Lauren Bacall Remembers Early Start In Theater

By ALINE MOSBY
 United Press Hollywood (UP)—Thirteen years ago a model from Brooklyn was advertising for $8 a week in a New York theater where Clifton Webb was appearing in Noel Coward's play, "Blithe Spirit."

Today that girl finds herself starring in the same play—with Coward himself as her co-star—for a 90-minute color spectacular on CBS-TV, one of television's big events of 1956.

"When I was an usher for that play little did I dream I'd be a bosom pal of Clifton's—and working with Noel Coward in that play," Lauren Bacall said today.

"When this TV show was proposed to me, my knees started to shake and my teeth rattled. I'm glad, when I think of doing this for 90 minutes before a live studio audience," she sighed, and closed her eyes at the thought, "except for two flops on the stage, I've never worked with a live audience."

Dear Noel, as Lauren calls him, is directing as well as starring in his play. The production is shaping up as an unusual spectacular. The entire show will be performed before a studio audience Jan. 13—but TV viewers will never see that. The closed circuit program, Coward will study the "preview" film to decide what changes should be made. Then the play will be televised the following night.

Claudette Colbert, who is becoming more of a TV star than a film actress, also stars in the satire on seances. Lauren plays the "spirit" in gray face, gray hair and a dowdy gray chiffon dress. The only splash of color in her strange get-up will be green eye-shadow and red lips and fingernails.

Coward is a friend of Mrs. Bogart, and announced her for the role even before he'd asked her. He thinks this will establish her as a big comedy star.

OVER THE GARDEN GATE

NORTH SIDE GARDEN CLUB
 By Mrs. Walter Sobrakoff

The December meeting, which included a Christmas party and gift exchange, was held at 1 p.m., December 20, at the home of Mrs. B. C. Johnston, 2731 Angle Street.

Mrs. Gary Price was elected in the office of secretary to replace Mrs. Otto Schueter, who has moved to Medford.

A card of appreciation was signed by all members present to be sent to Mrs. Schueter.

It was reported that six members had attended the district meeting and Christmas workshop, which was held at Altamont School December 2.

A letter from the district director was read which showed what had been accomplished in the district this year.

A large basket of fruit, nuts and candy, was delivered to the Shady Pine Rest Home as the Christmas package from the club.

The afternoon was then given over to the festivities of the gift exchange and was concluded with a Christmas type luncheon served by Mrs. Johnson.

Those members answering roll call with New Year's resolutions were Mrs. H. Hayden, Mrs. B. Valk, Mrs. G. Thomason, Mrs. B. Johnson, Mrs. W. Sobrakoff, Mrs. E. Redman, Mrs. A. Erickson, Mrs. L. Duen, Mrs. E. Kiser, Mrs. A. Soler, Mrs. P. Klier, Mrs. C. Ferguson, Mrs. G. Price, Mrs. C. Oiles, Mrs. P. Haddock, Mrs. R. McClure.

Times Sees Crop Cutting

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that President Eisenhower will send to Congress Monday a new plan designed to cut by as much as 20 per cent the big surplus-producing crops of corn, wheat, cotton and rice.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said the plan would work this way:

A farmer who voluntarily cooperated with the government by giving his allotted acres would be given two choices. He could take a government certificate which he could turn into cash, or he could receive from the government's surplus stocks a quantity of the kind of crop he grew and dispose of it as he saw fit.

The plan thus could reduce future plantings and help eliminate existing surplus stocks, the story said.

Saying the idea will be an emergency part of an over-all "soil bank" provision in the administrative program farm legislation, the Times also reported:

The second section of the "soil bank" will be geared to long-range conservation. Payments also would be made to farmers for acres removed from production and planted to soil-building grasses and trees.

The long-term conservation phase involves 350 million dollars for the first year of a five-year operation. This will be coupled with the existing agricultural conservation program of 250 million dollars to provide a total of 600 millions.

Foreign Aid Policy Sought

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senior Republicans on the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees today threw their support behind administration plans for an expanded, long-term foreign aid program.

Sen. J. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said now is not the time for a cutback in foreign aid spending.

The foreign aid program is expected to be a major issue in the new Congress. The administration plans to request $4,000,000,000 in new foreign aid funds more than twice what Congress appropriated last year—although the rate of spending would continue at about the present level. Most of the increased appropriations would be for military aid.

Saltonstall, who made a round-the-world inspection trip during the congressional recess, said in an interview that he concluded that if the United States "quits or lets down" its foreign aid program, "many free nations will have difficulty carrying on."

Saltonstall is senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations and also a senior GOP member of the Appropriations Committee.

TWENTY-EIGHT NEW WORLDS were the result of student labor in Lakeview recently when art students turned out their own world globes as a project. Lakeview Art Students Now Have Own World Globes As Result Of Workshop Idea

LAKEVIEW — Twenty-eight student-created globes of the world rest on homemade foil covered stands in the 6 C room at the High School.

These professional looking globes started as balloons the first part of October and after many student hours of labor, they are now completed.

The globe project germinated from an art class Mrs. Grace Smith, 6 C teacher, took at a summer session at Southern Oregon College at Ashland. While working with papier-mache animals, one student in the class suggested making globes. From that idea, Mrs. Smith incorporated globe-making into her social studies class.

As work progressed on the globe we touched on almost every subject in our curriculum," she related. "Arithmetic was involved in placing the degrees of longitude, and in the next step, the roughness is sanded and then the globe is painted all over with a blue colored waterbase paint.

After outlining the equator with a dark pencil, the north and south poles are marked with pins and with the aid of a protractor, the meridian is placed. Then the globe is shackled.

"Quick tell me, does latitude mean up or down," whispered one boy to the girl working next to him during this stage. When working on the project, the movable school desks are shoved into working units with about five desks to a unit and the working surfaces covered with newspapers.

Next, continents were cut out of thin colored paper and pasted in position. Then mountains were produced from more papier-mache and this involves a bit of doing, especially for the boys, for the working area is small. The mountains were colored brown for the highest, green for the lower ones, and yellow for the foothills.

The final job was covering the globe with another coat of shellac.

Six C students are now corresponding with pen pals in Canada and next month will write to children in England. As one girl said, "It's not hard to figure out the cold climate of Canada after placing that country near the north pole on my globe."

Harriman Sets State Benefits

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, his eyes on the White House, placed before the Legislature today a program calling for widespread social welfare benefits, a "substantial" income-tax cut and pay boosts for state workers and teachers.

He told the Senate and Assembly in his second annual message that he left in his budget message, to be submitted Feb. 1.

Neither was he specific on how much he wanted to increase teachers' salaries and other forms of state aid to education.

But he detailed to a considerable extent the social welfare phases of his legislative program.

"The governor, who formerly worked for Presidents Roosevelt and Truman and who is an avowed but not an 'active' candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, urged:

1. Liberalization of workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance and sickness disability benefits.
2. Higher minimum wages.
3. A concerted assault on poverty.
4. Tightening of the antidiscrimination law with respect to housing.
5. Improved housing and health facilities for migrant workers.
6. Steps to protect small and medium-size businesses from being squeezed to death by big businesses.

Rita, Dick Sued For Attorney Fees

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Although Rita Hayworth divorced crooner Dick Haymes in Reno last month, she is being sued with him for attorney fees.

Robert A. Eaton, lawyer and son-in-law of Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, sued the actress and singer yesterday for $8,400, saying he performed services for Haymes in connection with divorce proceedings by his former wife Nora Edgington, and with a deportation action against him by the federal government.

Eaton alleged that Miss Hayworth agreed to pay for the services but failed to do so.
