

PCC Grid Frays Face Weather Problems

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weatherman served notice Friday he'll be a figure to reckon with the length of the Pacific Coast in Saturday's traditional final to the 1955 football season. Rain was forecast in the South, where UCLA clashes with Southern California in its battle for the Rose Bowl and rain began to replace snow at Eugene where Oregon State puts its outside chance for a Pasadena appearance on the line against arch-rival Oregon.

The in-between contests—geographically and statistically—are supposedly in for the same type of treatment. Cold and snow were due for the Washington-Washington State and Idaho-Montana games and rain for the Stanford-California tilt.

A national television audience, plus 100,000 Los Angeles Coliseum fans, will get a chance to see how UCLA's fifth-ranked Bruins and the thrice-beaten Trojans respond to soggy going. Both teams depend primarily on running games, USC because it has had no passer all season and UCLA because it lost Ronnie Knox with a broken ankle bone last Saturday.

Tennessee Has Hopes Of Victory

ATLANTA (UP)—Under Coach Bowden Wyatt, Tennessee's vastly improved football team is reviving pleasant memories among its supporters of 16 years of domination over arch-rival Kentucky.

Kentucky fans figured that their frustration had ended when Gen. Robert Neyland stepped down as the Volunteers' head coach after the 1932 season.

The reasoning seemed sound as Kentucky beat Tennessee in 1953 for the first win over its biggest rival since 1935. It looked even sounder as the Wildcats made it two in a row, 14-13, last year. At the start of the current season it appeared that the Wildcats would make it three in a row. Tennessee was expected to finish near the cellar and Kentucky was a darkhorse title threat after a 7-3 record in 1954.

However, Wyatt, a former Neyland student serving his first year at Tennessee, is going all out to make the Vols a team of Neyland's standard.

After losing their first two games to Mississippi State and Duke, the Vols found themselves. Since then they have not been beaten in six games. They tied highly-favored Georgia Tech 7-7.

Wyatt, who came back to his alma mater from Arkansas, stuck with this single-wing formation that Neyland made famous at Tennessee and fielded a team well grounded in the fundamentals of blocking and tackling.

The Vols, sparked by tailback Johnny Majors, who can do it all—pass, run and kick—with the best in the South, racked up 161 points in their last six games, while a stubborn defense gave up only 21 points.

Tennessee has won the favorite's spot, but Kentucky is not ready to give up by a long shot. Wildcats fans will be looking for quarterback Bob Hardy to find a soft spot in the Vol defenses with his sharp passes.

In the only other Southeastern Conference battle this week, the surprising Vanderbilt Commodores take on Florida. In intercollegiate games, Louisiana State plays Arkansas, Alabama meets Miami, and Auburn tries a tough Clemson team.

Georgia Tech, Georgia, Mississippi, Mississippi State and Tulane are all taking the weekend off in order to prepare for season-ending intrastate rivalries Nov. 26.

Wet Fields Await Prep Grid Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet and slow fields—but free of snow—are expected in the semi-final games in the high school football playoffs Friday night.

There are four games scheduled Friday night—all in Western Oregon, where temperatures rose sharply late Thursday. Three more games are coming up Saturday, two of them east of the Cascades, where the mercury did not rise as much.

Such a situation would give Oregon State the PCC crown on a 6-1 record, against UCLA's 5-1. But conference rules specify that in Rose Bowl voting "The team which receives a majority of the nine votes cast is the representative, regardless of the number or nature of its wins or losses during the season."

That could mean—probably would—that UCLA would get the bowl bid on the strength of its 38-0 win over the Beavers Oct. 8.

Oregon State's single wing, plus season-long alert play, ranks the Beavers one-touchdown favorites over the Ducks. Any breaks occasioned by slippery going on the field could work to the advantage of OSC, which has made a practice of seldom letting a misplay go to waste.

Coach Chuck Taylor's Stanford Indians, the conference's top offensive club, were favored by 20 points over California regardless of weather even though they haven't won the "big one" in nine years. The expected victory would square the long series at 24 each, with 10 ties.

Washington, barring a letdown after last week's sterling go against UCLA, should have no trouble with WSC which has won only once all year, and Idaho off its showing against Brigham Young a week ago should skid to a win over Montana.

Chicago Syndicate Bidding For Seals

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The agreement with a Major League club and the whole purpose, if we took over, would be to build a contending club. We'd be prepared to lose money, but our plans would call for that kind of an operation. San Francisco is too good a sports city."

The Chronicle said attorney Art Morse, who is representing the four "independently wealthy men," expressed surprise when asked about the negotiations for the ailing Pacific Coast League club.

"We didn't want to make a fanfare about it," Morse was quoted. "These people wanted a complete research."

"I know we can get a working

MANAGER

Meanwhile, the Chronicle said it had heard a report that Leslie O'Connor, legal adviser to the Pacific Coast League, was on his way from Chicago to San Francisco to take over as league president.

The man who is now PCL president, Claire Goodwin, has submitted an "open end" resignation to the league.

Goodwin said yesterday he would like to head a group to take over the Seals and restore Lefty O'Doul as manager.

Goodwin said yesterday he was anxious to form a group which would run the debt-ridden Seals on a non-profit basis similar to the "Boys Incorporated" race track organization headed by Texas oilman Clint Murchison.

"The profits, made by having a winning ball team, would go toward building up boys clubs and recreation centers in the San Francisco area," Goodwin said.

REFUSED

He refused to say whom he was seeking to go into the project with him.

"I think O'Doul would be a marvelous acquisition," Goodwin said. "And as matters now stand, my interest in the Seals supercedes that of staying on as Coast League president."

Directors of the PCL are scheduled to act on his resignation on Nov. 28.

O'Doul's status is also a question mark. He was fired as manager of the Seals in 1951 by Paul Fagan after running the club 17 years.

O'Doul managed Oakland to a seventh-place finish this year in the PCL and there is some doubt whether he will stay with the club, which has been transferred to Vancouver.

Red Murf, who will get a chance with the Milwaukee Braves next spring, has won 115 minor league games as against 70 defeats while pitching six years in the minor leagues.

Johnny Saxton of Newark, N.J., was knocked out but once in his first 54 bouts. He was stopped last April 1 by Tony DeMarco in the 14th round, thereby losing his welterweight title.

The Saturday afternoon games will send Washington of Portland to Marshfield at Coos Bay in a class A-1 semi-final and Union travels to Malin in a class B semi-final.

The other Saturday afternoon game will determine the six-man championship. It will send Glide against Culver at Madras. The same teams met in the finals last year. Glide won that one.
