LANGELL VALLEY CUT-UPS

Anita Vaden, president called the meeting to order at the home of our leader, Mrs. Brett. The role was answered by naming different kinds of garment closings like the zipper and button hole.

Old business was the settling of bills from the dance held December 17. Enough was made to buy the children's treats and pay for the Santa Suit. With the money left we're going to get two presents, one for a boy and one for a girl, for Santa to give out. There will be a boys and girls box; as each child comes in they will put their name in one of the boxes, then Santa will draw names for the gifts.

Some discussion was held about the demonstrations to be given at the Spring 4-H Fair. The demonstrator for this meeting was not present so her demonstration on how to make French Felled seams will be given at the next meeting. Anita adjourned the meeting and Mrs. Brett served cocoa and cookies.

Milk Increase Seen In 1956

Forecasts of a 2½ billion pound increase in national milk production next year is the spotlight on dairy products promotion at the Oregon Dairymen association's annual meeting, January 10 to 12, at Eugene.

While Oregon dairymen may produce no more milk in 1956 than this year, national prospects point toward an increase from this year's record of 124½ billion pounds to a new high of 127 billion in 1956, report Oregon State College economists and dairy specialists.

Product promotion will be featured in convention talks by Ray Albert, Chicago, American Dairy Association, and W. L. Hendrix, president of the Idaho Dairymen's association. Albert will discuss "selling" dairy products at the national level and Hendrix will explain how Idaho now raises about $200,000 annually on a voluntary basis for dairy advertising and promotion work.

Meanwhile, the dairy industry's sales program has been bolstered by a recent USDA announcement that dairy surpluses held by the commodity credit corporation are shrinking under stepped-up sales to foreign countries.

Sale this month of more than six million pounds of CCC-owned butter to Germany almost equaled total sales of CCC butter in the previous 18 months. Large amounts of dairy surpluses have also been disposed of through foreign and domestic relief programs. In mid-December, the USDA asked for offers to process more than 9½ million pounds of CCC-owned cheddar cheese for donation to U.S. private welfare agencies for distribution abroad.

The dairy meeting also will include talks by Phil Brandt, Wilamette Production Credit Association, who will analyze dairy finance, and Glenn Lay, Portland, Oregon Dairy plan. Sessions will be at the Eugene Hotel.

An important notice to all our policyholders in flood-stricken areas

SINCE THE COMING WEEKS will be a time of hardship for you whose homes and businesses have been swept by floodwaters, Occidental has arranged a special, extended grace period for the payment of all premiums on Occidental life and accident & sickness policies that fall due within this time.

The grace period for the payment of any premium falling due between November 20, 1955, and January 31, 1956, is extended to March 4, 1956.

This special grace period is provided for all Occidental policyholders whose homes or places of business have suffered flood damage.

Furthermore, if as a policyholder you feel there is any way in which we may be of further help to you, please contact your Occidental representative or write directly to Policyholder Information at our Home Office in Los Angeles. We will welcome the opportunity to serve you.
