Earle Tichenor and Glenn Moore, Klamath Union's top "post-men," lead the KUHS Pel-Pre-Season records for the 1955-56 season. Tichenor, a senior, and Moore, a junior, are the top scorers in the department's pre-season basketball tournament. Tichenor has 12 points and Moore has 11 points in the tournament. They are the top scorers in the department's pre-season basketball tournament.

Following is the complete team records for the six pre-season games. (FG-field goals, FT-free throws, SA-shots attempted, SM-shots made, Reb-rebounds, PF-personal fouls and TP-total points.)

This Friday and Saturday at Grants Pass, Peterson's hoopers will all have to be ready and waiting. As Ray Davis' Cavemen are seeking to knock the locals out of the conference race with an early season double win. The Grants Pass quintet took three straight beatings in the season-opening jamboree held here early in December, but since that time have picked up polish and a thundering scoring punch.

College Hoopsters Turn On Point Spree

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Almost everywhere you look in college basketball the accent is on offense and more offense. At that rate it probably won't be long before 200-point games will be the rule rather than the exception.

Take, for example, some of last night's games. Richmond and Furman pumped 222 points through the basket with Richmond winding up on the long end of a 130-92 score. West Virginia came mighty close to the 100 mark in trouncing Washington and Lee 98-84.

BALTIMORE (AP) — If sports fans found things didn't go the way they expected in 1955, they had illustrious company. There were plenty of coaches and athletes who found their own best laid plans go awry after they ventured a prediction.

Jets, 'Golds' Capture City League Games

The Air Force and National Guard toppled City League basketball teams Tuesday night at Altamont Junior High as the season's action resumed after the holiday layoff.

Bob Gayhimer tossed 22 points through the nets as he paced the Air Force to a 59-53 triumph over the Nash Ramblers, and Ken Young spearheaded the National Guard "Golds" to a 70-56 triumph over the Klamath Falls Creamery quintet in the two games played.

In the first game, Gayhimer combined scoring talents with Bob Mosser and Rod Rodriguez, both of whom accounted for 12 points apiece, to sink the Ramblers. The halftime margin favored the Air Force 31-25. High for the losers were Bill Pickett with 15 and Bud Mullen with 13.

Mantle Fits On D. Kaiser

By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (UP) — Dave Kaiser, a professional-appearing young man who was a comparative nonentity on a star-studded Michigan State football team until Monday is wearing the mantle of heroism.

The six-foot, 200-pounder never had made good on a field goal in college football before he kicked the 41-yarder that was, figuratively speaking, heard 'round the world in the Rose Bowl.

Until that time he was just another man on the team—a fellow who was a quiet, studious appearing fellow who wore glasses when on the street or studying.

Suddenly thrust into the spotlight, his name on the tongue of millions, he still is a bit bewildered by it all.

"I guess I learned all I know about kicking from Lou (The Toe) Groza," he says. (Groza is the field-goal kicking expert for the Cleveland Browns.)

"He was at spring training when I was at Notre Dame and he taught me how to line up the ball and center the tape between the goal posts."

Kaiser was at Notre Dame as a freshman. When Frank Leahy resigned, Dave transferred to Michigan State and had to sit out one year.

How did he feel as he lined up the kick that would spell victory for the Michigan State? "I thought about the two I had missed earlier in the year and the fact that I hadn't been able to practice on field goals lately due to an injury."

"Then, Earl Morrill said to me 'Kick when you're ready, Dave.' I kicked. The first I knew that it was good was when Buck Nystrom jumped on my back."

Coches Duffy Daugherty, while giving a lot of credit to his fine backs and to the great line and then to Kaiser, had to put in a special word for Nystrom.

"I wouldn't trade Nystrom for any guard in the country," said Daugherty. "He was positively a rock in this game."

It was revealed that Morrill decided to use Kaiser for the field goal attempt instead of Gerry Plautius, who had missed two easier chances earlier in the game.

"I felt that Gerry wasn't getting his foot into the ball good," said Morrill, "so I decided to try Dave."

And that's how heroes are born!

Terps Make Big Offer To Hold J. Tatum

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Maryland moved Wednesday to retain Jim Tatum as head football coach and athletic director but gave him permission to discuss an offer with officials at the University of North Carolina.

"We have told Mr. Tatum if he wanted security we could have a coaching position put on permanent tenure just like a professor," said Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Maryland president.

Dr. Elkins explained that permanent tenure would mean Tatum would have to agree to certain Maryland policies and if his personal conduct was satisfactory, he would remain at Maryland as long as he desired.

"The position would not depend on his winning or losing but on his personal conduct," said Dr. Elkins. "It would not be a lifetime contract but would give him a lot more security."

"Mr. Tatum did a good job for us and if he wants security, we may as well give it to him," Tatum asked and received permission to discuss the North Carolina offer with officials there and is expected to confer at Chapel Hill on Friday.

Tatum said he was happy at Maryland but since his alma mater, North Carolina, made an offer, he asked and received permission to go to Chapel Hill to "talk it over."

The Terapin coach would make no further comment and referred all questions to Dr. Elkins.

Castellani, Fullmer Meet

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Castellani will be shooting for his 10th straight victory at the Cleveland Arena and a step closer to a shot at the middleweight title when he meets Gene Fullmer in a 10-round bout at the arena tonight.

Castellani, a former coal miner from Luzerne, Pa., who now calls Cleveland his home, is the third-ranked middleweight behind champion Sugar Ray Robinson and former champion Bobo Olson. He lost a decision to Robinson in San Francisco last July, but had Sugar Ray in trouble after flooring him.

Fullmer, a strong and willing wallop from West Jordan, Utah, is hoping for an upset and a return bout with Eduardo Lause, the middleweight challenger from Argentina who has a victory streak of 32.

Fullmer, a wide-open, wading-in type of fighter, has lost only three times in 35 professional fights. He has never been knocked out.

ABC will telecast at 10 p.m. EST.

Wash. State Drops Hoopster

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Washington State College Tuesday night dropped sophomore guard Bob Reichert from its basketball team.

School officials said Reichert failed to turn out for practice and was "automatically eliminated" from the squad.

Reichert later confirmed he was giving up the sport but said he would remain at WSC.

Little Men Take Over Limelight

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—In a college basketball era where the seven-footer is becoming almost commonplace it seems slightly incongruous today that more "little" men are attaining real stardom than at any time since the big men took over.

The raves still go for such giants as seven foot, two inch Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain. And the majority of the big stars range from six feet, six inches up.

But the "little" men — those under six feet — are having a field day this year.

Some of 'em might even be classed as "real little." This would include five foot, six inch Clark Rolles of Cornell; and five foot, seven inch Jim Booth of Xavier of Cincinnati.

But you almost must class as "small" men at five feet, nine inches such as Bill Ridley of Illinois, Pachin Vicens of Kansas State, Chet Porter of Columbia and Terry Tebbis of Brigham Young; such 5-10's as Robin Freeman of Ohio State, Hal Perry of San Francisco, Jack Kubiszyn of Alabama and Ed Harrison of Richmond.

And there seem to be a host of such 5-11 stars as Mark Binstein of Army and Eddie Petrie of Seton Hall.

Nor, in the cases of any of those mentioned above, are they simply members of the squad. They're varsity performers, first line players — and good ones.

Rolles, the midget from Cornell, is an All-Ivy Leaguer with a spectacular jump shot. The 144-pound Boothe was Xavier's second leading scorer last year.

Ridley, playing his third varsity year at Illinois, is the smallest Illinois basketballer of the modern era — and the team's second leading scorer. Vicens sits in the same scoring slot for Kansas State while Tebbis is merely Brigham Young's leading scorer.

Forie, who scored 23 points in one half against West Virginia, was named the Orange Bowl tournament's most valuable player. Kubiszyn made good as a sophomore despite his small size and San Francisco hasn't lost a game since Perry made the varsity in the third game last year.

TOP SCORER
Harrison, a 150-pounder, led Richmond's scorers last season and is carrying right on. And Freeman, in case you haven't noticed, is only the leading scorer in the entire nation.

How come, you may wonder? The answer seems to be that high school players are getting even better coaching and most of the intercollegiate competitors aren't. The 12-foot lane also has helped by moving the big man out of the slot.

It all adds up to a great incentive for the smaller lads and for those of the midgets with hopes. Coach Lou Rossini of Columbia suggests:

"Learn to dribble, keep driving, perfect an outside shot, keep on your toes and never relax — and sharpen your desire."

Because, as they're proving this season, the little men can make good in basketball in a big way.

Henshel Intends To Make Phog Allen Pay

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Olympic official Harry D. Henshel says he intends to make Coach Phog Allen "pay dearly" for lambasting him in a recent speech on the Amateur Athletic Union.

Henshel cabled the University of Kansas basketball coach Tuesday that he was planning legal action and added:

"I was shocked to learn through the press of your libelous attack on me as a permanent hitchhiker to the Olympic Games at public expense; (2) your libelous reference to my military service as a 'colonel in the Brooklyn blur' on Brooklyn obviously intended to insult me and many of my fellow New Yorkers; including those of us who never had the honor of living in Brooklyn . . ."

"If you were quoted accurately, your libelous attack on me might seriously endanger raising sufficient funds to assure adequate size and quality of our 1956 Olympic teams."

Henshel, who is chairman of the Olympic Basketball Committee and vice-chairman of the AAU Olympic Finance Committee, sent the cable from San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he has been on vacation.

He told Allen that in 45 years of activity in the AAU as athlete and committeeman and in 20 years on Olympic committees "I have not received a dollar directly or indirectly from either organization."

In reference to his military career, Henshel said he was awarded a Bronze Star combat medal in 1945 and earned five campaign stars in the European theater of operations from Normandy to Germany in 1944-45. He added that previously he had served on the U.S. administrative staff of the 21st Army Group which planned the attack on the European continent.

Allen referred to Henshel last week in a Kansas City speech in which he criticized the AAU for suspending Wes Santee, America's fastest miler and a University of Kansas graduate. Santee was suspended on grounds he had accepted excessive expense allowances in three California track meets. The suspension later was lifted.

Garden May Be Out Next

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Madison Square Garden follow ancient St. Nicholas Arena into the dim shadows as a fight club with no fights?

That was the question before the house today as New York moved closer to becoming a ghost state for boxing with the loss of its only regular weekly fight show.

The London Sporting Club, which ran 86 consecutive weekly televised shows at St. Nick's, announced it was moving to Baltimore, effective Jan. 23, because of inability to make matches in New York. It reported bids from "20 other cities" but planned to run in Baltimore for at least four or six weeks.

The reason St. Nick's can't make matches in New York is the recent ruling by Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, setting a Jan. 16 deadline for all managers to quit the Boxing Guild of New York.

"We are not interested in the guild or what trouble commissioners have with guilds," said Tex Sullivan, whose London Sporting Club shows are seen on Du Mont TV. "We just cannot get fighters to sign for bouts here after Jan. 16. When I talk to managers, they tell me the fighters 'aren't ready' or 'my guy's still bothered by cuts' or something like that."

Madison Square Garden has a show this Friday, but no more until Feb. 3 while an ice show takes over the arena. However, the International Boxing Club, which runs two weekly televised shows (Wednesdays from various cities and Fridays from New York) had planned to operate from Syracuse Friday, Jan. 20, with a heavy-weight match between Hurricane Jackson and Bob Baker. The match hasn't been made yet and probably won't be made for Syracuse.

Jim Norris, IBC president, was due to return from Miami soon to make a decision on future plans. Harry Markson, IBC managing director, pointed out that the promoters had definite TV contracts to fulfill. He said there are "a good dozen Friday boxing dates" in the Garden in February, March and May under the current contract.

Helfand was due back from a vacation in Florida. Pending his return, officials of the commission refused comment. He had banned the guild after a long inquiry on the grounds it was "detrimental to the best interests of boxing" for its "monopolistic," "shocking" and "devious" practices.
