HOME EXTENSION

Do you need a new idea? A Christmas gift idea that can come into being easily and quickly? Make a bright and colorful felt stocking to hang by the fireplace Christmas Eve and find next morning that it has been filled by Santa.

A fireplace mit made of felt and decorated with bits of scrap material, sequins and glitter is a welcome surprise. Make another mit from the same pattern with quilted cotton, and it's just the thing to keep beside the oven.

POTATO HARVEST SONG
By Hazel Milton
Potatoes are harvested
All in their bin.
We're gathered together
To rejoice once again.
We're glad when it starts,
And glad when it ends,
Yet still in a way
Reluctance sets in.
We've met old friends and Made some new.
It really saddens us to Again say Adieu.

I know our Boss feels the same
Throughout the season he's anxious
To know and at the reapings his Feelings do show.

We've had bad picking our loyalty
to try.
We growled and grumbled but wouldn't say good-bye.
Our Boss bless his heart, he raised
our pay.
But his loss in spuds to his help
wouldn't say.
We had good picking and went right along.
Some even started singing some song.

To Gregg, Frank, Harvey and John
Each had a job too, to carry on.
You got some heck from the Boss and a lot of heck from the crew.

Still a good job you all carried through.
The boss relied upon you more than the crew.

And to all the crew, Here's to you,
Some worked hard to get the job done.

Others poked around and had lots
of fun.
Head man Bosses and the crew
all worked together and now we're through.
I hope Mr. Winkler, for this nonsense you won't fire me.
But again next year you will hire
me.

So August Winkler "Best Wishes" to you we tell
And when you die may we not see you in—
Well!

The very best of luck to you
And may the Lord's Blessing follow you.

For (All together now) He's a Jolly good Fellow, etc.

Hill, chairman, Mrs. Erma Clause, Mrs. Dow Frakes, Mrs. Jack Briscoe, Mrs. C. W. Julier and Mrs. C. A. Fessler planned the banquet, which was served to 35 winners of the recent experience contest.

Church Begins Fund Drive

DUNSMUIR — A building fund drive was launched this week by the Methodist Church of Dunsmuir. Initial event of the drive was a "royalty" supper at the Masonic Temple on Sunday evening attended by 160 members of the congregation. On Monday evening there was a dinner at the church for solicitors and their wives with 50 people present. A downtown headquarters has been established at 214 Pine Street and the drive is being directed by J. Eugene Cecil of San Mateo. The Rev. Robert DeWolf, Methodist pastor, explained that while professional direction of the drive has been obtained, all solicitation is being done by members of the congregation and pledges will be sought principally from the 200 families who have expressed interest in the Methodist Church. The present building is inadequate, the Rev. DeWolf said, and the drive is to assure funds for a new church. The first report on the drive will be made Friday evening and Sunday, December 11, has been design-

MERRILL HIGH NEWS

By DORIS RAINES and DOROTHY DANOSKY
The race was on when the girls tried to catch a boy at the Sadie Hawkins Party on Friday, November 18. This annual event is sponsored by the sophomore class. One of the highlights of the senior year is getting pictures taken. This was done on Sunday, November 20, at Ferebee Studio. An interschool dance meeting was held at Merrill on Tuesday, November 22, with students from Merrill, Malin, and Tulelake participating. A Thanksgiving Assembly was given by the junior class on November 23. A large American flag was presented to the high school by Mrs. Ervin Snapp in memory of her son, Charles. G.A.A. awards were also given out at this assembly. Six weeks tests were taken last week so everyone is anxious to receive their report cards.
