AA Group Wins Applause By Local Clergyman, Doctor

A clergyman and a doctor, who both have had long experience dealing with excessive drinkers, lauded the work of Alcoholics Anonymous when they addressed a meeting at the AA Center, 120 Riverside Saturday night.

The speakers were the Rev. Dr. E. M. Causey, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Dr. William G. Holford Jr., Klamath Falls physician and surgeon.

Dr. Causey said that although he had never had any personal experience with liquor, he had spent years trying to help persons who were afflicted with the disease of alcoholism.

"I know what it can do to the relatives and other loved ones of the victim," the pastor declared. "I have seen much suffering as the result of drink."

Dr. Causey used as his theme the story of the Prodigal Son. He said the Prodigal Son was down but he didn't stay down.

"The alcoholic can learn something from the Prodigal Son," he added. "He doesn't have to stay down. Alcoholics Anonymous, which is based on a spiritual concept, has done wonderful work in rehabilitating the compulsive drinker."

Dr. Holford said that in his opinion, there is nothing more important for the alcoholic patient who wants to quit drinking than affiliation with an AA group.

"In fact," he said, "I hold very little hope for any individual who

Bonanza High School News

By "A Senior" The students of Bonanza have been participating in a variety of activities during this month of January.

On the 14th we sponsored a "Sadie Hawkins" dance. The girls enjoyed the fun of inviting the boys, and we saw a few new couples. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served during intermission.

Bonanza has started a drill team this year. There are 16 members and two majorettes. The girls wear white pleated skirts, white sweaters, red collars and red anklets with white shoes. The two majorettes, Judy Sutherland and Claudette Shuck, wear short red corduroy skirts with matching blouses and white angora trim.

They have been practicing for the last two months and performed Friday night, January 27, at Bonanza during the hall of the game with the Henley Hornets.

The meeting was the first of a series of special AA gatherings which will be held on the last Saturday of each month. One hundred members of the AA group and their families and friends attended. The meeting was followed by a buffet supper and entertainment.
