CLEAN BOWL

When beating eggs for meringue cakes, etc., make sure the bowl and beater have been carefully washed and dried first. Any bit of butter or oil on either one will retard the fluffing up of egg whites.

DRAWER LINING

Line utensil drawers in your stove with linoleum, a reader suggests. It makes them easier to clean and quieter. Kitchen silver drawers are made quieter by folding a clean tea towel for the bottom of the drawer.

THIS OUTSTANDING reproduction of the nativity scene was made and placed in Sacred Heart Catholic Church by Sisters of Sacred Heart Academy for the Christmas season. The realistic scene was completed with painted paper, figures of the Holy Family, flowers and Christmas greens.

MEMBERS of the Honor Society of Fremont Junior High School helped give Christmas cheer to needy families. Names of eight families were given to the group which packed food, toys and clothing to be distributed before the holiday. Assisting with the work were (left to right) Carol Ross, Carolyn Westlund and Pamela LeGrande.

Weather Bureau Plans Transfer

PORTLAND (AP)—The Weather Bureau will transfer its upper-air data-taking from Portland to McNary Field in Salem next June.

Weather Bureau officials said six persons would be added to the Weather Bureau staff of five at McNary Field.

Stratosphere-penetrating radiosonde balloons have been used in the operation for eight years at Portland, where the Air Force conducted the observations. The data collected at Salem will also be made available to the Air Force.

No reason was given for the change from Portland to Salem.

FROZEN ROASTS

Frozen roasts should be cooked in the same manner as fresh roasts, at 300 degrees for beef, veal and lamb and 350 degrees for pork. However, frozen roasts require approximately 1-3 to 1-3 again as long for cooking as thawed roasts.
