Southern Legislators Forge Lines In Segregation Fight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
On a long - embattled front, Southern legislators strengthened their picket lines today in their fight to maintain segregation. The loudest Rebel cry from Virginia to Mississippi came in a defiant resolution from Alabama. The Legislature there declared yesterday that Alabama is not bound by the racial rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court, and it pressed hard upon other Southern states to subscribe to the doctrine of interposition.

The Alabama Senate approved the resolution in a resounding vote by voice. In the House, only four members dissented when the measure passed Tuesday.

In Mississippi, the House Judiciary Committee approved a bill which would create a new anti-integration weapon for use against federal officials. The purpose of the bill is to keep federal officials from interfering with the rights of Mississippians as guaranteed by their constitution—particularly by investigating their voting habits. The maximum penalty for violation would be a $5,000 fine and five years in prison and it would allow a damage suit by the injured party.

Two other segregation measures were also approved by the Mississippi House yesterday. One would extend the laws of criminal libel to cover libel or slander of state governmental institutions; the other seeks to prevent the agitation of lawsuits dealing with integration. The Virginia Senate continued its combative disapproval of the Supreme Court's authority on school segregation. A carefully worded resolution which offered a compromise plan of interposition was introduced to the Virginia lawmakers yesterday. Like the earlier resolution it replaced, it still challenged the high court's authority but departed from the earlier draft by not calling for noncompliance with the court's order banning school segregation.

Army To Repair Willamette Ruin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Engineers will repair and restore all flood control works along the Willamette River which were damaged by recent floods, Rep. Norblad (R-Ore.) has been informed. He said this would apply whether the work was a private or federal undertaking. "The U. S. Army Engineers here have assured me that whatever sum is necessary to replace the damage will be allocated from their emergency funds for this purpose," he said.

William Ellis Pleads Guilty

SACRAMENTO (UP)—William J. Ellis, formerly of Hillsboro, Ore., pleaded guilty yesterday to an attempted extortion of $100,000 from a Sacramento lumberman. Probation hearing and sentencing was set for Feb. 2. Ellis faces a possible maximum sentence of five years in jail and a $5,000 fine. The unemployed laborer was arrested after he took a handbag from a bus station locker. The bag was supposed to hold an extortion payment from George Steiner, co-owner of the Steiner Lumber Co. Steiner said Ellis had threatened the lives of him and his wife.

JUNIPER BRANCH
By Mrs. Lloyd Seely

The Juniper Branch Garden Club visited the local museum on Monday, January 16 for a most enjoyable and instructive hour. The curator of the museum, Claude Schaeffer, conducted the tour and pointed out the exhibits of special interest.

An exhibit of wild plants that were used as food by the Indians, together with the exhibit of some of the more unusual birds claimed the attention of the group. Many of the members had not visited the museum before, but all agreed that the first time would not be the last time.

The club met at the home of Mrs. O. B. Thurman for the regular January business meeting. A review of the bird count was made by the conservation chairman, with a description of the appearance and habits of the Brewer's blackbird. Hostesses for the social hour were Florence Heebe and Dorothy Jones.

A plant sale of house plants, and a gift of gladioli to the members was part of the program. Ruth McCellan won the special prize of a "Columbia" gladioli bulb.

Mention was also made of the ruthless slaughter of quail that has been observed by some of the members of the club. After the business meeting the club members went in a group to visit the museum. The Juniper Branch wishes to thank Mr. Schaeffer for his kindness in making the visit possible.
