MRS. ANGUS BYNON STEWART—who was Joan Havland before her day-before-Christmas wedding to the former Klamath man. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William I. Havland, Seattle, and vows were exchanged at 4 p.m. in University Baptist Church, also in that city.

Angus is the son of Mrs. Neal Stewart, now of Honolulu, and the late Neal Stewart. His parents were long time local residents, and the recent marriage of their only son is of personal interest to their many friends here. (See story on inside page.)

CHRISTMAS WEEK VISITORS from Wyoming, were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Tom) Wesley Gee Sr., pictured above with their son, Thomas Wesley Jr., also "Tom." While here they were his guests at the Winema Hotel, which he manages. At home, Mr. and Mrs. Gee are owner-managers of the Washakie Hotel in Worland.

The picture was taken at the home of Mrs. Louis E. Serruys,

601 Huron, December 26, where the Gees were dinner guests. The recent stay in Klamath Falls was the second for Mr. and Mrs. Gee — the first was last summer. Both of them noted the similarity in climate and terrain to that of Worland. They arrived the Tuesday before Christmas and left for the drive back to Wyoming Thursday morning, December 29.

THE ALL-WHITE WEDDING GOWN AND BOUQUET were in striking contrast to the deep green frocks worn by the attendants and the red poinsettia arrangements they carried at the wedding of Caroline Riley to Ronald Erhardt Blind December 18. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. James Riley, 522 North Fifth Street; and Ronnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erhardt Blind, Medford.

Vows were exchanged in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in a 2 p.m. service read by the Rev. Timothy Collins. (See story on inside page.)
