

Lake To Hear Fire Report

LAKEVIEW—A board of review of last summer's forest fires on the Fremont National Forest will be held at Lakeview on January 19 and 20, announces John McDonald, supervisor of the Fremont Forest.

Attending the meeting will be a U.S. Forest Service representative from Washington, D.C. from the division of fire control, Kermit Lundstedt, Portland, assistant regional forester, who is in charge of fire control for the Pacific Northwest and his assistant, Leslie L. Colville, Portland, will be present as well as Reed H. Jensen, Portland, regional fiscal agent.

The board will review all the action taken to detect and suppress the recent fires and these findings will aid the forest service in future forest fire control, McDonald stated. This is the first board of review held on the Fremont since the forest fires of 1951.

Hitler's Death Told By Aide

CAMP FRIEDLAND, Germany (AP)—A member of Hitler's personal bodyguard released by the Russians said Thursday he helped burn the bodies of the Fuehrer and his bride, Eva Braun, but that only their legs were completely destroyed.

Because of a gasoline shortage, Lt. Harry Mengershausen reported, the upper parts of the bodies escaped the flames and were "well recognizable." He said they were buried in the chancellery garden near the air raid shelter in which the pair had committed suicide.

Mengershausen added that several months after the Russians captured him, they took him back to the burial spot to identify the grave. He said the grave was empty, and that apparently the Russians wanted only to confirm the location.

His account supported earlier prisoner reports that the Russians had recovered the bodies or parts of the bodies of Hitler and Eva Braun.

Hitler's dentist, former Maj. Helmut Kunz, said on his release from Russia last October that he flew to Moscow in 1945 to identify the Fuehrer's jawbone for the Russians. He said the Russians previously had exhumed Hitler's remains from the chancellery garden.

Marriage Site Decision Set

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP)—Prince Rainier III of Monaco wants his marriage to actress Grace Kelly to be held in his tiny domain because he thinks an American wedding would be a "circus," it was reported today.

A friend of the actress, who withheld identity, said the prince wanted the ceremony in his own country because he was frightened of the American press. Miss Kelly has kept mum on her wedding plans.

"The prince of the tiny European principality was 'simply amazed' when hundreds of reporters and photographers surrounded him and the attractive blonde star around New York and Philadelphia.

"He figures if the wedding is in Philadelphia it would be a circus, while in Monaco, with his own police, he would be in control of the event," the friend of the actress explained.

The stately actress disclosed that after she marries Prince Rainier, her full title will be: Her Serene Highness, Princess of Monaco, Duchesse of Valentinois, Princess of Chateau-Renaud, Countess of Belvoir and Baroness of St. Le.

"But I'll be known as just Grace to my husband, of course," she said.

Sarena Case History Told

By UNITED PRESS

Background on Al Sarena Mining Controversy — The hot-tempered congressional investigation of 15 Oregon mining claims is about timber — not minerals.

Al Sarena Mines, Inc., of Mobile, Ala., applied to the Interior Department in October 1948 for rights to 23 Oregon mining claims. The claims are in the Rogue River National Forest.

If the application were granted, the Sarena Company would have had rights to the ore in the ground and the timber on top of it. But the department — then under the Truman administration — rejected the application of 15 of the claims involving 309 acres of forest. It said they didn't contain enough minerals.

Sarena appealed, claiming some confusion about assay reports on the claims. A new assay was ordered. It was done by a Mobile firm, the A. W. Williams Inspection Co. The assay report showed enough minerals in the claims to justify development. The Interior Department — now under the Republican Eisenhower administration — reversed its old decision in January 1954.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore) charged the Sarena case is a precedent for giving away the national forests. Rep. Earl Chudoff (D-Pa.) said the Sarena Company appears to be "in the lumber rather than mining business."

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) charged congressional investigation of the claims was an attempt "to smear the Eisenhower administration."

Sam Sheppard Turns Hopeful

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard today held new hope to win his freedom following a decision by the Ohio Supreme Court to review his second-degree murder conviction.

The handsome 32-year-old osteopath was convicted of the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, Marilyn, a year ago last December after one of the most sensational murder trials of modern times.

Although Sheppard admitted to newsmen in an unusual press conference at Ohio Penitentiary that he could "again live a full and normal life," he was obviously he was looking forward to the day when he might rejoin his eight-year-old son, Chip.

However, he said he did not want his son to come and visit him even though it was permitted by prison regulations.

"I don't want Chip's picture in the paper," he said, "and I don't want stories about him visiting his father in prison, much as I would love to see him."

Sheppard met with newsmen only a few hours after the Ohio Supreme Court announced its willingness to review the case. The court, after studying the record, will determine whether he gets a new trial or the life prison sentence stands.

Sheppard said he was convinced that "some day" the killer of his wife would confess to the crime. He said this was based on an "inner hope, an inner feeling, not something I have material knowledge of."

Tule, Macdoel Lead With Spuds

TULELAKE—Tulelake and Macdoel in Siskiyou County grew 78 per cent of California's certified seed potatoes in 1955, according to figures compiled by Jack Slezak, federal and state potato inspector.

Acres wise, the California Seed Certification Department passed on 4,182 acres, of which 2,962 acres were grown locally.

The White Rose variety led with 1,693 acres followed by Netteed Gems, 1,126, Pontiacs, 104 and Kennebecs, 39 acres.

Nationally, California rates fifth in production of certified potato seed. Maine heads the list with 43,724 acres; Minnesota produces 29,715; North Dakota, 19,503 and Idaho 12,349. Twenty six states in the nation recorded 131,042 acres of certified seed in 1955, which is six per cent below 1954.

Klamath County Economy Reviewed At C of C Forum

The economy of Klamath County received several important prophecies in 1955, reported R. Frank Tucker, chamber manager, at the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce annual report forum held Wednesday noon in the Winema Hotel.

House Scores Farm Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republicans served notice yesterday they think the new Eisenhower administration farm program falls short in the matter of a prompt cure for falling incomes.

GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts, who presided at the closed session to which all House Republicans were invited, told newsmen afterward it was the consensus of the group that more immediate relief is needed to help farmers out of a current price-cost squeeze.

Martin said there was general agreement on the merits of the long-range proposals which President Eisenhower laid before Congress in a special message Monday. Among other things, Eisenhower proposed a new soil bank, designed to pay farmers for removing land from production of crops which are in surplus and planting them to grass and trees.

Martin said House Republicans suggested an emergency beef buying program and stepped-up purchasing of pork to bolster prices for livestock producers; more purchases of such meat for the school lunch program, and liberalized farm credit, especially for veterans, to prevent farm mortgage foreclosures.

Tucker pointed out that this will mean a payroll of about $2,500,000 each year for at least 12 years which will be added to the county's economy. It also will mean a broadening of the county's tax base.

The year 1955 marked the beginning of construction at the Klamath Falls air base by the U.S. Air Force. About 1,100 USAF service personnel will be added to the population of the county, Tucker reminded the chamber members that, in addition to these military personnel, and their families, many service trades workers will be attracted to Klamath Falls to serve the air base families.

The military payroll of about $2,500,000 annually will have the same effect on the county's economy as the addition of another industry the size of Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. Tucker warned that the influx of air personnel this year will pose certain housing and other problems for the community.

In addition to the payroll at the air base the Air Force will advertise from time to time in Klamath Falls for bids for such items as packing and crating, hand tools, milk and bread, parts for motor vehicles, plumbing and electrical supplies, laundry, lumber and plywood, gasoline and oil and parts for various machines used on the base.

In further explaining the work of the chamber seeking to interest new industry in the Basin, Tucker said that the chamber has been working for two years developing briefs on the possibility of locating a pulp industry here and that at present two firms have indicated interest in the possibility of building pulp or cellulose plants to utilize the immense stands of heretofore unproductive jack pine in the county. Such a plant would represent about 26 million dollars in plant investment and would employ about 425 men. The chamber official said he hoped that planning on this development would be completed in 1956, at which time a public announcement fully explaining it could be made.

In the agriculture picture of the year, Lloyd Gift, the chamber sponsored candidate for the Pacific Northwest grassman of the year, won this coveted title for his work in developing scab-rock Langell Valley land into a productive ranch.

The road system of Klamath County continued to keep its place of leadership, as the county has more paved roads than any other county in the state. The need for completion of the all-weather route to Medford via Lake of the Woods was stressed by Tucker. "This route is needed to boost the flow of commerce from East to West," he said.

It was pointed out that the largest gap in the East-West highway system of the country from Chicago west exists in the route from Winnemucca, Nevada to the coast via Klamath Falls. The completion of the Lake of the Woods route would close an important link in this gap.

The civic affairs committee, watching with growing concern the problems of the south suburban area, have initiated sewerage cost studies of the area to determine ways to alleviate the serious sewage situation which exists in that area today, the chamber official said. He added that the chamber is concerned with the problems of the entire county, not just Klamath Falls.

The Oregon Legislative Interim Committee on urban problems will be in Klamath Falls soon to hold hearings on these problems.

The importance of tourists and business to the county's business was shown by Tucker. He said that between 15 and 20 million dollars in tourist money is spent in the county each year.

The 1955 bank debits of the county showed an increase of over 41 million dollars over the biggest previous year. The total for 1955 was $317,463,000 as against the biggest former year's record of about $276 million dollars.

Past school system planning, in both the county and city systems, was lauded by Tucker. He said that a segment of public administration in which past planning for the growth the area is experiencing now was paying off.

One note of pessimism was expressed by Tucker when he reported that chamber membership was up to the national average but that the chamber's income was $30,000 per annum under the U.S. average.

In closing the chamber official stated that continued dynamic city and county governments are needed to continue the expansion of the Basin.

Ferrin To Lead School Panel

H. B. Ferrin, city school superintendent of Lakeview, will moderate a panel discussion, which will highlight a Klamath County session of the Oregon Education Association at Fremont School, Saturday, at 1:30 p.m.

"What is the Role of Educational Agencies in the Total Life Development of the Child," will be the topic for the panel, which was arranged by Darrell Potter, vice president and program chairman of the Klamath County OEA chapter.

Klamath County guest speakers appearing on the panel will be Gary Robertson, Klamath Falls school supervisor; the Rev. D. L. Proett of Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Isabelle Brinker, supervisory elementary schools in Klamath County and Mrs. Art L. Moore, girl scout leader. Members of the panel will discuss various aspects of the theme, after which the discussion will be thrown open to questions.
