Ottoman-Nicholson Vows Said In 3 p.m. Candlelight Service At KF Methodist Church on 5th

Two sunburst bouquets of all-white gladioli, Peter John and pompon chrysanthemums flanked a 14 candle pyramid of lighted white tapers before a three-cluster arrangement of woodwardia fern in the Klamath Falls Methodist Church November 5, for the wedding of Patricia Ann Nicholson and Norman Ruben Ottoman.

The center aisle was marked with bouquets of Peter John chrysanthemums tied with white satin ribbon on alternate pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Theodore R. Nicholson, Fort Klamath and Ashland, and the late Theodore R. Nicholson. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ottoman, Malin, where the family has been since the early 1900s.

Patricia, escorted by her brother, Elmore E. Nicholson, who gave her in marriage, wore the same wedding dress that her sister and matron of honor, Mrs. Carol C. Pittman, had worn at her own wedding.

The gown of nylon tulle was designed with a tulle round necked yoke with an off the shoulder effect—with fine tulle pleating outlining the long sleeved bodice of all-over embroidered tulle. The same pleating was repeated at the hipline and edged the yards of gathered tulle in the full skirt over tulle which flowed into a cathedral train.

She carried an all-white cascade bouquet of lacy spider chrysanthemums centered with a large white orchid corsage. The "new" worn by the bride was her fingertip tulle veil which was held in place by a disc headpiece of circular layers of tiny pleated tulle ruffles—trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearls on the crown and side clips. She carried a hanky her mother has owned since her childhood; there was a lucky coin in her shoe—and she wore the traditional blue garter.

Mrs. Pittman, honor attendant for her sister, and the three bridesmaids, Marie Nicholson, cousin, Ashland; Mrs. Gillis Hannigan, childhood friend and sorority sister of Pat's, Pendleton; and Patricia Newland, college friend, Medford, were identically gowned in ballerina gowns of caramel tulle made with bouffant skirts and fitted bodices. The low necklines were threaded with copper velvet. They wore matching headbands with brief veils.

The matron of honor carried a bronze spider and pompon chrysanthemum cascade bouquet centered with a cluster of tallman roses—and the other three attendants carried similar arrangements without the roses.

Ridge Lee Pittman, bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

Wayne Rick served as best man; and ushering were Ronald McVay, Kenneth Hershfield and George Rajnus, all of Malin.

Mrs. Lorne Simons, organist, accompanied Mrs. Martel Peters, soloist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Nicholson wore a most becoming slate blue peau re sole princess style afternoon dress with bracelet sleeves and a low vee neckline. Her hat of mauve pink textured plush was in pleasant harmony with the slate blue dress. Her corsage was two pink cymbidiums.

The reception was in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Lloyd Nicholson, aunt of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake; Mrs. John Pe-

LT. AND MRS. HOWARD P. EGGER will be at home in Fort Lewis until December 1, when Lt. Egger will be discharged from Army duty, which included a period of overseas duty in the Far East.

Mrs. Egger is the former Roila Lee Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Sutherland, Medford. They visited with her parents before going to Fort Lewis.

They were married in San Rafael, and honeymooned at Carmel and Monterey.

She was graduated from Medford High School, attended SOC and was recently graduated from Samuel Merriott School of Nursing, Oakland, California. He also attended Southern Oregon College after graduation from Grants Pass High School. He is the grandson of Mrs. H. E. Peltz, San Francisco; and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peltz, 303 South Eighth Street.

erson, also bride's aunt; and Mrs. Cecil Jackson, bridegroom's aunt from Malin, poured; at the punch bowl was Mrs. Stewart Nicholson, aunt of the bride; and Sara Hart registered the guests.

The new Mrs. Ottoman, a graduate of Ashland High School, attended Oregon State College, where she was affiliated with Chi Omega. Norman is a graduate of Malin High School and Oregon State College, where he was a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

They honeymooned in San Francisco and the Bay Area. For travel Patricia wore a charcoal brown suit and the contrasting white orchid from her wedding bouquet. The couple is now at home in Malin.

From out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John Carson, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Ventura; Mrs. John Peterson, Carlton, Oregon; Earl E. Anderson, bride's uncle, Ellensburg;

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Houston, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mrs. Theodore Quackenbush, bride's cousin; and Sara Hart, all from Medford; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hunsaker, Prineville; and Mr. and Mrs. Strayer Pittman, Cottage Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Hannigan, Pendleton; Carol Felbick, Corvallis; Mrs. R. L. Mackay, Fay Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pickell, Mrs. Martel Peters and the Rev. and Mrs. Ross Knotts, Joe and Alice, all from Ashland; and many others from towns more adjacent to Klamath Falls.

At the reception, the white floral theme was repeated—the cake and punch bowl were encircled at the base with stephanotis and maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Nicholson was hostess at the rehearsal dinner given at Sari's for the wedding party and out-of-town relatives on the eve of the wedding.

CIC Re-elects Top Officers At November Meeting On 4th

FORT KLAMATH — At the regular meeting of the Civic Improvement Club, Friday afternoon, November 4, the following officers were re-elected: President, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Harold L. Wimer, Mrs. Wilber B. Hescocock and Mrs. William A. Page—in that order.

Mrs. Gail Culver was elected to act as alternate secretary, in the absence of Mrs. Hescocock. First, second and third vice presidents are Mrs. Ober Brown, Mrs. Gene A. Page and Mrs. Ernest L. Reese. Mrs. Norman Van Iderstine was named club chaplain, and Mrs. William Brewer will continue as club musician.

The 1955 officers will be officially seated at the December meeting which will be on the 16th—in the regular date, December 2. Starting with December, there will be only one meeting a month during the winter.

The financial report for October was read by the treasurer, Mrs. William A. Page, and the president announced that the United Fund-Red Cross benefit card party sponsored by the club on Saturday evening, October 29, was a financial success and that all proceeds were sent to the UPRC fund.

The club will sponsor a card party on Saturday evening, November 19, in the clubhouse, with Mrs. Joanna Taylor and Mrs. William A. Page in charge of prizes, cards and tickets; Mrs. William Brewer games; Mrs. Norman Van Iderstine and Mrs. Ober Brown, refreshments. Bridge, pinocle and games will be played, prizes awarded and refreshments served by club members, proceeds to go to the club treasury.

In anticipation of the 1955 annual CIC bazaar, the president named Mrs. William Brewer, Mrs. Joanna Taylor, Mrs. Everett Morris and Mrs. Norman Van Iderstine as fancy work committee members authorized to make necessary purchases of material and other items for bazaar articles to be made during the winter.

Appointed to solicit funds for the annual community Christmas tree treat for the children were Mrs. Gail Culver, Mrs. Dan Brown, Mrs. Harold Redden, Mrs. Neil Neilson and Mrs. Gene A. Page. The committee will also purchase and package the candy, fruit, nuts and individual toys, and provide for the visit of Santa Claus at the annual pre-holiday event, which is sponsored jointly by CIC, the Fort Klamath school and community Methodist Church.

The secretary read a letter from club member Mrs. Bill (Donna) Nicholson, who with her small son Larry, joined her husband last August at Frankfurt, Germany, where he is stationed with the U.S. Army.

A social hour followed the business session, with Mrs. Norman Van Iderstine and Mrs. Ober Brown hostesses for the meeting, serving refreshments to those present. The themes of autumn and Thanksgiving were combined in room and table decor, with arrangements of colorful fall leaves on branches placed about the room. Refreshments were served from a table, colorful with an artistic centerpiece of fruit in a crystal bowl, flanked on either side by lighter red tapers in crystal holders. Pine boughs, pine cones and miniature turkey gobblers carried out the prevailing decor, with individual favors marking each place.
