Yreka Men Will Not Run

YREKA — Two incumbents for city council seats have announced they will not be candidates for office at the city election in April. They are Mayor Adair Wilson and Councilman Jack Meamber.

Wilson, who has been mayor since 1931, said that he has served on the council for 12 years and feels it is time to step aside. Meamber gave business reasons as the basis for his decision not to seek office again. He is completing a four year term of office in April.

Candidates seeking office must file applications with the city clerk between the dates of January 26 and February 16.
