

Three Enlist In Marines

Three men were enlisted this week in the U.S. Marine Corps by S-Sgt. Harold Morris, Klamath Falls recruiter.

The men are Neil Raymond Cornwell, son of Mrs. Hazel Watson of 447 Market Street, who enlisted for three years; Jimmie Alvin Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Parks of Lakeview, who enlisted for four years; and Irvin Neville Kanyo of San Bruno, California, who enlisted for four years.

Morris, whose office is located in the basement of the Klamath County Courthouse, said that the Marine Corps has a large number of vacancies for young men desiring a career in the armed services.

Senate Begins Security Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators set out today to determine how many discharged federal employees actually were fired under the Eisenhower administration's security program.

Officials of 24 government departments and agencies were called by a Senate Civil Service subcommittee headed by Sen. Olin D. Johnson (D-SC) to testify in two days of public hearings.

Paul Haddick, subcommittee counsel, said an attempt was being made to find out how many employees listed as fired under the security program would have been dismissed anyhow under regular civil service procedures.

Democrats frequently have charged that Vice President Nixon and other Republicans made a "numbers game" out of reported security risk firings in the last election campaign.

After the civil service subcommittee's last series of hearings in September, Johnson said that testimony showed the figures given on the number of employees fired as security risks embraced many employees who would have been fired without any security program.

At the time Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission had reported 3,614 employees fired under the program.

which was put into effect by executive order of President Eisenhower in May, 1953.

Young told another Senate committee earlier this week that the figure now is 3,663. But he said he makes no claim that all those fired were "security risks" — a term he said he avoids using.

Young is listed as the final witness for the subcommittee's present series of hearings.

Sykes Joins Army Reserve

A Klamath Falls man is among the 54 Oregonians who have taken advantage of the Army Reserve's six months active duty training program since the passage of the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1955 on August 9, Sic. H. C. Collier of the Klamath Falls Army Reserve Center, reported today.

Collier said that he is Lawrence Hamilton (Larry) Sykes, 17, son of Mrs. Betty Alexander Hooks, 1310 Lookout. He is enlisted in Company C, 311th Military Police Battalion, which meets on Tuesday evenings in Klamath Falls.

Collier said that Sykes, along with the majority of the men enlisting under the program, requested deferment of the active duty period until he completed high school.

However, he said, the Sixth Army headquarters in San Francisco reported that about 43 men from the western states have begun their active duty training period.

Another Klamath Falls man, Edward Moorman, 17, 2514 South Sixth Street, has also enlisted in the program, Collier said, but his enlistment was not completed in time to be included in the current count. He said that Moorman also joined Company C, 311th Military Police Battalion.
