"DENNIS THE MENACE"

Sealed Bids Opened For KF Armory; Awarding Delayed

Sealed bids were opened Wednesday morning in Salem at the office of Col. Paul L. Kliever, Director of armories and facilities for the Oregon National Guard, for construction of a new armory building in Klamath Falls.

Seventy-five per cent of the cost of the structure will be paid from federal funds and 25 per cent from state funds. The building is to be located on Shasta near Washburn Way. It is to occupy 21,000 square feet of ground area and will be a two-unit armory with plans to allow for addition of a third unit.

Morrison and Howard, Klamath Falls architects, drew plans for the new armory. Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Riley, the adjutant general, announced last July 25 that plans had been approved after which working drawings were forwarded to Washington, D.C., for final approval.

Five contracting firms submitted bids on the job. Each bid included four alternates which related to the substitution of gypsum plaster

Interim Legislative Group Requests KF Participation

The Oregon Legislative Interim Committee on Local Government, which will conduct a public hearing in Klamath Falls March 2 at 7:30 p.m. in Mills School auditorium, outlined the topics and problems it will study in a letter to the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce this week, announced R. Frank Tucker, chamber manager, Wednesday.

Tucker outlined the request of the committee at the regular meeting of the chamber's directors Wednesday noon in the Winema Hotel.

The committee has held similar meetings in other cities of Oregon in a survey of the urban area problems in Oregon. The committee conducts public meetings in different parts of the state to get directly from groups and individual citizens more information about specific problems which are of direct concern to them, any data which might aid in analysis, and specific suggestions for possible solutions.

Among the specific questions which the committee hopes to have discussed are:

1. Methods by which such services as sewage disposal, water, fire and police protection, public transportation, parks and recreation, road construction and maintenance can best be provided and financed in unincorporated urban areas and in new or growing cities.
2. Annexation and incorporation laws and procedures.
3. Local government structure and services of different local government organizations which serve expanding urban areas.
4. Functions and powers of county and city government in relationship to the needs of unincorporated urban areas.
5. Methods of financing the costs of public services in unincorporated urban areas.
6. Taxation methods, overlaps and equity in sharing of tax burdens.

7. Governmental controls such as subdivision, building and zoning regulation, inspection and others for suburban areas.

The committee has asked the chamber of commerce to contact all interested organizations, civic officials and individuals. It asks that questions, or problems, to be discussed be submitted in writing to the chamber prior to the meeting so that the record will be an accurate reflection of the views of the groups.

The committee has stressed that the hearing is open to all citizens and it welcomes any inquiries or questions. Chamber manager Tucker urges all interested persons, or groups, to contact the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, telephone 5193, for any further information.

When the committee finishes its statewide set of hearings it will submit recommendations to the governor and the legislature on possible solutions and needed legislation. It was reported.

In further business, the directors approved the chamber's 1956 budget as submitted by Director Jim Patterson.

Former vice president Charles Mack was presented with a certificate of appreciation signed by President Warren Bennet in recognition of his services to the chamber in 1955. The presentation was given by Tucker.

Bob Mest, director in charge of public relations, said the annual joint Oregon-Washington chamber officials' meeting will be held in Portland at the Multnomah Hotel on February 5-6-7. He also got approval of the directors for the chamber to back a statewide Chamber of Commerce Week some time this spring.

Otto Smith was appointed chairman of the chamber's membership committee. This joint committee is supervised by directors Grant Cosgrove and Jim Patterson.

Women Hear Health Speech

WEED - A program of health and safety was presented by three speakers at the January meeting of the Weed Business and Professional Women's Club held at the Genova Hotel last week.

Robert Levine, field representative of the American Cancer Society, Chico, and county superintendent of schools, Ed Roberts, Yreka, spoke on the health aspect of the program and related information the American Cancer Society program. The local club voted to assist with individual participation and contribution to the Cancer fund campaign slated for later in the season.

Captain R. O. Rust, of the California highway patrol, Yreka, spoke on safety and related to the CHP program efforts designed to educate the public in making the highways safer for travel.

Mrs. H. C. Strother, president, presided at the meeting and the attending members voted to aid the local welfare organization by contributing to the local transient fund. The organization also agreed to send their stated contribution to the national building fund of the BPW.

Mrs. Fay Welch, Mrs. Irvin White and Alma Lester were named as the nominating committee to report at the February meeting.

Celebration of the Weed club's birthday anniversary is planned for February 15 with Mrs. Norman Bond as chairman. Mrs. Helen Schleuter, president of the Northern California District BPW, will be invited as a guest.

Forteen members attended the January dinner-meet. Program chairman was Mrs. Fred Harris and Mrs. Hazel Cates was assistant and handled the table arrangements.

Grants Pass Youth Caught In Weed

WEED - A quarrel with his mother caused a 14-year-old Grants Pass boy to board the southbound Greyhound bus and attempt to run away from home. The youth was found loitering in the Weed bus station, Saturday night just before midnight and was apprehended by the Weed Police officers, Chief Harold Barnum and officer Fred Boyle.

When questioned, the boy stated he had been on the road for two nights. His parents were immediately notified of his whereabouts and returned him to Grants Pass Sunday.

CAR STOLEN

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) - Mrs. Hazel Carpenter's car was stolen Oct. 16 from a garage in Boone, Colo. This week she received a letter from Pueblo police that it had been parked more than a month in a residential district. First a policeman ticketed it. Then it was towed to a storage yard. But now she has her car back—all claims to fines, towing and storage waived.

Plan Of Action Meeting Of Chairlift Group Set

DUNSMUIR - A plan of action, financial and administrative, will be decided upon at a meeting of the Mt. Shasta Chairlift Development Committee at 12:30 p.m. on Friday. The meeting will be a luncheon session at the Hotel Dunsmuir, George Schrader, executive secretary, has announced.

Impetus has been given to the program with the preparations being made to hold the 1960 winter Olympics at Squaw Valley. Completion of the Mt. Shasta lift by 1960 is regarded as a must. Schrader stated, in order to share the international fame all California skiing areas will gain during the winter Olympic contests.

The committee will be given a report on the recent snow survey conducted by the U.S. Forest Service and members of the development committee. Twelve feet of snow was measured at Panther Meadows, ski lift site, last week by Glenn Crouch, district forest service ranger.

The party consisting of Crouch, Fletcher Hoyt, Ben Jensen and Chap Wentworth made the trip by snowcat. They reported very little evidence of avalanche despite the deep snow. Most encouraging was the absence of wind within the proposed ski bowl, Wentworth reported.

Crouch will report on this trip at Friday's meeting. Also representing the forest service will be Supervisor Paul Statham of the Shasta-Trinity National Forest who will give a preliminary report on the Forest Service prospectus being prepared to cover the Mount Shasta Ski Bowl.

J. W. Trask, district engineer of the State Division of Highways, has been asked to be present to give highway traffic figures and projections for the next 10 years. All this is vital data in deciding the final scope of the development, Schrader said.

The development committee hopes to expedite the preparation of a technical report being prepared by the Heron Engineering Company of Denver by providing weather data, snow depth, avalanche factors and other technical statistics.

As soon as decisions have been made on the capacity and route of the lift, the methods of financing can be determined. The committee hopes the lift development will progress with the highway development which will be resumed in the spring.

Dunsmuir BPW Has Birthday

DUNSMUIR - Eighteen years of accomplishment were enumerated by the Dunsmuir Business and Professional Women's Club at their 18th birthday party Monday evening. The dinner meeting was held at the Traveler's Hotel.

On January 22, 1938, Mrs. Dorothy Leporini became the first president of the Dunsmuir club. That year the scholarship fund was established and has been continued. Alice Valle of Weed, a scholarship student, was reported nursing at the Queens Hospital in Hawaii. The latest recipient of scholarship help is Gail King of Dunsmuir, currently attending the University of California.

The establishment of the Abigail Hanaan Memorial Book Fund was listed as another BPWC accomplishment. A book is donated annually to the elementary school library.

Four years ago the BPWC successfully backed the candidacy of Marjorie Young, the first woman to serve on Dunsmuir's city council.

Maurice Adams, vice president, conducted Monday's meeting in the absence of Emma Smith, president, who was ill. Doris Morgan, legislative chairman, was in charge of the evening's program. Marjorie Young told of the recently enacted county-city sales tax law and of the pros and cons of its use.

The club voted to conduct the March of Dimes Mothers March, a house-to-house canvass for funds. Virginia Martin, public affairs chairman, was named to arrange the date of the march.

Delegates named to the district conference of the BPW clubs in Redding are Emma Smith, Eleanor Harrison, Alda Maxlum, Grace Pickthorn and Gwen Rubidoux.

Pastor Plans AA Speech

Two guest speakers will be heard by members of Alcoholic Anonymous during the first of a series of special month-end meetings Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the AA Center, 120 Riverside.

The Rev. Dr. E. M. Causey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will present a clergyman's view on the alcoholic problem.

Dr. William G. Holford, Klamath Falls physician and surgeon, will discuss medical aspects of the disease of alcoholism.

The meeting will be followed by a buffet supper and entertainment. The regular Friday night open meeting of AA will be held as usual at 8:30 p.m. Anyone with an alcoholic problem is invited to attend.

ODD JOBS

DALLAS (AP) - An employment commission interviewer is going to have to change the pet dog she has been using when there weren't any jobs for persistent job hunters. "All we have left," she rattled off, "is a job making rattlesnakes." She used it this week on a man who wouldn't give up.

"That's me," said the man, brightening. "Where is it and how much does it pay? Just what I have been doing in Florida."
