Kefauver Sets 1956 Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen Kefauver (D-Tenn) indicated today that if he runs for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination he will concentrate on a limited number of showdown primary challenges to Adlai E. Stevenson.

He said in an interview he may delay until January his announcement. Stevenson has announced his candidacy.

Kefauver said he won't undertake the same sort of primary grind as in 1952 if he runs.

"I have a great deal of Senate work to do and I will not have time to campaign in a great many primaries, if I do make the race," he said.

He said that if he runs he may enter the March 20 Minnesota primary which Stevenson has accepted an invitation to enter.

The Minnesota party organization has endorsed Stevenson, largely through efforts of Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

Kefauver said the May 29 Florida and June 5 California primaries, which Stevenson may enter, would be given "consideration" if he runs.

Kefauver's change in strategy indicated he now feels it is more important to win a few crucial primary tests than to roll up early ballot votes as he did in 1952, when he led with 340 votes on the first convention ballot.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate majority leader, arranged meantime to meet with other party chieftains here Tuesday to discuss the outlook for the forthcoming session of Congress.

Johnson had been expected to stop off in Atlanta for a talk with Senators George (D-Ga) and Russell (D-Ga), but aides said he will fly direct to Washington from his Texas ranch and meet them and others here.

U.S. Air Force Offers Posts In Aviation Cadet Program

Pilot and aircraft observer training as an aviation cadet in the U.S. Air Force is once again open to qualified applicants in the Klamath Falls area, announced T-Sgt. Don Adams, local USAF recruiter, today.

The acceptance of applications for aviation cadet training was halted last summer because of a temporary surplus of trainee candidates. Sgt. Adams said the testing and qualifying of cadet applicants is now back in full swing.

"Both the pilot and observer program are virtually the same as they were before," explained Sgt. Adams, "and still lead to a pair of silver 'wings' and a second lieutenant's commission inside of 14 months."

Aviation cadet applicants from the Klamath Falls area are tentatively-qualified at the Recruiting Detachment Headquarters at Portland, Oregon. After this first testing the applicants are then scheduled for their final testing and screening at the nearest Air Force Academy and Aircrew Examining Center located at McChord Air Force Base, Tacoma, Washington.

After an applicant is considered fully qualified he is returned home to await his assignment to training. Current openings in the Air Force flying training programs will ordinarily allow a qualified aircraft observer applicant to begin his training considerably earlier than the pilot applicant.

Depending on his qualifications, an aviation cadet will either graduate from pilot training and fly the Air Force's jet-age aircraft as the "Man Behind the Stick," or earn his aircraft observer "Wings" and serve as the "Brains of the Air Force" with a navigator, bombardier, flight engineering or electronics specialist rating.

"However, both the pilot and aircraft observer are entitled to the same benefits," Sgt. Adams said. "This includes a commission in the U.S. Air Force Reserve as a second lieutenant, a uniform allowance, 30-day annual leave with pay and a starting salary of around $5,000 per year."

Single male citizens between the ages of 19 and 26½ who are high school graduates and in good physical condition may apply for aviation cadet training.

Interested young men from the Klamath Falls area may contact Sgt. Adams at the local USAF Building, Klamath Falls, for further information.
