

First National Tells Increase

Deposit increases of more than 36 million dollars during 1955—a year which saw no mergers or bank purchases by First National—marks the bank's greatest period of growth-from-within in its entire 90 year history, C. B. Stephenson, president of the statewide branch banking system revealed Thursday.

Year-end statement of condition figures for the three offices of First National in the Klamath Falls area were reported by the branch managers. On December 31, 1955, deposits at the Klamath Falls branch were $19,237,597 and loans were $12,334,596, according to vice president and manager R. H. Tidale. Released at the same time were comparable totals for the branch for December 31, 1954. On that date, deposits were $17,601,916 and loans totaled $10,763,683.

At First National's South Sixth Street branch, Manager Myron E. Shannon reports that deposits on December 31, 1955 were $2,718,077 and loans were $2,369,623. One year ago, on the same date, deposits were $2,345,133 and loans were $2,004,143.

M. F. Shelton, manager of First National's Merrill branch, said that deposits there on December 31, 1955 were $2,128,024 and loans totaled $2,026,360. One year ago the branch reported deposits of $2,018,633 and loans totaling $1,996,740.

Record high deposits for the 71 First National offices on December 31 were $21,125,576, loans were $13,074,522, and resources totaled $903,435,043, the bank president said.

The deposit figure represents a gain of $10,517,020, over the October 5 bank call, and an increase of $36,394,149 from the $784,731,426 reported at the 1954 year end.

Loan volume, an important indicator of growth in Oregon communities, continued at a record high, with the December 31 figure revealing a gain of $52,429,439 during the past year.

THIS MODIFICATION on teletype machines being inspected by Airman Second Class Thomas L. Phipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Phipps, 1663 Greensprings Drive, was invented by him at Lincoln Air Force Base, Nebraska. Phipps made the part from old metal and radio parts. The gadget consists of a keyboard lock that will only release when the machine is transmitting properly, and a yellow light that burns only when the same condition exists. The modification saves approximately $200 yearly and increases the life of teletype motors 85 per cent.

Local Airman Invents Device That Saves AF $200 Yearly

A modification on U.S. Air Force teletype machines, which saves the Air Force approximately $200 per year at Lincoln Air Force Base, Nebraska, has been developed by a Klamath Falls airman.

Airman Second Class Thomas L. Phipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Phipps, 1663 Greensprings Drive, serving with the 1912 Air and Airways Communication Services detachment, constructed the modification on the teletype motors, which costs between two and three dollars in material and two hours of work, from scrap metal and old radio parts and switches.

Prior to installation of Phipps' modification, the transmitter motors on the teletype machines had to run 24 hours a day and repairs were necessary as often as 10 times a week. With the use of the part Phipps invented, the life of the motors has been increased 85 per cent since it is only necessary to run the motors 10 out of every 60 hours.

In the past it was possible for the teletype operators to transmit a message or weather sequence and not be aware of the fact that the transmitter hadn't sent all the message. Phipps solved this problem by combining a mechanical keyboard lock with his modification that will not release until the transmitter is functioning properly.

Airman Phipps entered the service in July, 1954 and took his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. After completing basic training he was assigned to Francis E. Warren Air Force Base, Wyoming where he took a 19 weeks course in teletype mechanics. He was graduated from Klamath Union High School in 1954.

"DENNIS THE MENACE"

DENNIS GAVE ME A PENNY TO TAKE HIS PLACE, MRS. MITCHELL.

Goodwill, Quality Said To Be On Par

Goodwill is on a par with quality in the field of merchandising according to Frank Goodwin, lecturer and professor at the University of Florida, who will address the Klamath Falls Knife and Fork Club at a dinner Friday at 6:45 p.m. in the Willard Hotel.

Goodwin is a contributor to many American magazines and is nationally recognized as an authority on business techniques. The speaker will be presented to the club by Charles (Buz) Larkin, Club President. George Elliott will preside. Invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. Dwayne Proett, pastor of Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church.

BIRTHDAY
LOS ANGELES (P)—Granny Burks says she's 100 years old and just as "mean and ornery as ever." At her birthday party yesterday Granny, whose first name, Virginia, is seldom used, gave her recipe for long life:

"Plenty of black-eyed peas, turnip greens, salt pork, corn pone, whiskey and snuff."

Van Vactor Gives Terms

Three students arrested by state police in connection with the theft of five jackets from the Lucky Lanes Bowling Alley faced District Judge D. E. Van Vactor Tuesday afternoon.

Edward I. Richardson, 15, waived preliminary hearing when arraigned on a charge of buying stolen property. Judge Van Vactor ordered him held for the grand jury. In lieu of $1,000 bail, Richardson was remanded to the county jail.

Another member of the trio, Donald Monroe, 23, was sentenced 60 days in the county jail for giving liquor to a minor.

The third youth, James Butler, 18, was fined $15 for being a minor in possession of intoxicating liquor. State police arrested the students at the bowling alley.

OLD LUCIFER

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Old Lucifer, who fathered 45,190 sons and daughters and is expected to sire some 3,000 more, died yesterday. The Holstein bull, whose full name is Luxembourg Admiral Lucifer, was believed to be the oldest bull in artificial breeding service in the United States. He died at the advanced age of 17 years and 4 months, equal to 95 years in the human span of life.
