

KLAMATH SADDLE CLUB ANNUAL CHRISTMAS DINNER-DANCE

MRS. HELEN BALENTINE, far right, member of the Saddle Club Christmas Party committee, also designed and executed all of the window decorations. With her, are other committee members, Mrs. Alan Abner, center; and Mrs. Marshall Poole, general chairman of this year's annual event at the Klamath Yacht Club. Alan Abner, is pictured at the left before he donned a Santa Claus suit—and proved his histrionic ability to the extent of restoring several Santa cynics to pre-school faith in the rotund gent in the red suit. Next to him, Dr. Marshall Poole.

Some 40 members and guests started the party with cocktails from 7 to 8:30; when dinner was served. Dancing to music by Sync Halaas was from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. —All Saddle Club Photos by Kettler

EARLIER IN THE DAY — getting ready for this year's annual Klamath Saddle Club Christmas party December 10 given by the club for members and their husbands, are Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Abner occupied in the picture with finishing touches on a gift exchange package.

The Yacht Club women members and the Saddle Club women pooled their talents and efforts to achieve the outstanding decorations for the holiday season. And the decor was put up to stay up — until after New Year's Eve.

REAMES COUNTRY CLUB ANNUAL NEW YEAR'S EVE FROLIC

REAMES NEW YEAR'S DANCE COMMITTEE winds up final arrangements for the big event slated for Saturday, December 31, at the club. A midnight buffet will be served to the revelers—and dancing will be to music by Sync Halaas. The husband-wife group is pictured above; husbands, from the left, Dr. Robert Mueller, Robert Egge, Cecil Drew and William Whelan. On the sofa, Mrs. Mueller, Mrs. Egge, Mrs. Whelan, Mrs. Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Murdo Morrison, also committee members, were out of town the night the picture was taken.

BRIDGE SESSIONS FOR A QUARTER-CENTURY MARKED ANNUALLY BY A CHRISTMAS PARTY

FOR MOST OF THEM—the 12 pictured above—the party was the 25th annual (no name) bridge club's Christmas get-together.

For some of them—they've been playing bridge with the group and going to the Christmas parties "since when"—and since the annual party is a merger of two bridge groups—one, an afternoon session—and the other, evening—some of them belong to both groups. However, the total combined membership or roll call at the annual party is limited to an even dozen.

The three hostesses for the 1955 event December 14, were Mrs. Claude Davis, Mrs. Robert Thompson and Mrs. J. J. Steiger. In the picture, from the left, standing, Mrs. Lloyd Goble, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. Louis Serruys, Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. J. J. (Jake) Steiger and Mrs. F. Cecil Adams. In front, same order, Mrs. Claude Davis, Mrs. Franklin Weaver, Mrs. W. Ray Lamb (in front of Mrs. Weaver), Mrs. Charles Larkin, Mrs. Paul W. Sharp and Mrs. John Houston.

The picture was taken in the TV room of the Steigers, 318 Jefferson, where the dinner and gift exchange were main diversion for the evening. Mrs. W. Ray Lamb, guest of the evening, was proxy for regular member, Mrs. George A. Myers, who was out of town.
