New directors were elected Tuesday by members of the Klamath Grade A Producers Association at a meeting in Klamath Falls.

The new board will organize and elect the association president at a meeting next Monday evening. Two new directors were elected to serve three year terms on the board. They are Stanley Masten Jr., of Poe Valley and E. G. (Ed) Born of the Crystal Springs area. Two other directors were re-elected. Morse Scores Secrecy Trend

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) warned Tuesday night against what he called the "dangerous trend" in this country toward "government by secrecy and concealment."

"There is no substitute for public disclosure when it comes to protecting your rights as citizens," Sen. Morse told the 37th anniversary dinner of the Brotherhood of Olab Shalom Hebrew Congregation.

He said the substantive rights of the people under our laws are suffering because of the impairment of their procedural rights, and cited "the practice of secrecy in legislative and executive branches of government" as an infringement on the procedural rights of citizens.

Sen. Morse acknowledged a need for national security secrecy in some instances, but said "at least 80 per cent of the information kept in executive concealment is information which a free citizenry is entitled to know about."

RIVER DIMES DRIVE

The March of Dimes drive in the Sprague River area will be sparked by co-chairmen Mrs. Lois Dixon and Mrs. Nina Geinger, announced Jay Kroksh, county chairman of the anti-polio drive, today. The co-chairmen are planning several events to aid the fund campaign. Kroksh said.

"Jim says I'm a gem!"

Jim can't get over how I manage to keep the house looking like a million and still have time for the many things I like to do. My secret is simply finding faster, easier ways to do my housework. Take my wood floors. I used to spend a full day scrubbing and waxing. Then I plopped into bed and worn out. Now I use Bruce Cleaning Wax and it's almost a snap. Bruce cleans and waxes in one easy operation. Takes me only half the time and effort. And my wood floors never looked better. Have you tried Bruce Cleaning Wax? You'll like it. So will your husband!

Incidentally, I've found other Bruce floor products help me, too. There's Bruce Floor Cleaner for cleaning and lighter waxing, Bruce Paste Wax, Bruce Asphalt Tile Cleaner, Bruce Asphalt Tile Self-Polishing Wax and the new Bruce Self-Polishing Wax. Yes, for floors it's Bruce!

Spuds Needed For Flood Relief

TULELAKE—A few more potatoes are needed to make up the carload to be sent by growers of the Tulelake Basin to the Yuba City flood victims.

Clifford Jenkins, manager of the Tulelake Growers Association, has announced that the truck which will deliver the shipment to Yuba City will leave the El-Bee (Charles Blumenthal) potato cellar at Hatfield at 1 p.m. Thursday, January 19.

The shipment will be taken free of charge by the Ruttman and Alcorn Trucking Service and delivered to the Red Cross which will distribute the food item, also free of charge.

Anyone who can contribute may deliver to the warehouse or call the growers' office, Tulelake, 7-1501 for pickup.

Guessing Contest To Aid Campaign

A bean guessing contest to aid the March of Dimes is underway between the Eagles Lodge, American Legion, VFW and Moose Lodge. A jar of beans has been placed in each meeting hall and members buy a chance to guess the number of beans in the jar. All the proceeds go to the March of Dimes drive.

The winner within each club wins a prize for the closest guess and the club with the biggest contribution to the dimes will receive a March of Dimes drive award certificate.

Pilot Makes Flight Sans Lights; 19 Passengers OK

By UNITED PRESS

Three passenger-loaded airliners flirted with disaster Tuesday. Two persons were killed but 51 others escaped death.

In the weirdest of the near-tragedies a Boston-to-New York airliner wandered through a snowstorm with its radio and all instruments knocked out by an electric failure.

The pilot, training his flashlight on a crude magnetic compass, finally found his way to La Guardia field Tuesday night and made a safe landing. The 21 passengers and three crew members aboard the North-east Airlines plane were unhurt.

Two persons were killed and a co-pilot was reported missing when a DC3 airliner with 18 persons aboard crashed in a snow-bank in Canada's rugged northern ore country.

But a disaster was averted near Green Bay, Wis., when a pilot belly-flopped his dead-engine DC3 onto a frozen field. His expert piloting was credited with possibly saving the lives of 12 persons.

In another air mishap, two jet trainers collided in the air near Troy, Ohio Tuesday night. One of the pilots was killed but the other parachuted safely.

At New York City, Pilot Robert Francis credited his plane's narrow escape to "the grace of God."

The airliner's electric system failed six or seven minutes after he took off from Boston on what should have been a 54-minute flight to New York. The snow was so heavy he couldn't locate the Boston field to make a landing.

So, for three hours and a half, the darkened plane "groundhopped" while Francis and his crew tried to pick up landmarks. He had to swing over the Atlantic Ocean to avoid a possible collision, but made a perfect landing once he sighted La Guardia.

There was no such clearcut escape for those aboard a twin-engine Quebec airliner which crashed during a snowstorm midway between the Knob Lake ore mining area and Seven Islands on the St. Lawrence River.

The bodies of the pilot and a passenger were found in the wreckage, the co-pilot was missing, and the stewardess was critically injured. One passenger was also seriously hurt, while the other 13 suffered minor injuries.

The third air emergency occurred when the fuel pump failed in a Chicago-to-Green Bay North Central Airlines plane.

Both engines were knocked out and Pilot A. J. Roeske radioed that he couldn't make it to Green Bay. Instead, he made a wheels-up landing on a plowed field three miles from the airport and the big plane slid several hundred feet before coming to a safe stop.
