Northwest Politicians Support Budget Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's budget requests for the Pacific Northwest drew a favorable ear from Oregon-Washington members of Congress Tuesday. Except for certain projects not included, Republicans were unanimous in their support. Even Democrats, normally critical of administration proposals for regional resource development, said the proposals were more acceptable than in past years.

Sen. Bridges Praises Dulles Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today Secretary of State Dulles deserves praise for policies designed to "keep us out of war."

Bridges said in an interview he agrees with Dulles the United States must take a "calculated risk for peace" when its vital interests are challenged by a potential aggressor.

Dulles refrained at a news conference yesterday from giving full endorsement to the Life magazine article. He did not dispute the statement it attributed to him that the "ability to get to the verge without getting into war is a necessary art" of diplomacy.

He said the article gave him more credit than was his due, and that it oversimplified and placed special emphasis on some aspects of foreign policy.

In St. Paul, Minn., Stevenson said Dulles was represented as saying the nation thrice had been on the verge of war in Asia and avoided it. At about the same time, Stevenson said, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway was saying that during his tenure as former Army chief of staff defense decisions were based more on budget and political considerations than on military needs.

"I need hardly point out that, for this nation to walk to the verge of war three times in three years, while drastically reducing our military defenses for domestic political advantage can only be counted suicidal folly," Stevenson said.

"Sabre rattling, threats of atomic war and disregard of our allies will not reduce tensions, make friends or inspire confidence in the United States. And they tend to confirm the propaganda that America is a greater danger to peace than Russia."

FISHING POLE FOUND
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP)—When Hart Stuart dropped his new glass fly rod overboard while fishing on Torch Lake last summer, he gave it up for lost. Yesterday, while ice skating over 20 feet of water, he spotted the rod. With a companion he cut a hole and fished it out—rod, reel and line.

also termed the requests "generally favorable" but suggested they may have been made so "under the pressure of a presidential campaign year."

Both Magnusons, each a member of his chamber's appropriations committee, criticized as too low the administration request of $ million dollars for Ice Harbor Dam and $13,850,000 for Columbia Basin work.

The senator also questioned the President's reference to appropriations to be sought for John Day and Bruce's Eddy Dams if partnership legislation is passed for their construction jointly by the federal government and local interests.

"If it endorses the present administration proposals," Magnuson said, "it would result in power so expensive it would be of little use to the Pacific Northwest."

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said the budget "contains a clear pattern." "Where construction has been begun because of the appropriations made by Congress last year, the administration has recommended substantial funds, although not enough in the case of Cougar and Hills Creek."

"Where only planning has been begun, the administration is continuing its starvation plan in an effort to advance the partnership scheme. This is the case at John Day and Green Peter-White Bridge."

Morse said he had been advised by Army Engineers that the lump sum request for dam planning includes $500,000 for John Day and $100,000 for planning on Green Peter-White Bridge project. Both requests, he said, are "grossly inadequate."

Rep. Coon (R-Ore), however, said requests for various Northwest projects "show the President is aware of our problems and needs."

Rep. Horan (R-Wash.), a member of the House Appropriations Committee which now goes to work on the spending program, praised balancing of the budget.

"It is a commendable achievement in the face of so many statements that it couldn't be done," he declared.

Rep. Ellsworth (R-Ore) said, "In general, I like everything he put in—my only regret is that we couldn't have a start on several other authorized navigation projects along the Oregon Coast."

He said the $2,400,000 asked for the Talent irrigation project should get well under way a project which will be "a lifesaver to the economy of Southern Oregon."

And money asked for Hills Creek Dam, he said, "will mean good progress on that project to prevent such flood disasters as occurred in the Oakridge area."

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) was strongly critical of the President's suggestions that Bruce's Eddy Dam be built under partnership procedures.

"Thus we see the Hells Canyon chickens at last coming home to roost," he declared.

"Action by Secretary McKay has forced loss of the great Hells Canyon site, where no fisheries or recreational values are at stake."

FUNDS FOR THE POLIO DRIVE were turned over recently by Dick Hicks, left, co-operator of the Market Basket grocery store, Ninth and Pine streets, to U.S. Air Force T-Sgt. J. B. Shrum, one of the special events chairmen of the March of Dimes drive. The grocery store owners held a coffee and chili-dog sale in their store on Saturday, January 7 and turned over all the funds from the sale to aid the local anti-polio funds drive. The store collected $94.40 to aid the campaign in the fight against the dread polio disease.

Brazil Extends State Of Siege

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The Chamber of Deputies voted 147-63 last night to approve a second 30-day extension in a state of siege for Brazil.

Under the new act, the modified martial law would continue until Feb. 26. It must be approved also by the Senate.

The state of siege was proclaimed originally to prevent the Supreme Court from considering President Jono Cafe Filho's petition that he be returned to office. The government of Caretaker President Nereu Ramos, who took over when Cafe had a heart attack, charged Cafe was involved in a plot to prevent the inauguration of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek.

Board Approves Hatchery Fund

DUNSMUIR — At a meeting in Sacramento the California Wildlife Conservation Board approved the allocation of $54,000 for the Mount Shasta Hatchery for the construction of broodstock ponds.

The new ponds will replace the present old concrete ones north of the hatchery buildings. The new ponds will be similar to the raceway ponds built a few years ago, but of an improved design. As it is necessary to handle the brood fish often the ponds are designed accordingly.

Bridge Declared Unsafe For Use

DUNSMUIR — The Shearer Avenue bridge leading to Champion Park subdivision in south Dunsmuir has been declared unsafe for heavy vehicles by the county road department. The recent heavy v storms have undermined underpinning and school authorities were notified Monday that school buses could not use the bridge with safety until repairs could be made.

The funds are derived from pari-mutuel racing and are part of a fund established by the Legislature for capital outlay work. Once the various projects are completed the operation is turned over to the Department of Fish and Game.

A 4-ton limit has been placed on the bridge and school buses are being required to detour by way of the county line bridge two miles south. Repairs probably will not be made until spring, school principals were told.

Bombay Police Impose Curfew Against Violence

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Police imposed a 24-hour curfew on Bombay's big industrial sector today after three days of violence protesting Prime Minister Nehru's plan to sever the west coast metropolis from Bombay state. So far, seven dead were reported in the state.

The rioters held virtual control of the factory area until police and special armed units drove them out with shots, tear gas and club charges. Scores were injured and hundreds arrested.

The mob, which demanded inclusion of Bombay in a new Marathi-speaking state, set fires, felled trees to barricade highways and hurled stones at passing trains, buses and cars.

Leftist unions ordered a general strike and downtown Bombay was deserted, with business virtually at standstill. Shops which opened were looted.

At noon today city fire brigade had answered 40 calls in 14 hours, but no big buildings were reported attacked.

Seeking to end the strike, police arrested S. A. Dange, leading Indian Communist and vice president of the Red-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

Most foreign visitors were safe inside police barricades, which kept the mobs out of the heart of the city.

Although the roaming rioters made communications difficult, reports indicated the violence was spreading to Poona and other centers in the state. A night curfew was proclaimed for the whole Belgium area, 250 miles south of Bombay.

The violence and today's strike protested extension to Bombay of the Nehru government's plan for reorganizing state boundaries in accordance with the distribution of the country's dozen major languages.

The central government announced Monday night that Bombay state would be split between the Gujaratis, who speak Mohandas Gandhi's tongue, and the Marathas, who speak Marathi.

The city of Bombay, whose population is divided about equally between the two language groups, is to be a separate state under direct federal administration from New Delhi.

Marathi-speaking demonstrators launched the campaign of violence, demanding that the city be the capital of their state. In similar riots they staged last Nov. 21, twelve persons were killed and 266 wounded.

The Communists quickly jumped into the fray. The party's general secretary, Ajoy Ghosh, charged in a press statement that "in defiance of all democratic principles, an undemocratic setup is being imposed on Bombay primarily at the dictates of big business."

Among the foreign visitors restricted to their downtown hotels was U. S. evangelist Billy Graham, who arrived here last night by plane to begin an Indian tour.

"We have seen no violence," Graham reported by telephone from the waterfront Taj Mahal Hotel, "but we have not been outside the hotel since we came. We are waiting now to confer with our advisers here, but there is no thought of canceling my public meeting here Friday."

Mabel Morris Takes $32,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Mabel Morris, a 75-year-old retired school teacher who has been receiving city financial aid, took her $32,000 winnings and quit The $64,000 Question CBS television quiz show last night.

She said doctors had examined her pulse and told her the excitement of trying for the grand prize would be too great.

Mrs. Morris, an English-born widow, had reached the $32,000 mark in four previous sessions of the show by answering complicated questions about Charles Dickens and his books—her chosen category.

She has been a resident of the Home for Aged and Infirm Hebrews for several years.

Mrs. Morris has said she would repay $6,000 or $7,000 to the City Welfare Department, which has contributed to her upkeep at the home. Approximately $14,000 in federal taxes and $2,000 in state taxes will have to be paid.

Even though she will have about $9,000 or $10,000 left for herself, an official at the home said her desire to remain there would be worked out somehow.
