into office on Ike's coattails.

Does that mean that Republican politicians are inherently conscienceless and will stop at nothing, whereas Democratic politicians are pure and blameless and can do no wrong?

Nope!

If Ike were a Democrat, the Democratic politicians would be crowding him just as hard to run again so that they could ride into office on his coattails.

Politicians are politicians.

Four Fliers Escape From Pacific Ocean

HONOLULU (AP) — Four of five airmen who bailed out of their stricken Flying Boxcar Wednesday night with only forlorn hope of rescue in the stormy Pacific were picked up late in the night and early Thursday by a Navy tender.

The seaplane tender Floyds Bay brought off the "miraculous" rescue after racing 75 miles through rain, wind and 10-foot swells to the scene 650 miles east of Honolulu.

There in the darkness Wednesday night the tender spotted the tiny flashlights hooked to the lifebelts of Kenneth E. Whitney, navigator, and Airman I.C. Harry W. Brinegar, flight engineer.

That was between the hours of 11 and 11:30 p.m. All through the night the Floyds Bay plowed the tossing seas.

BOBBING

Then at about 6 a.m. Thursday, the Navy reported, lookouts on the tender saw Lt. D. O. Nelson, the pilot, bobbing in the Pacific. The weather was moderating.

Shortly thereafter, the tender came upon Lt. D. M. Hibbard, the co-pilot.

Nelson is from Alexandria, Minn.; Hibbard from Pasadena, Calif.; Brinegar from Carleton, Neb., and Whitney from Broderick, Calif.

The hunt went on by sea and seaplane for the fifth man, Airman 2.C. Jerry C. Gaywood, radio operator.

An Air Force spokesman described the rescue as "a miracle."

The stricken plane was one of two which left McClellan Air Force base at Sacramento, Calif., Wednesday, for Hickam Air Force Base, Honolulu. They were on a ferrying flight to Japan from the 170th Ferrying Wing, based at Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

The first plane was about 40 minutes ahead when it received this electrifying message at 6:30 p.m., as darkness was beginning to settle over the Pacific.

"Unable to feather (propeller) and will have to bail out."

The propeller was running wild and could not be controlled. The lead plane turned around as the alarm was flashed to planes and ships at sea.

It reached its companion plane as it was heading down and escorted it until it was lost in the cloud banks.

"Tell the Air Force people to come and get me in the morning," Nelson said calmly over the intercom as his doomed sky giant slipped into the clouds.

PLANES SET OUT

Two long-range Coast Guard Privateers, an Air Force B29 Superfort, and a Navy amphibian left Hawaii almost immediately.

The Floyds Bay turned toward the scene. The aircraft carrier Kearsarge also swung around on its course and headed for the rescue, but it was more than 800 miles away.

A Pan American Airways plane joined the search with the companion Flying Boxcar.

Darkness had settled over the Pacific when the Floyds Bay arrived.

Almost simultaneously the Pan American plane, the B29 and the seaplane tender saw the tiny lights bobbing in the water.

The flashlights, about the size of a cigarette case, are attached to the belts for just such an emergency.

FBI Continues Plane Probe

DENVER (AP) — The Denver FBI office lowered a curtain of secrecy Thursday on its investigation of a United Air Lines crash near Longmont, Colo., Nov. 1, in which 44 were killed.

Webb W. Burke, Denver agent-in-charge, said any further announcements must come from FBI headquarters in Washington.

FBI and Civil Aeronautics Board investigators have said the possibility that the plane was sabotaged is under close study.

Two shipments of clothing and other objects found at the scene of the crash have been sent to the FBI laboratory at Washington. In a warehouse north of Denver's Stapleton Airfield, where the plane took off 11 minutes before it exploded in the air, government experts and airline technicians have been reconstructing the craft from bits of wreckage picked up from a three-square-mile area.

More Polio Hits Oregon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three new polio cases were reported in Eastern Oregon Thursday — one in the epidemic city of Nyssa and two at Umatilla.

Those at Umatilla brought the total in Umatilla County to six in the past two weeks.

The new case at Nyssa was the fifth there since last week Thursday.

It was a 33-year-old Nyssa woman who was the latest stricken. She had not received gamma globulin at the recent clinic operated there to combat the outbreak which now has reached a total of 42 cases in Malheur County this year — 22 of them in Nyssa.

There have also been three new cases reported at Payette, Idaho, across the river from Malheur County, this week and officials there expressed fear the epidemic might be swinging that way.

Idaho state health officials had joined with Oregon officials in the Nyssa gamma globulin immunization clinic, and Wednesday Dr. S. B. Osgood, Oregon state epidemiologist, said supplies of gamma globulin had been left with physicians for further use among those who had passed up the clinics.

At Pendleton, Dr. E. E. Berg, Umatilla County health officer, said gamma globulin was available from physicians in that area, too. He said that county had only three cases this year up until two weeks ago. The cases since then have been three at Umatilla, two in Pendleton and one in Milton-Freewater.

Reds Score Top Architects

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has cracked down on four of its top architects, including Alexander V. Vlasov, who now is completing an inspection tour of home building techniques in the United States.

The government says the nation's builders have been wasting money on ornate decoration and skyscrapers and disregarding the needs of the people for housing.

Vlasov, who is president of the Academy of Architects of the Soviet Union, was stripped of his government decorations and dismissed as chief architect of Moscow. The same action was taken against D. N. Chechulin.

Announcing the dismissals Wednesday night, a government statement said two other nationally known architects, Polykov and Boretzky, were deprived of their Stalin prize laureates.

A spokesman for the Academy of Architects said Vlasov was still president of the organization.

Vlasov was in New York with the other members of the 10-man Russian housing delegation when news of the dismissal was received.

A GOOD-SIZED BUNDLE of money changed hands Thursday when the Southern Pacific Company, Klamath County's largest taxpayer, turned over a check for $472,283.98 to Sheriff Murray Britton, who is also the county tax collector. This amount covered the Southern Pacific's property tax for 1955. Pictured when the payment was made are (left to right) Tom McCarry, district freight and passenger agent; Esther Newell, chief tax deputy; Sheriff Britton; Richard M. Thompson, Southern Pacific tax department official, and W. S. McBride, local freight agent. Throughout Oregon, the Southern Pacific's gross property tax is $2,445,332.

Marjorie Smith Agrees To Test

PORTLAND (AP) — Mrs. Marjorie Smith, subpoenaed to testify against Victor Laurance Wolf in the hearing on his confession of slaying her husband, said Wednesday she would take a lie detector test if it would aid the prosecution.

Wolf, 45-year-old handyman, testified at Mrs. Smith's sister-in-law, Mrs. Ellen Hightower, of Los Gatos, Calif., who has filed a petition asking that she be appointed the child's legal guardian on ground that Mrs. Smith is not a fit mother.

Mrs. Smith said she will be in San Jose for the hearing which has been scheduled for Nov. 30.

East-West Bid Sent KU Band

The Klamath Union High School band has received an invitation to perform at the Shrine East-West game in San Francisco, December 31. The invitation came from Seth Butler, director of the pageant, announced Andrew Loney, director of music education in the city schools.

The bid came as an aftermath of the outstanding performance the band presented at the half-time activities at the Shrine game last year, their first participation in the event.

The board of education of District 2, in special meeting Monday, granted their permission for the band to make the trip.

The trip will be contingent upon receiving permission from the Oregon State Activities Association.

This group coordinates all music, debate and athletic activities among the high schools of the state. The association has yet to act on the KUHS request.

Loney said the band will accept voluntary contributions for funds needed for the trip, as they did last year.

The band has set a tentative date of December 16 for a benefit concert in Klamath Union High School. No tickets are to be sold but voluntary contributions may be made at that time.

The KUHS band is under the direction of LanMar Jensen and Steve Stone.

Walkouts Fret United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Faced with boycotts by two member nations, U. N. diplomats expressed grave concern Thursday over what effect the action may have on the future of the world body.

France and South Africa are both shunning the assembly over issues brought up by the Arab-Asian bloc. Delegates wondered whether further moves to isolate a certain bloc might prompt some member to quit the U. N. altogether.

Both France and South Africa walked out in protest over what they claimed was U. N. interference in their internal affairs. Both accused the U. N. of ignoring repeated warnings that they would not tolerate further intervention.

South Africa's walkout, over the special political committee's decision to probe into her racial segregation policies, came amid behind-the-scenes moves to force the stormy Algerian independence item which sparked France's boycott.

The South African action places two key U. N. committees in a dilemma. The special political committee has on its agenda another explosive item affecting the union government. It is slated to turn soon to the problem of the treatment of Indians in South Africa. The Union of South Africa has offered to discuss the issue with India and Pakistan, but it refuses to have the talks under the aegis of the U. N.

Wednesday's walkout also brought quick adjournment of the trusteeship committee to consider what to do about its debate on another item—South Africa's refusal to report to the U. N. on the territory of Southwest Africa.

Coast Records Earthquakes

BERKELEY (AP) — A slight earthquake, considered an afterglow of the tremble of Oct. 30, was registered on the University of California seismograph at 10:02:30 a.m. PST today.

Seismologist Barbara Amberson said the epicenter was 30 miles from Berkeley and the shock had a Richter magnitude of 3.

The quake was felt in Berkeley, Concord and Martinez, but there was no reports of damage.

Molotov Urges Ban On Atomic Weapons

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov Thursday rejected President Eisenhower's proposal for American-Soviet aerial arms inspection in offering to the foreign ministers' conference a global disarmament program.

While praising Eisenhower's "good intentions," Molotov told the Big Four conference Russia's attitude toward the proposal is "negative" but would not necessarily be so "under all conditions."

He then, in effect, stated conditions which the United States, Britain and France have previously objected to.

Russia could approach the Eisenhower plan directly, Molotov said, "if measures under it were to be taken in close relation to the task of reducing arms and prohibiting atomic weapons."

MOLOTOV DEMANDS

Molotov demanded again that the Big Four immediately renounce the use of atomic weapons as the first step to disarmament and invite other states to join in the declaration. But his speech struck at the heart of the proposition which Eisenhower made to the summit conference here in July.

Secretary of State Dulles told the conference following Molotov's statement that the purpose of Eisenhower's plan was to take a practical step toward disarmament by creating a condition of confidence and by making impossible "an effective surprise attack with overwhelming force."

Dulles said his impression of Molotov's position is that "the Soviet Union does not accept President Eisenhower's proposal as an initial step but does accept the concept as a possible subsequent step."

He ridiculed Molotov's attack on the plan following the Russian's comment about the President's "good intentions."

Dulles said the urgent need now in the continuing work on disarmament in a United Nations subcommittee where all the Big Four are represented is for studies by each government of the technical problems of setting up a control system. There is no system now in existence, he declared, "which guarantees that nuclear weapons can be eliminated."

Court Stand On Road Bid Reaffirmed

The Klamath County Court reaffirmed its rejection of the Oregon State Highway Commission's plan for a connecting highway between Klamath Falls and Medford via Lake of the Woods at their meeting Wednesday with members of the Jackson County Court here.

The Klamath officials said that Klamath County would accept a plan for the state to build the five miles of the highway in Klamath County with the county supplying only the right of way and maintenance.

The state has asked the county to provide the right of way, maintenance and 80 per cent of the building costs out of their federal aid secondary road funds.

ACCEPTANCE

The Jackson County officials urged Klamath County's acceptance of the state's plan and indicated they would accept the plan and allocate their federal aid secondary road funds to the project for the next eight years.

The Jackson commissioners also indicated that their county would probably go ahead with the road building plan regardless of the stand of Klamath County according to information from Klamath County Court officials.

The state highway commission advised Jackson County Commissioner Chester A. Wendt last Friday to contact Klamath County on the proposed road and to act on the plan at that time.

COUNTER-PLAN

The state has yet to act on a counter-proposal sent it by Klamath County in which the county would take over responsibility for the state secondary road from Rocky Point Junction north to Loosely Road near Fort Klamath. The state, in return, would take over the Lake of Woods highway to the Jackson County line.

The delegates from Jackson County included Paul Rynning, county engineer, and commissioners Chester A. Wendt and L. G. Northlund. Klamath County was represented by County Judge U. E. Reeder and commissioners Jerry Rajnus and Ed Gowen.

Red Chinese Offer Scored

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson told Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan here Thursday that a Red offer to renounce force would not be satisfactory to the United States unless it specifically applied to Formosa and other Nationalist-held islands.

Johnson, it was reliably reported, delivered the American reply to the Chinese offer during the ambassadors' 25th meeting. At the end of their two-hour meeting, the ambassadors announced only they had agreed to meet again Nov. 17.

Wang last week told Johnson that Red China was ready to accept the non-aggression obligations of the United Nations Charter without demanding simultaneous recognition as a U.N. member.

This offer left Formosa unprotected. The U.N. Charter calls for peaceful settlement of "international" disputes. Red China considers Formosa Chinese territory, not an international matter.

Siskiyou Judge Plans Ruling

YREKA (AP) — Siskiyou Superior Judge James Allen says he will decide today whether to dismiss a manslaughter indictment against Edward Arthur Forshaw, well-known Yreka, B.C., race horse owner.

Defense attorney J. P. Correia argued yesterday that the indictment should be dismissed because the original Grand Jury indictment failed to show negligence on the part of Forshaw in the traffic accident which claimed the life of William Gordon Green, also of Vancouver, last Sept. 21.

Green was killed instantly when Forshaw's car and that of John Richard Savage, 46, of Montague, Calif., collided on U.S. 99 north of here. Green, a trainer, was a passenger in Forshaw's car.

Heat, Smog Cover SF

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Franciscans generally look down on the residents of Los Angeles, but today they were doing it with red-rimmed, smog-filled eyes.

San Francisco, famed for clean fog and air-conditioned weather, headed into its fourth day of a heat wave and its second of smog.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, joined by all the east-coast and midwesters who call the city by the Golden Gate name, insists that the "air-conditioning" of the Pacific breezes keep the Bay Area cool and smogless.

But for the second straight day citizens were coughing, wheezing and tazing at each other in red-eyed amazement.

It did no good to call the Health Department where smog readings are taken. This unpracticed air-pollution agency could only gush that it "looks to me like it's worse than yesterday."

Meanwhile at Los Angeles, smog red conditions were forecast today for the Los Angeles Basin due to a low inversion and weak, shifting winds. The Air Pollution Control District reported heavy to moderate eye irritation in most areas,

Dorothy Warren To Wed Teacher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren, whose youngest daughter eloped last week, announced today the engagement of their second daughter.

The formal announcement, given out to reporters at the Supreme Court, said Dorothy Warren, 24, will marry D. Carmite de Clemente, 27, a teacher at the University of California Medical School at Los Angeles.

The Warrens' youngest daughter, Nina—Honore Bear—was married last week to Dr. Stuart Brien in a surprise ceremony at Las Vegas, Nev.

The Warrens have a third daughter, Virginia, the oldest at 27. She lives here with her parents.

Dorothy will marry Dr. Clemente in California during the Christmas holidays. The Chief Justice and Mrs. Warren said they would attend the wedding.

The Warrens also have three sons, two of whom are married and live in California.

Fault Cleared Of Tremor

BERKELEY (AP) — The Hayward fault was absolved today of blame for the earthquake last Oct. 23 which caused a million dollars damage in the San Francisco bay area.

Dr. Perry Byerly, director of the University of California seismographic station, said the epicenter of the quake was in one of several small faults a few miles north of Cowell in Contra Costa County.

Seismologists at first believed that the shock was caused by slipping of great chunks of rock in the Hayward fault which skirts the east side of San Francisco bay.

However, late-arriving photographic seismograms from UC's 11 stations in Northern California, Nevada and Oregon "zeroed in" the quake on the little known Cowell faults, Byerly said.

He said the faults near Cowell do not cleave the surface. As far as is known, he said, they have not been responsible for major quakes in the past. Cowell is just six miles northeast of Walnut Creek, hardest hit by the recent quake.

Cobo Re-elected Motel President

ROSEBURG (AP) — Keith Cobo of Klamath Falls has been reelected president of the Oregon Motor Court Assn.

Other officers elected Wednesday at the close of the organization's three-day meeting here are: William Metcalf, Seaside, first vice president; V. F. Buttervich, Portland, second vice president; William Schabert, Gilchrist, third vice president; James Clark, Portland, treasurer.

Some 150 attended the convention.

Log Hauling

The Klamath Falls office of the Oregon State Police reported at press time today that logging operators will be allowed to haul logs on the state's highways Friday, November 11, Veterans Day.

The haulers had been advised previously that the highways would be closed to log hauling on this day.
