

Southern Governors Seek Protest On Court Ruling

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Governors of four Southern states have agreed to ask their legislatures to protest by "interposition"—the U.S. Supreme Court's decision that outlawed segregation in public schools.

The degree of protest that would be incorporated in the various interposition resolutions was left to the individual states, but there were indications three states would stop short of defying the high court.

Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina disclosed the stand of the chief executives in a statement yesterday that followed a six-hour conference on school segregation problems.

While none of the governors would commit himself immediately to a specific program, there were good indications Timmerman, Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia and Gov. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi would recommend resolutions that do not contain nullification—or outright defiance.

Of those present, only Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia was outspokenly in favor of an all-out nullifying interposition resolution. Also attending the conference was Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, who sat in as an observer but did not join in the declaration of policy because his state's Legislature is not in session.

Under the doctrine of interposition, the states interpose their sovereignty in the face of a federal action they consider beyond the constitutional authority of the federal government.

They would raise a question of the contested powers between the interposing states and the Supreme Court and would ask Congress and the other states to settle the issue. This would be done by instituting action on a constitutional amendment saying the Supreme Court has the right to outlaw school segregation.

Such an amendment would have to be proposed by two thirds of the 48 states or by two thirds of the members of both houses of Congress. It would then have to be approved by three fourths of the states.

The governors apparently feel such approval could not be obtained.

4-H NEWS

THE RANCH COOKS

The meeting was called to order by our president, Mark Dearborn. The minutes were read and approved. Roll call was read. One member was absent. She is not going to be in the club. We had a new member, Maria Burnett. Tommy Crawford was elected club leader and Freddie Dearborn, same chairman. Then we opened our presents for our gift exchange. Refreshments were served, using what was made, Orange Float, in demonstrations. Our leader asked us all to cook something over vacation.

The meeting was adjourned to play games.

LANGELL VALLEY CUT-UPS

The meeting was called to order by President Anita Vaden at her home. The role was called with the girls using a picture and description of their pattern as the topic. Just So Girls didn't have a pattern so they told about their project and accomplishments.

Old business was the discussion of the party held on the 23rd of December in the Lorella Hall. Around 100 children were there who took part in the games and singing. Bennie Brown and Ramon Bommer got the gifts Santa handed out.

There was some discussion on whether to buy a gavel and flag set now or wait until later. A vote was taken and the majority were in favor of getting them now.

The next meeting on the 16th of January is half way through our club year. This being a mutual date, a birthday party was held for the girls in our club. Each of us took a gift to the party.

On Saturday, the 14th we went on a field trip to the Merle Norman Studios of Klamath Falls. We found out how to put on make-up the "Right Way."

Anita Vaden and Nora Spillane gave demonstrations on the finishing of seams and French felled seams.

By next meeting, we are to have one garment finished and be able to model it for judging by the other girls.

Anita adjourned the meeting and served punch and angel food cake as refreshments.

THE POE VALLEY COOKERETTES

At our January 5 meeting we decided to keep a club scrap book. Karen Grimes was appointed to cut out news clippings for the scrapbook.

Janet Lyon, presided at the meeting. We had our Christmas exchange. Our leaders, Mrs. Harold Campbell and Mrs. Robert Payne, gave each member a nice recipe file.

Sarla Sue Thomas and Tyana Payne gave a demonstration on making sandwiches. We ate them with cocoa for refreshments. Martha Tubach demonstrated correct measuring.

SNIPPY SUSANS

We Snippy Susans are a sewing club now having nine members. Our leader is Mrs. John Taylor and Mrs. Glen Fundenberger is our assistant leader. We have had several meetings this year, one at which we elected the following officers: president, Jean Fundenberger, vice president, Jean Holzhauser, secretary-treasurer, Lois Fundenberger, news reporter, Ann Taylor, recreation leader, Linda Taylor.

At our meeting on January 11, we discussed having 10 cent dues each meeting until we have enough to buy a set of table flags for our club. For a part of our community project, we decided to bring spoils to our next meeting and dye them for small children. We are also going to make bags to hold toothpaste and toothbrushes for children at the Juvenile Home. The 4-H pledge was led by Jean Holzhauser, Jeanette Hooper and Linda Taylor furnished refreshments.

THE CHAT AND NIBBLE COOKS OF KENO

The Chat and Nibble Cooks of Keno met Monday, December 19, at the home of Mrs. Larry Owen. After the business meeting, we prepared boxes of cookies and dried fruits for the shut-ins of Keno. We delivered the boxes and sang Christmas Carols to the people. Ronald and Bonnie Pierce won the special prize.

OPTIMISTIC

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson is trying to get into the office once held by George Washington, but unlike the first president he doesn't claim to be above telling a little fib. Here for six days of work and relaxation, Stevenson was asked by a reporter if he was optimistic about winning the Democratic presidential nomination. His reply was that "I am, sir, and even if I wasn't, I'd say I was."
