

HALF THE FUN of having a party is the exciting beforehand preparation, particularly for the teenager who is getting experience at being a hostess. A clever way to pair off couples for games during the evening is to inscribe the name of each guest on a gingerbread cookie, mounted on a small doily with a ribbon paste on the back with the icing (easily made from a prepared mix), then cover the cookie plate with a napkin and her guests will draw their partner's name by choosing a gay ribbon.

Teen-age Party

This is the season of the year when the teen-ager's twirligig begins; to be planned and go steady... or to play the field and keep 'em guessing. Either decision (even if it only lasts a week) means that parties are in order and it's a wise mother who realizes she doesn't know her own child from day to day.

Here's a decorated party cake to meet all contingencies, inscribed, "I Dig You the Most." The one-and-only, as well as other hopefuls, will all enjoy it. It's a delicious two-layer gingerbread cake, its ease of preparation enhanced by fluffy white icing made with an easy quick mix. (Simply roll a piece of paper into a cone and a-q-u-e-e-z-e out the letters!)

MOLASSES GINGERBREAD
 1/4 cup shortening
 1 egg
 1/4 cup sugar
 1 1/4 cups flour
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger
 1/4 teaspoon each cloves and nutmeg
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup New Orleans molasses
 1/2 cup hot fruit juice or coffee

Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy and light. Add egg and mix well. Sift dry ingredients together. Combine real New Orleans molasses and hot liquid. Alternately add flour mixture and liquid to creamed mixture. Blend thoroughly. Pour batter into well-greased 8"x8"x2" pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 35-40 minutes. Cool several minutes before removing from pan. Then split in half. Fill and decorate with fluffy white icing.

TABLE TOPPER
 Now that the family picnic table has finished its duty for the year, let's hope you found space to store it for the winter. If not, and it must stand exposed, a sheet of asbestos board, cut to fit, will furnish good protection for the rest of the winter.

DERBY styles this skirt with all around box pleats for fullness. color accent to the gray flannel. It's a washable Sanforlan wool number which washes with no danger of shrinking out of fit. Just change blouses to change the costume look.

Glamour Duet

A new glamour duet for the handbag being introduced by Coty this month brings a pretty holiday gift suggestion that's sure to be a longtime success, too. Called the "Continental Purse Ensemble," the set features a newly-designed compact that exactly matches the smart triple-tone stripes of Coty's famed "24" lipstick case. The two items are being presented together in an elegant golden gift box especially for the Christmas season.

The new Continental Compact, which will become a regular member of Coty's line of beauty accessories after the holidays, is made in an attractive square shape and comes in two versions—either with a well for loose powder, or fitted with Cream Powder for women who prefer a foundation and face powder in one. Both the lipstick and compact cases are available in a choice of two color motifs—stripes of scarlet, white and gold—or black, white and gold. Each product is easily re-filled "Switch" presentations.
