Future Phone Work Listed

Lake and Klamath counties will share in the record $ million dollars construction program planned by West Coast Telephone Company for its three-state system this year, West Coast's Lakeview District Manager A. M. Denio said today.

The construction budget was disclosed last week when West Coast applied to Oregon's Public Utilities Commission for authorization to issue and sell $ million dollars worth of securities. Once approval is received, the company intends to market $3,500,000 of 3 1/2 per cent first mortgage bonds and 60,000 shares of $1.24 dividend series preferred stock to institutional buyers on a private basis.

Denio said that substantial additional financing will be needed later this year to bring the program to completion. He said the $ million dollars, the largest annual construction outlay ever proposed by the company, equals the company's total plant value of a decade ago.

Larger construction budget will be needed in 1957, he said, to carry out the Oregon and Washington regulatory commissions' orders covering new facilities to meet the rapidly expanding service requirements in West Coast territory.

The 1956 construction budget provides for expenditures of $4,039,000 in Washington, $3,128,000 in Oregon and $142,000 in Northern California. Expenditures in the Lakeview District, which includes Lake and rapidly expanding service requirements in West Coast territory.
