City State Split Plan Sparks Riot

BOMBAY, India. (AP)—Bombay seethed in the grip of a pitched battle between armed police and stone-throwing demonstrators Monday. Five persons were reported killed, at least 225 wounded and over 1,000 rioters were arrested. It was the second successive day of Communist-inspired violence touched off by Marathi-speaking Indians protesting Prime Minister Nehru's decision to create a separate Bombay city state out of the big west coast port. More than 100 persons were injured in rioting Sunday. Gangs milled through the streets, stoning buses and trains, setting buses afire and barricading main streets with huge boulders. The violence exceeded that in last August's anti-Portuguese riots in Bombay.

Police and home guard forces first willed under a barrage of stones, then raised their rifles and fired at the Communist-led demonstrators trying to reach the State Legislature building. The crowds set fire to three buses and showered passing traffic with rocks. They attacked firemen called to fight the fires. Ambulances made their way through the littered streets picking up persons injured by stones and flying glass. In the big industrial area of Parel and Lal Baug, Communists moved in and gained virtual control of a two-mile stretch of main road. Red leaders moved briskly up and down the road on motorcoasters flying hammer and sickle flags, calling on the mob to converge on Bombay's downtown area to "capture" the Legislature, meeting Monday afternoon to discuss the city's future.

The fighting began shortly after noon in the fort area of Bombay. This district is the city's commercial center and includes the State Legislature and several other large government buildings. All Bombay's bigger hotels, office buildings, shops, railway stations, museums, libraries and other public buildings are located there. With crackling rifle fire and the thump of teargas shells, the fighting surged down a side street and raged around the main postoffice, disrupting telegraphic communication for a while. The worst violence in Bombay since the Indian naval mutiny against the British in 1946 and marked the first time since India became independent that troops have been called out to help police quell disorder.

Cold Wave Hits Plains

A new cold wave spilled into the Northern Plains from Canada today and hurricane force winds pounded the nation's first Texas Tower of the Cape Cod Coast. The cold air mass dumped temperatures 22 degrees to near zero at International Falls, Minn., and Grand Forks, N.D. Meanwhile, a new snow storm was brewing for Colorado, Wyoming, and Western Nebraska.

In the Atlantic Ocean, 35-foot waves battered the Texas Tower erected 110 miles off Cape Cod's southeastern tip. Thirty-seven Air Force technicians and observers assigned to the early warning radar signal station were stranded for the fourth straight day. Officials said "there's no telling just when they'll get off."

British Press Cuts Loose On Plunging Necklines Of Actresses Before Royalty

By EDDY GILMORE LONDON (AP)—The tabloid Daily Mirror Monday delivered a frontal attack on pretty film stars who sport plunging necklines before Britain's royal family. "The bare fact is," said the paper, which claims a daily circulation of about 4½ million, "that film stars' necklines at these royal functions are sagging dangerously below the Plimsoll line of modesty." (The Plimsoll line is a mark prominently painted on a vessel's hull to show how deeply she may be loaded.) The Mirror, usually not adverse to publishing pictures of a shapeless figure, pointed an editorial finger at two of the country's cutest cuties, blonde Diana Dors—Britain's answer to Marilyn Monroe—and pert-necked Jackie Lane. Both of whom recently appeared before members of the royal family in extremely low cut evening gowns. Jackie showed up before the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, at a movie premier last week wearing the most daring dress of the season—one that opened down the front from her neck to her trim waist. "The loose laced bodice of her dress gaped open and downwards into a startling revelation of the bosom," said The Mirror. Ten days earlier Miss Dors appeared at a "royal command" film performance and was presented to the Queen and the Duke. "Her high and mighty bosom," said The Mirror, "was so amply displayed we learned she could easily burst out laughing." The Mirror added: "Royal premiers are now occasions for highly competitive double exposures, where a deep breath is dangerous, a curtsy a disaster."

Hope Held For Lost Ship

BOSTON (AP)—A shadow of hope was raised Monday for the Liberian cargo ship Daytona, and her 24-man crew feared lost in Sunday's storm, when Coast Guard cutters near her last reported position said they had picked up a fragmentary radio message. The cutters Acushnet and Evergreen said it "might have been from the Daytona." The last direct word from the 322-foot converted LST (Tank landing ship) was at 9 a.m. Sunday, when her captain reported she was listing badly and taking water. Her position was about 75 miles off Gloucester.

The 27-year-old Estacada man was on his feet and walking when police arrived to investigate. They sent him to a hospital for treatment of cuts, bruises and possible rib fractures. George Hull, 17, a passenger, said that Warre was driving the car about 70 miles an hour when the door flew open and Warre fell part way out. The car left the road, plowed into a 50-foot hedge, and then stopped against the front porch of a house. The house was not damaged seriously.

Ice Causes Power Break

An interruption of electrical service in the early hours of Sunday was held to 30 minutes in most areas by California Oregon Power Company by rearranging transmission line feeds. The source of the trouble was ice buildup on the lines in Klamath Canyon. Heavy wet snow caused other interruptions of service shortly before 10 p.m. Sunday night, particularly in the Spring Lake area where the distribution line serving radio station KLAD. Full power was restored to the radio station about 9:30 a.m. today. Workmen were hampered by the snowfall and darkness so that much of the replacement and repair work had to be completed after daylight today. With the return of sunshine to the Klamath country, employees of Copco were reassured today and the consensus was: "It looks better now." Copco last night was plagued by three power pole fires, caused by arcing of power lines. Klamath Falls Fire Department reported today. Calls were received at 8:37 p.m. Sunday for a pole on the 800 block on California Avenue, at 12:36 a.m. Monday for a pole at Main Street and Payne Alley, and at 5 a.m. for a pole at Third and Roosevelt streets. There was minor damage in each case, a fire department spokesman said. The Suburban Fire Department reported a fire in a tree in front of 2739 Kane Street at 12:20 a.m. There was minor damage.

According to District Attorney Richard Beesley, Lewis passed a $75 forged check at Weisfeld's Jewelry Store. Powers was charged with cashing a forged check for $35 at the Big Y Market. Hanson passed a worthless check for $10 at a Safeway store. Before pleading guilty to the charges, the defendants waived grand jury investigation.

Snow Falling At Crater

It was still snowing when the ranger at Crater Lake National Park reported this morning a continuation of a storm that started 11 days ago. Five inches of new snow fell during the night bringing the total on the ground to 36 inches at 8 a.m. today, compared with 18 inches on this date last year. Maximum temperature Sunday was 33 degrees, minimum was 13 last night, and temperature was 19 at 8 a.m. today. The road from Annie Springs to the rim was open as far as headquarters part of Sunday, and is temporarily closed again this morning. It is hoped that it can be reopened this afternoon. Highway 62 is open through the park and is "very slippery." Chains or abrasive snow tread tires are advised. Despite snow on Sunday, seven cars visited the park bringing skiers who spent the afternoon setting up ski tows for private clubs across from headquarters. It is hoped there will be enough snow for trail skiing by the coming weekend.

BURNS, Ore. (AP)—Mrs. Lesannie Wilkins, a 67-year-old Maine woman, had to wait here when last week's storms interrupted her cross-country horseback ride. Mrs. Wilkins, who sold her Minto, Me., farm to finance the trip which started a year ago, said that highway officials had advised her to ship her horse as far south as Lakeview, Ore., or Redding, Calif., because of bad roads. She planned to resume her riding trip from there. She plans to ride to Los Angeles but said she probably will stop off at San Francisco to see the Golden Gate Bridge. ### Reds Lash Out At West In Indian Parliament Meeting

By HAROLD K. MILKS NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Soviet chiefs, Bulgarians and Khrushchev opened a double-barreled attack on the West in the Indian Parliament Monday. They told the more than 700 members, in the presence of Prime Minister Nehru, his Russian assistant and India in an "unending battle for peace." Both criticized the West on grounds it was "attempting to follow policies based on a position of strength." Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Communist Party boss Khrushchev are here on a good will visit expected to last more than two weeks. At a state banquet Monday night, Nehru warned them not to expect their good will invitation would lead India into the Communist bloc. Bluntly, he said India was "in no camp and no military alliance." The prospect of Russian assistance to India's industrial development appeared to be emerging as the leading topic during the Soviet leaders' visit. "There has been much said in the past months about Russian economic aid to India, but little come about it. A spokesman for the Natural Resources Ministry told questioners in Parliament Monday, however, that since Soviet mining experts are due to arrive soon to help prospect for oil and other minerals. A spokesman for the Iron and Steel Ministry said 300 Soviet technicians are expected in about a year to work on a million ton steel mill India is buying from the Soviet Union. Nehru, in his banquet speech Sunday night said the only camp "we should like to be in is the camp of peace and good will."

In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS In the Hotel Benson's new and quite attractive London Bar (these words are written in Portland) there is a series of panel drawings done in the crudely attractive manner of about the 12th century in Olde Engleland. The first depicts the king, in his Royal Purple, flord and well fed. He is saying, "I rule over all." The second delineates The Bishop, in his robes of office. The scroll over it says: "I pray for all." The third pictures The Soldier. He is drawing his jewelled sword from its scabbard and is asserting: "I fight for all." The fourth character, clothed in a soiled smock, his hands clasping a rude mattock, is The Farmer. He is saying: "I PAY FOR ALL."
