Furs Are Tops As Yule Gifts

Nary a lady alive wouldn't be delighted with a gift of fur for Christmas—especially in the rainbow of shades featured this winter to match her most enchanting, technicolor dreams.

Colors run the gamut of the spectrum, completely transforming such perennial favorites as beaver, sheared racoon, Persian lamb, muskrat and mouton. White has taken the spotlight for Yuletide gifts.

News is not only in their surprising new hues, but in the processing of furs, which has given them a much longer life span. They may appear wonderfully impractical, but they're more wearable and durable than the furs of yesteryear.

For the generous impulse, combined with the almost bottomless pocket, full-length, heart-warming luxury coats still rate tops on the feminine Christmas gift list. However, she won't love you any less if you give her a little jacket, a cape, or a stole, depending upon the extent of your budget.

Brand New Thrill Awaits Bathroom Admirals, Pilots

For the bathroom admiral and the playroom pilot, there are exciting new toys that travel through water and fly through the air, with which to thrill them this Christmas. Seagull craft range from wood and plastic toys for the youngest members of the family to model outboard and inboard motors powered by special fuels, for the grammar school set, according to the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A.

There are airplanes which can be pushed by baby. There are planes which will fly on rubber band power. Accurate scale models of civilian and military planes may be assembled from kits.

And for the older boys, who dream of the day when they can take a ship aloft, there is even a remote control plane set with which they may practice takeoffs and landings.

ENCOURAGE SAVINGS

A good habit for the new year may be launched for any child by making him a gift of a toy savings bank.

New Television Sets Rank Foremost For Yule Giving

Exploration of the greatly enhanced and much more efficient facilities for bringing the wide, wide world of entertainment into the home, becomes a must for this Christmas.

For here, among the new television and radio sets, and the new phonographs and record players, will be found inspiration for happily solving gift problems that range from a most important present to something extra to please a child.

The new T-V sets rank foremost, especially when it is an all-important gift for the family that is being sought. New cabinet styling, aimed at yielding them a handsome "furniture" look as against the mechanical look of the past, vies with improvements in viewing and tuning.

Color in Television

Color enters the T-V picture for Christmas in two ways. Yes, there will be sets to receive the new color T-V broadcasting, but color also plays an important part in T-V set decor. The range is from dark ebony, to the purity of ivory, with mahogany, bleached or natural, and walnut, light or dark and a host of new woods and finishes, in between.

Tuning devices that eliminate bending, that reveal the channel, that actually make it possible to eliminate momentarily any disturbing commercial by remote wireless control, are among some of the convenience devices being built into the new sets.

Handsomely Designed

New models range from the handsomely designed consoles — with a strong trend toward low-boy styling — that can become the most important piece of furniture in the living room, to portables, "roll arounds" and table models of unique efficiency and fine decor.

These latter, with their newer and lower pricing, clear the way for introducing a second set into the home, for the children or for the playroom.

The dually equipped T-V home may also be achieved this year by buying a new set for the living room, to delight mother, and replacing the old one to use by the children.

The new radios present marvels of efficiency in sets of all sizes, frequently in combination with hi-fidelity record players.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the new radios, however, is the increasing utilization of transistors and "printed" circuits, which make possible the new jewel-like sets, many of which are portable.

Popular Radios

The growth in popularity of the radio-clock combination with automatic controls for tuning in and tuning out specific programs at determined times, assures these models a great vogue for Christmas giving.
