

PLANNING THE POLIO AUCTION recently were these members of the Klamath Falls Lions Club. This annual March of Dimes event will be staged by the members of the civic club over radio station KFLW. They will auction off articles donated by the merchants of Klamath Falls with all the proceeds going to the March of Dimes. The Lions committee members shown here are, seated, Deane Sacher, chairman and standing, left to right, are Joe T. "Colonel" Meador, the auctioneer; Chet Clark and Dale Childers. Ed Dittrick, not pictured, is also a member of the committee. The auction will probably be staged for several nights, Sacher said, and will begin Tuesday, January 24.

Council Oks City Board Nominations

Mayor Paul Landry's reappointment of all municipal department heads was approved Monday night by the City Council. Officials who will stay on the job for at least another year include Police Chief Orville Hamilton, Fire Chief Roy Rowe and City Engineer E. A. (Taxi) Thomas. The council also heard a report from City Building Inspector Vern Scherger showing construction permits issued during 1955 represented an expenditure of $1,340,475. This was 490,000 more than was expended for building in Klamath Falls during the previous year, despite the fact that there were no schools or other large projects during 1955. Most of the 1955 building was confined to residential construction. The council accepted the resignation of Elbert Stiles as a member of the municipal joint airport zoning board. Mayor Landry suggested John McAndrew as a successor to Stiles. City Attorney Henry Perkins was instructed to prepare a resolution for appointment of McAndrew, which will be voted upon at next week's council meeting. City Engineer Thomas was authorized by the council to retain the services of John Cunningham, Portland consulting engineer, to advise city officials on the complex sewage system expansion plan. Councilman Walter Fleet told the council that the Klamath Disposal Company has found a possible location for the city dump near Ashland Junction. Fleet added that the county court has agreed to build a road from the highway to the dump site. However, before the new site can be utilized, according to Fleet, the disposal company must find a buyer for its land north of the city. Officials of Oregon Technical Institute and property owners in the vicinity of the present dump demanded its removal. They said it was an "eyesore" and was keeping down real estate values in the area.

FIGURE-FLATTERY
Most flattering princess lines fashion this lovely spring dress—perfectly proportioned for the shorter, fuller figure! A joy to sew—diagram shows how easy it is! You'll want to make several for day and evening occasions—in shantung, linen, ray cottons! Pattern 9280: Half Sizes 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½. Size 16½ takes 4½ yards 39-inch fabric. This easy-to-use pattern gives perfect fit. Complete, illustrated Sew Chart shows you every step. Send thirty-five cents in coins for this pattern—add 5 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing. Send to Marian Martin, care of Herald and News, Pattern Dept., 232 West 18th St., New York 11, N.Y. Print plainly name, address with zone, size and style number.

Board Names ARF Chairman

Mrs. Martha McCollum, Klamath Falls, chairman of the Klamath Falls committee of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation for the past two years, has been named as a member of the state board of the Oregon chapter. Her appointment came at the chapter's annual meeting held in Portland January 16. Gordon E. Wilson, Portland insurance man, reelected president, said Mrs. McCollum's election to the board is in line with the chapter's effort to render service to a larger number of arthritic disease sufferers throughout the state. The organization's program for 1956, Wilson said, contemplates continued service to doctors through clinics, medical information and consultation; setting up of arthritic clinics under the auspices of local medical societies and establishment of physical therapy centers in various hospitals throughout the state which will be available. The chapter is hopeful also, according to Wilson, of establishing mobile home case facilities where local need is determined by medical consultants and plans to continue research projects at the University of Oregon, Medical School in Portland and in the chemistry department of the university at Eugene. In his annual report, Wilson said that the Oregon chapter has materially furthered its research program during 1955 and increased by 50 per cent its service to problem cases through diagnostic clinics in various communities throughout the state.

BALLOTS TO BE MAILED
MALIN — Ballots will be in the mail in the near future to members of the Malin Chamber of Commerce who will vote on five new directors to serve on the board. Ballots will be returned before the annual chamber of commerce crab feed to be held on February 27 in the Broadway Hall. New directors will be introduced following the dinner.

★ Exclusive in the Post ★

Ridgway's Fighting Report!

This week a great soldier tells the stirring story of his battles—including the one he lost to Secretary of Defense Wilson. For the first time, Gen. Ridgway tells what really happened behind closed doors in Washington. He tells how he was forced to cut nearly a third of the Army's manpower... how he was subjected to pressure when he tried to protest... why President Eisenhower's '54 State of the Union message came as the biggest shock of his life! Get your copy today and read this first thrilling chapter of "My Battles in War and Peace." The Saturday Evening POST January 21, 1956 - 15¢ A CURTIS MAGAZINE

George Takes Direct Issue With Dulles' 'Brink' Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today American foreign policy should be to "go as far away as we can in justice and honor from any danger of involvement in war." George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and chief congressional spokesman for the Democrats on international matters, thus took indirect issue with the "brink of war" statements ascribed to Secretary of State Dulles.

Secret Prints Found On Body

GEORGETOWN, Mass. (UP)—Top secret East Coast defense blueprints were found today in the briefcase of a murdered engineer. The body of Robert H. Himmier, 31, Cumberland, Md., an employe of the Bendix Engineering Co. of Maryland, had been found Saturday night in a cemetery here. Police said he had been shot twice at close range with a pistol. His car was found abandoned in Boston early today with the briefcase and ransacked suitcases in it. After the slaying the car was used in a $50 gasoline station holdup, police said. The gasoline station owner said he was sure he could identify the holdup man if he saw him again, police said. The FBI said the briefcase contained blueprints for various Nike and other radar defenses for the East Coast. It was not known whether any of the papers were missing. Police said it was possible that Himmier was shot to death by a hitchhiker who did not know the value of the papers. The victim's wife telephoned The Boston Globe to ask that authorities be notified what her husband's briefcase contained. The Globe said Mrs. Himmier told a reporter her husband requested that officials be contacted in event of his death.

TOWN CAPTURED
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Tatou news agency said Tuesday more than 100 anti-Communist guerrillas captured the town of Jung-Cheng on the Red Chinese mainland and held it several hours last September. Jung-Cheng is on the coast of Shantung Province, 60 miles east of Chetou.

DR. J. W. LOWE
Chiropractic Physician
Complete Spinal Treatment
Office Ph. 2-1131 - Res. 2-0182
111 So. 4th St. Stevens Hotel Bldg.

TREE TOPPING
Call
LAKESHORE GARDENS NURSERY
For: topping, trimming and taking out trees, shearing evergreens and landscaping. Fruit and flowering trees, shrubs and evergreens. Phone 4286.

ASK FOR PURE-PAK BRAND WIENERS - LUNCH MEATS TOP QUALITY Locally Made, and Unconditionally GUARANTEED! At your local food store

OUNA Announces Pofluck Dinner
The Klamath Falls Chapter of the Oregon United Nations Association is holding a potluck dinner at the YMCA, January 18 at 6:30 p.m. The program will be presented by the International Relations group of KUHS, lead by Paul Deler. Students participating are: Carol Larson, Bill Perkins, Sharon Taylor, Kay Kelsay, Fairy Gardner, Twila Greene, Wally Wander, Bondell Crawford, Marilyn Nancarrow, Vickie Durham, Veragene Henzel.

Judy Hadley, Orin Ornsbee and Beth Robertson. This group discusses international problems and the part played by the United Nations in such problems. The dinner is open to all members of the OUNA and other interested persons. Anyone desiring to attend only the program are welcome.

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

Democrats, including Speaker of the House Rayburn of Texas, have called "dangerous" the statements attributed to Dulles in a Life magazine article. Dulles was quoted as saying the ability to go to the verge of war and yet avoid conflict is a "necessary art" of diplomacy. The secretary has verified the accuracy of the quotes in their substance. Republicans, including Vice President Nixon, have ranged in support of Dulles in this controversy. The magazine article was greeted with strong criticisms and expressions of dismay in the British press. And today the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda was quoted by the Moscow radio as declaring the article shows Dulles wants to maintain "international tension on the brink of war."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

"STARS OF TOMORROW," is this year's theme for the annual dance review to be presented on Friday, January 20 at the Pelican Theater by students of the Isa Dorah Moldovan Dance Studio. Twenty six acts will be given by 125 young dancers in addition to the regular picture features. Front row (left to right) are Dee Milne, Nan Clarke, Cheryl Reinmiller, Sandra Lawson. Back row, same order, Cathy Murdock, Sally Read and Jaycene Bunch. — Photo by Ferebee

OUNA Announces Pofluck Dinner
The Klamath Falls Chapter of the Oregon United Nations Association is holding a potluck dinner at the YMCA, January 18 at 6:30 p.m. The program will be presented by the International Relations group of KUHS, lead by Paul Deler. Students participating are: Carol Larson, Bill Perkins, Sharon Taylor, Kay Kelsay, Fairy Gardner, Twila Greene, Wally Wander, Bondell Crawford, Marilyn Nancarrow, Vickie Durham, Veragene Henzel.

ASK FOR PURE-PAK BRAND WIENERS - LUNCH MEATS TOP QUALITY Locally Made, and Unconditionally GUARANTEED! At your local food store

TREE TOPPING
Call
LAKESHORE GARDENS NURSERY
For: topping, trimming and taking out trees, shearing evergreens and landscaping. Fruit and flowering trees, shrubs and evergreens. Phone 4286.

Judy Hadley, Orin Ornsbee and Beth Robertson. This group discusses international problems and the part played by the United Nations in such problems. The dinner is open to all members of the OUNA and other interested persons. Anyone desiring to attend only the program are welcome.

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

George told newsmen he is not concerned primarily about the statements in the article because he said they may be subject to "qualification or modification." But because of the controversy and international reaction that stemmed from the article, George said he intends to state his views to the Senate. Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview he would like to know Dulles' purpose in approving publication at this time of an article in which he was represented as saying that the nation three times had faced war in Asia and had avoided it by his and President Eisenhower's efforts. "If the secretary wants bipartisanship on foreign policy—and I am sure he does—I can't see why he releases an article of this kind," Mansfield said. Rayburn said Dulles' actions had added up to "a dangerous performance for the country" which he said might leave the United States with fewer world friends. But Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) accused the Democrats of raising a "political dust storm." He said this could not "cloud the incontestable fact that we are at peace under the leadership of President Eisenhower and Dulles." Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) told the Senate Dulles was only reciting "historical facts."

Miller Rites Held In KF

KLAMATH FALLS — Funeral services for William Jennings Miller, 81, were held on January 9 from Ward's Klamath Funeral Home in Klamath Falls. Mr. Miller died at Hillside Hospital on January 5. He had lived in Oregon since 1943 coming from Smithville, Oklahoma. He was born October 12, 1900 at DeQueen, Arkansas. On January 22, 1925 he was married to Leona Geraldine Turner. Three children were born to them: one, Mrs. Arlee Collier, living at Bly. In addition to his widow and one daughter living here, he is survived by a brother, Henry Miller of Bly and one sister, Mrs. Drucy Williamson, Amarillo, Texas. Mr. Miller was employed by the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, camps six and nine from 1951 to 1955 and by McGee and Lilly of the Bly Lumber Company from July of last year until his last illness. He was a member of the Church of Christ. Final rites and interment were in Klamath Memorial Park.

BLY WILL TO CLOSE
Bly — The Bly Lumber Company will be shut down until about March 1, according to D. L. McGee, co-owner of the operation. During the shut-down, a seven-foot band mill is being installed. Paul Buck, Klamath Falls contractor, is in charge of the cement work.

SM NIKOLAI VODKA T H
ASK FOR PURE-PAK BRAND WIENERS - LUNCH MEATS TOP QUALITY Locally Made, and Unconditionally GUARANTEED! At your local food store
$4.40 / 1/2 doz
$2.85 / doz
300 proof 100% grain neutral spirits Product of 1955 Lower 48, U.S.A. Dist. Phila.

Malin Firemen Schedule Ball
MALIN — February 4 is the date set for the annual Malin Firemen Ball to be held in the Broadway Hall. Funds from the dance are used for maintenance of the volunteer department and purchase of new equipment. New officers of the department, Orville Kirkpatrick, president, Francis Kolkow, vice president and James Phillips, secretary and treasurer, took over posts at a meeting held January 16. John Hershfield is fire chief. Plans for the dance were made during the session. Baldy's band will play for the annual dance.

OLYMPIA KITCHENS
White and Colors in Steel. A Western Made Product for Western Built Homes.
FOR Builders and Contractors
SEE US NOW
Tele-Pliance Center Wholesale Distributors
11th & Walnut Ph. 7709

JOHNSON'S TAILOR SHOP
926 Klamath Avenue
OPEN FOR BUSINESS
Made to Measure Suits - Alterations

Best Buick yet
AT A NEW LOW PRICE—4-Season Comfort in your new Buick with FRIGIDAIRE CONDITIONING — WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

"Drive from factory Save up to $188.00 See Your BUICK Dealer"

1330 Main St. Klamath Falls, Ore.

BIGGEST OF THE BIG 3 - and mighty proud of it!
You certainly should look at the '56 Buick SPECIAL!
We've said it before, and we'll say it again: If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—and the sales figures make the proof of that stronger and stronger. Just ask yourself: which cars would normally be in the top 3 of America's best sellers? The well-known smaller cars—naturally. But which cars are in that Big 3? Two of the well-known smaller cars, and Buick—for over two years running now. That means Buick prices are well within reach of more and more people—thanks primarily to the budget-tagged Buick SPECIAL, like the one pictured above. And that's the whole point of the matter. For this low-priced Buick SPECIAL—so close in cost to the smaller cars—is so much more automobile for the money, it's the stand-out buy of its field. It's the biggest of the Big 3 in power, thrill, in comfort, in size and breadth and luxury and sheer roadability. It's the biggest of the Big 3 in the solidity and softness of its all-coil-spring ride—in the sweep of its styling—and in the pure thrill of its performance. For where else but in Buick can you get the nimble getaway, the gas-saving mileage, the electrifying switch-pitch action and the absolute smoothness of the new Variable Pitch Dynaflow? Come in to see and drive the biggest bundle of high-powered beauty and energy ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series. It's proud we certainly are to be able to offer so much car for the money—but nothing to how proud you'll be when you boss a new SPECIAL. Can you come in tomorrow? *New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. SEE JACKIE GLEASON ON TV—Every Saturday Evening