Solon Warns Of Possible Red Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) cautioned today of "danger that the Soviets may fire a 1,500-mile ballistic missile before the end of this year." He said the balance of world military power would shift against the West if the Soviet Union should win the "critical race" for development of such an intermediate-range missile—and after that, an intercontinental missile with a 5,000-mile range and the capability of carrying atomic destruction to the United States.

Jackson's prepared Senate speech was planned as the opening round of a Democratic volley at administration defense policies. Lined up to join in were Democratic Senators Mansfield of Montana, Kennedy of Massachusetts and Symington of Missouri, a former Air Force secretary. Jackson said America has "consistently underestimated" the Soviets in the military and atomic fields since World War II.

He said there was need for a completely new defense philosophy, which he boiled down into these terms: "All-out work on critical projects today to avoid all-out war tomorrow."

He proposed that: 1. The ballistic missile project should now proceed with the maximum effort of which this nation is capable, supported by the kind of urgency that heretofore Americans have reserved for war-time conditions; and that 2. "To implement this objective, the ballistic missile program should be placed under a full-time civilian administrator, reporting directly to the secretary of defense and to the President."

Jackson heads a Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee on military applications, a group now hearing secret testimony of the nation's top military leaders on America's atomic status. He said the importance of the 1,500-mile missile cannot be minimized even though it could not reach this country from Communist bases.

Such a weapon, he said, "would cancel out our one vital advantage over Russian air-atomic power—our system of advanced overseas air bases," and might make them "virtually useless."

Furthermore, he went on, the intermediate-range missile could put many of America's free world allies up against "the threat of ballistic blackmail," since they would lie within its reach. President Eisenhower, in his budget for fiscal 1957 starting July 1, included $1,276,000,000 for missile development. This compares with $917 millions for the current year. Jackson conceded there had been a stepup, but he told a reporter he believed more money is needed.

Youth Kills Student Nurse

BOSTON (AP)—A love-struck youth today was accused of shooting to death an attractive student nurse who had rejected him as a suitor. Miss Rose Marie Da Silva, 18, of Brockton was slain in front of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital nurses' home as three companion student nurses looked on in horror.

Shortly after the shooting last night, Charles Atwood Jr., 21, of East Bridgewater, walked into a police station and admitted the slaying. He was booked on "suspicion of murder."

Police Lt. Warren Blair quoted Atwood as saying that he tried for about an hour and a half yesterday to win back the affection of Miss Da Silva. He said that after the attractive, dark-haired nurse refused him, he waited outside the hospital and as she came down the front stairs, fired several shots at her. Hospital attaches rushed out and carried Miss Da Silva inside. She was dead with five bullets in her head, neck and chest.

Jury Receives Gordon Case

The Jack Gordon rape case went to the jury shortly after 10 a.m. Wednesday. Gordon, 34-year-old construction worker, was accused of ravishing an 8-year-old girl.

The two-day trial before Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg was marked by conflicting testimony. Judge Vandenberg overruled a motion by Defense Attorney U. S. Belmont to dismiss the case on grounds that the prosecution failed to prove all the allegations in the indictment.

It was the first jury trial held in Klamath County during the tenure of District Attorney Richard Beesley. He was assisted in the prosecution by Deputy District Attorney P. K. Puckett.

Teenage Wife Killed In Home

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The muddled body of a teenage wife, a bent butcher knife in her chest, was found by her young husband when he returned from work yesterday.

Officers said there was no sign of a struggle in the bedroom where the victim, Mrs. Barbara Jean Jepson, 18, an expectant mother, was discovered. "I can't figure out who would do such a thing," the husband, Joseph Earl Jepson, 20, said repeatedly. He told investigators his wife had not been feeling well when he left for work as clerk at the California Air National Guard and he had not called home all day.

Officers confirmed that Jepson had been at the guard office, a 10-minute drive from his home. All points description of a young blonde youth was broadcast by police after neighbors reported having seen such a man loitering in an alley behind the Jepson's San Fernando Valley apartment.

Man Wounded By Trooper

NORTH PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A man suspected of an attempted holdup was shot and wounded by a state trooper when cracking ice on a pond abruptly halted a chase yesterday.

Joseph Galitri, 35, suffered a hand wound when State Trooper A. E. Peterson fired on him in the belief the man was reaching for a gun.

Police were chasing Galitri after the proprietor of a small grocery store in Providence reported he tried to rob him, but fled in a car without loot.

Armed with the car's registration number, police went to Galitri's house just as he was driving up. Police ordered him to halt. Instead, he sped away as five bullets were fired at the car. One hit a tire. The driver leaped from the car and tried to cross a frozen pond.

When the ice began to give way, Galitri was forced back toward his pursuers. Peterson said he fired when Galitri reached toward his pocket. Police said Galitri had a toy gun there.
