Sen. Kefauver Hits At Policy

GREEN BAY, Wis. (P)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) last night described as "politics or simple boasting" the "brink of war" statements attributed to Secretary of State Dulles.
Kefauver, campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, declared the effect of Dulles' statements had been to "frighten our allies and cause the people of the United States deep concern."
"It is high time the State Department and the Pentagon be taken out of politics and left out," he said. "It is high time this nation began using the weapons of peace and good will and truthfulness in its conduct of foreign affairs."
Kefauver, only candidate entered in Wisconsin's April 3 Democratic presidential primary, spoke to about 200 persons at a banquet sponsored by the 8th District Kefauver for President Club.
He planned to wind up his three-day Wisconsin tour today with stops at Fond Du Lac and Madison.
The "brink of war" statements to which he referred were contained in a Life magazine article for which Dulles has been criticized by many Democrats and by segments of the British press.

REP. WALTER NORBLAD (R. Ore.) today announced in Washington, D.C., his candidacy for reelection to Congress from the 1st Oregon District.

Norblad Runs For Reelection

Rep. Walter Norblad of the First Oregon Congressional District today announced his candidacy for reelection.
Norblad, a 47-year old lawyer, who was first elected to Congress shortly after his discharge from the Army in 1945, is completing his sixth consecutive term in the House.
His current committee assignments include membership on the powerful Committee on Committees and Armed Services, and the position of Western Republican Whip.
Norblad is a graduate of the University of Oregon, having obtained a degree of doctor of jurisprudence at the Oregon Law School. He is married and has one son, 16 years old.

State Snowplow Crews Busy

SALEM (P)—Snowplow crews were busy Thursday on most of Oregon's mountain roads, as well as in some sections of Eastern Oregon, the Highway Commission reported.
Tire chains are required at Government Camp, Timberline, Warm Springs Junction, Willamette Pass, Chemul, Lakeview, Lapine and Sisters.
The commission advised that chains be carried at Detroit, Siskiyou Summit, Green Springs Summit, Bend, Santiam Pass, Bly, Ochoco Summit, Brothers, Ontario, Burns and Basque.
The heaviest snowfalls in the 24 hours ended at 8 a. m. Thursday were six inches at Green Springs Summit and five inches at Chemul.

Coast Guard Begins Search

SEATTLE (P)—The Coast Guard started a search near the mouth of the Columbia River early Thursday for the crabboat Albert H. after the 33-foot vessel failed to return to its home port at Astoria, Ore.
The Coast Guard said the vessel, with two men aboard, left Astoria early Wednesday to check crablines between Warrenton, Ore., and a point near the Columbia River Lightship.
The Seaside Cannery Co. of Astoria asked for help when the craft failed to return on schedule Wednesday evening, the Coast Guard said.
Aboard were Albert Hauke of Warrenton, and George Shaw of Astoria.

Knowland Set For Primaries

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Knowland was reported today to risk his conditional bid for the Republican presidential nomination on his showing in five primaries.
They are the ones in Illinois, Alaska, Florida, Maryland and his home state of California.
Knowland, Senate GOP leader, has made it clear he will seek the nomination if President Eisenhower does not run.
He will visit New Hampshire this weekend, but apparently prefers to stay clear of that state's March 13 primary unless he finds a situation in which he feels he cannot tactfully disavow delegate candidates entered in his name.
The Knowland strategists are not overlooking state conventions, which will select delegates representing 758 of the 1,223 national nominating votes. But they apparently have concluded the senator's conditional candidacy will get nowhere unless he demonstrates strength in the primaries.
The strategists seemingly are content to have Knowland in Illinois, where he was entered without his consent but also without his objection. Eisenhower is entered under the same conditions.
Florida and Maryland apparently have been picked by Knowland's associates in an effort to spread the primary tests geographically.
The meeting is sponsored by the April 10 voting in Illinois and the June 5 primary in California.

Hugo Leyva To Retire From Summer Lake Job January 31

LAKEVIEW—After 11 years as manager of the Oregon State Migratory Waterfowl and Game Management Area and Public Shooting Ground at Summer Lake, Hugo Leyva is retiring on January 31.
Leyva, district game agent for Lake County for the past six years, will be the new manager.
Leyva's career with the Oregon State Game Commission started in 1928 when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dan Goddard, who was game warden with the state game commission.
When law enforcement agents of the state game commission were incorporated with the state police in 1931, game wardens were made state police and in this capacity, Leyva served until October, 1944.
In 1944 he returned to the Oregon State Game Commission as manager of their new game management area and public shooting ground at Summer Lake which consists of approximately 14,000 acres.
Helping in the development of this project was T. R. Conn, Lakeview attorney, who was at that time a state game commissioner.
Speaking of those early days, Leyva states a good share of his time was spent pulling hunters' cars out of the mud as there were no roads into the swamp where the ducks, which were rented to hunters, were located.
The next year, Leyva and his son, Gar, who was employed by the game commission at that time, moved the houses from the swamp to higher ground.
In the 11 years, approximately 20 miles of roads have been built, making most parts of the refuge accessible. Dikes have been built to control the water. Buildings on the area include a new house, machine shed, shop and a six-car garage.
Approximately 300 acres of land is farmed and seeded to grass which is not harvested but is left standing for bird feed to attract waterfowl to the area. Through the years there has been a steady increase of birds and hunters. Leyva states. Each hunter is charged $2 a day to hunt in the area and this money is used to help the development.
Mr. and Mrs. Leyva who have lived on the area, will now make their home in Lakeview.
Claggett, who majored in game management and biology at Oregon State College, worked with Leyva on the Summer Lake area before he moved to Lakeview. At Lakeview he has been active with the Isaac Walton Association and assisted the Boy Scouts in conservation projects. He and Mrs. Claggett are moving to Summer Lake next week.

Quiet Jets Seen In Future

NEW YORK (P)—Builders of tomorrow's jet airliners promised Thursday that their product will be at least as quiet as the transports now flying.
They referred to the 707 of the Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle, and the DC8 of Douglas Aircraft Co., Santa Monica, Calif. Airlines are ordering more than a billion dollars worth of the 650-mile-an-hour jetliners for deliveries starting in mid-1958.
H. W. Withington, Boeing technical staff engineer, told the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences that only six months ago there "appeared to be little or no hope of reducing jet noise with any remotely practical device."
Within the past three months, however, actual tests have reduced "the noise from the jet by amounts which could result in jet aircraft considerably quieter than present day operating transport aircraft," he said.
Withington said Boeing within three months has tested seven full-scale nozzles, or jet-engine tail pipes, and more than 40 small scale nozzles.
"One thing is certain—we can make reductions in the noise from jet aircraft without serious penalty to the aircraft performance," he said.
Officials of Douglas said word that progress already made indicates that by the time its jets go into commercial operation they will be "much less disturbing than the jets of today and will be suitable for operation in areas served by current civil aircraft."

Lakeview Student Appointed Editor

EUGENE (P)—The Student Publications Board has reappointed Gordon Rice, Lakeview, editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald, university campus newspaper, for the second half of the school year.
As a rule editors serve for only a half year. It has been five years since one editor served the full academic year.

Police Probe Cross Burning

DALLAS, Tex., (UP)—A cross was burned last night on the lawn of Dr. Cosette F. Newton's home which has been offered for sale to a Negro.
The 6-foot high cross, wrapped in gasoline-soaked rags and set fire, was doused with water by the fire department before any damage was done to the home or to a backyard pavilion which set off the bitter neighborhood feud.
Dr. Newton offered to sell her fashionable Highland Park home to a Negro after losing a battle fought to the Texas Supreme Court to keep her ship which neighbors called an eyesore.
Police Chief W. H. Naylor said the cross burning may have been the work of vandals.
But Dr. Newton said she believed the burning was done by one of her embittered neighbors. She said she feared the incident may be just a preliminary to burning down of the house, the insurance for which has been cancelled on her.

Police Report Minor Accidents

Two minor accidents were reported today by state and city police officers.
In one occurring at about 3 p.m. Wednesday, Robert Schaad of Portland was cited by city police after an auto he was driving pulled out of a parking place on Main between Fourth and Fifth streets and hit a passing auto driven by Ray A. Telford, 401 Conger Avenue.
Schaad forfeited $10 bail this morning at police court on a charge of failure to yield right of way to a vehicle.
In an accident reported by state police, autos driven by Frank Perry, Robert, 2555 Eberlein, and Fred Louis Gehrman, 1609 Kane, collided at the intersection of Washburn Way and Shasta Way.

SNOW RECORDED

WINNIPEG, Man. (P)—Winnipeg has had nearly 62 inches of snow so far this winter, a new record for the 75 years the Weather Bureau has been keeping such figures.
