Pathway To Beauty

Until someone finds the fountain of youth . . . a sleek hair style, smartly fitted clothes and special beauty preparations are the wonder-workers that will make your years more attractive. Since the skin loses about 20 per cent of its natural oils by the time the fortieth birthday rolls around, lubrication is one of the most essential parts of your beauty routine that helps guard against wrinkles and flakiness that appear so easily on dry skin.

The very latest way to smooth beauty onto the skin is with Charles of the Ritz brand new discovery, Special Formula Emollient. This is an all-round emollient so richly endowed with luxurious ingredients that it serves as the one perfect lubricant dry and mature skins need. Beneath the cream's mellow, smooth surface lies the source of its great beauty and lubricating power. For, interlaced throughout the formula are three important vegetable, mineral and organic oil groups which are potent beauty treatments in themselves, and when wedded in the formula, set off a unique chain reaction. This combined action accelerates and multiplies each oil group to fuller, finer dimensions and richer, deeper lubrication.

"From the moment you slip on the filmy, rich cream, you'll be providing the skin with a concentrated and instantaneous softening and beautifying treatment," promises Charles of the Ritz. Even make-up goes on more easily and evenly over a smooth, supple complexion.

Women whose skins are fragile, thin-textured, dry or mature will discover this light-weight, full-bodied cream an indispensable beautifier in their cosmetic wardrobe to use all year 'round. And all skins will love the flowing texture that magically liquifies to a transparent film as it touches the skin, leaving behind a sheer dewy finish that pleasantly protects during the sleeping hours.

Because Special Formula Emollient is such a quick-acting, modern formula so easy to use, you may want to apply it a few minutes during the day as well as before retiring, to cuddle your complexion to a radiant, softer look of youth.

A BUFFET SUPPER is a fine way to climax a day of winter sport—or any winter Saturday or Sunday, for that matter. End the meal with a luscious, dressy dessert, such as Coconut Orange Meringue Pudding. Pictured here is a buffet supper tailored to winter demands. The three chief ingredients are baked beans, grilled frankfurters and a big bowl of pudding. WINTER CARE FOR DECIDUOUS SHRUBS AND ORNAMENTALS

An open winter means that more care must be taken to protect deciduous trees and ornamentals. No insects can be seen at work now, but millions of eggs, larvae and disease spores are quietly overwintering and getting ready to start their early spring destruction.

Roses are a good example. Spores of four major rose diseases are known to overwinter—black spot, powdery mildew, rust, and brown canker. The deadly insect, rose scale, also overwinters in great numbers.

The early spring destruction of many rose insects and diseases can be effectively reduced with a good dormant spray program now. The same program should be followed for other deciduous trees and shrubs, such as lilacs, beech, walnut, laurel, elm, maple, box-elder, etc.

An excellent dormant spray for the home gardener is a combination of Volck Oil Spray and Orthoric Spray, applied in a Sprayette type garden hose spray gun.

This is a good time, also, to prevent "red berry" trouble on blackberries with a thorough Orthoric spraying.

This 26 per cent calcium polysulfide solution kills blackberry midges before they hatch and enter the newly opening buds.

Remember that a good spray program now against insects and diseases that have "holed up" for the winter, will save off a lot of damage in the spring.

MEND BEFORE WASHING
Always mend any rips or tears in sheets before washing. A tiny rip may become a much bigger one in the washing machine.
