

REMODELING PLANS are underway and partially completed by E. H. Dondson, 4652 Cannon Avenue, to enlarge and improve this former garage into a livable dwelling. Dondson has done considerable work on the inside of the house and he plans to enlarge it later this spring. He will remove the imitation siding on the house and replace it with board and batten and put on a new roof at that time. Dondson is employed by the Swan Lake Moulding Co.

PLANNING NEW WORK on the inside of his home at 4652 Cannon Drive is E. H. Dondson. He is remodeling the inside of a former garage and plans additions to it this spring. He has done much of the cabinet and inside paneling in the home he and wife and small son occupy.

Paneling Offers Restful Decor For Bedrooms

Why is the bedroom the "forgotten room" of the home?

Whether it's time for re-decorating an older home or decorating a new one, we always seem to put off the bedroom until last. Maybe this is because we devote so much time, effort, and money to the living room and kitchen that we're willing to let the bedroom "coast along" for a while.

Considering the amount of living that we do in the bedroom and the position it occupies as a refuge from the noise and confusion of the rest of the house, it deserves far more attention than it has been getting.

Aside from furnishing it with new furniture, a couple of lamps, and a rug, there's so much more that can be done inexpensively to make it the restful and relaxing room it's intended to be. And the soft, natural tones of wood will go a long way toward establishing that feeling.

The quiet warmth of a western pine paneled wall does as much to enhance the livability of the bedroom as any other room of the house. An expanse of paneling will impart an air of repose and restfulness to help soothe the tensions of a busy day. Interesting variations of grain, knotty or clear grades, and light to dark colors are possible because there are ten varieties of wood from the western pine region from which to choose.

To combine practicality with appearance, a wall of pine may be a full storage wall of wardrobe closets, drawers, and shelves. And while you are at it why not add a pine desk and dressing table to carry out the same motif?

In the long run you'll find your selection of western pine a highly practical move. Your wall of pine will outlast usual wall coverings and, when properly finished with a protective coating, can be wiped down easily.

COLORS FOR MASONRY

An easy way to color masonry walls is to use dry powder cement-base paints. These usually comprise Portland cement, lime and mineral pigment. When mixed with water and applied to a dampened surface, they create a finish that is similar to concrete or mortar.
